MEN WHO SAVED THE LAND.

Eight Thousand Grand Old Soldiers of the Civil War Pass With Measured Tread Under "Old Glory's" Folds.

With Cheers and Tears the Bay City Beholds Its Last Great Parade of Veterans.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Patriotism was at high tide today, when 8000 grizzled veterans of the Civil War marched in line through lines of thousands upon thousands of cheering spectators in San Francisco's streets. It is common for newspaper writers to make flings at sentiment, but the cynics themselves were caught up and swept away today by the great wave of loyalty and patriotism that drew tears from the eyes of hundreds and made others unable to cheer because of the emotion stirred by those men, who represented a gallant four-years' fight to save the name and honor of the country.

What added to the impressiveness of the historic scene was the conviction that never again would this host of the country's defenders march through these streets. For most of these men were old and gray, and another five or ten years will see them gathered to their fathers. But despite their age and infirmities, these veterans still marched well, and the reception which they received stimulated them to continue on over the two-mile course. Such cheers, such shouts, such warmth of appreciation have been called out here by no procession in a decade.

It was a spectacle which will be remembered by all who were fortunate to see it, for it proved the great underlying force of patriotism that has not been brought to the surface here since the First California Regiment marched down Market street to sail for the Philippines. Today eight thousand veterans were in line, and all were old and gray, and some were poor of wealth, as well as of health, but they were comrades, and they marched shoulder to shoulder, as in the days when rebellion menaced the dear old flag.

Many were still vigorous, and could march as proudly as any man who ever followed the standard, but it was for them to wait for those who had grown weak in life's struggle, and the columns halted often, so that the "old boys" might rest. It seemed that every step brought pain to some, but with that grit that won the Civil War they still pressed on, and on, and few indeed were they who dropped from the lines.

THE LAST MARCH.

"It is my last march," said many a veteran as he started out. "It's now or never, and I'm going to try."

One bent old man with the Wisconsin delegation thought this way, and his comrades could not dissuade him. He was over 70, and it was plain he could not march far, but he marched away with the "boys." At first he was able to keep step, but his gait grew slower and slower, from block to block, and the men behind slackened their pace rather than force him from the ranks. He marched down Geary street along Kearny to California, down California to Montgomery and along Montgomery to Market. When he reached the latter corner his strength was spent, and two of his comrades had to take hold of his arms to keep him from falling. It would have been cruelty to let him try to go farther, and two civilians stepped from the crowd, took hold of him gently and led him to the sidewalk. He did not want to go, but he was too weak to resist. It was his last march, and he had to give it up.

OLD DAYS COME AGAIN.

Those who were able to stand the strain gloried in their strength. It was as if the old days had come again. The bands played the battle tunes, above them were the battle flags, and but for the friends missing from the ranks, they might have fancied that once more they were marching to the front. Those battle-flags, rag-like and fragile, carefully folded, lest the breeze should destroy them, brought thoughts that played upon the heart-strings. They had flown proudly on many a blooded field, and still marching behind them were a handful of the men who had planted these same colors on shell-swept heights. The crowd behind the cables stretching down the streets cheered every tattered flag. To every American, these mute reminders of daring deeds were as dear as to the men who fought beneath their folds.

"TRAMP, TRAMP, TRAMP."

And the music. Some of the bands at times played martial tunes of later day, but the veterans and crowd like it better when the strains of "Just before the battle, mother," or "Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching," or some other martial tune equally dear rose in the air, for the old tunes gave the veterans new life and hastened their steps. As the aged soldiers bent to their task, the precious task of "marching once again" with their comrades, waves of sentiment swept over the crowd, and every shrilling note of fife and every drumbeat brought a tear from someone's eye. A silent, invisible army seemed to be marching along, with the heroes who still cling to life escorting others to the last bivouac.

The children of the veterans looked with pride upon the ranks, and more than one daughter marched beside her father, eager to help him, should he falter. Wives stood in the crowd and waved their handkerchiefs and cheered, cheered with voices that sometimes had a sobbing sound, for they, too, realized that soon the Grand Army will be no more.

To the crowd, the parade was a lesson in history. People thought of Shiloh and Antietam and Gettysburg, and gloried in the valor of the men who won those fields. Many felt, as they never had before, the significance of the great conflict. They recalled all that they had read of the dark days of the Civil War and when the veterans of border States filed by, they cheered with great vigor, because they realized that these men came from States where fathers fought sons and brothers fought brothers for the glory of the flag and the honor of the nation.

STATES AND EMBLEMS.

In the long line were men from every corner of the nation. Veterans, who perhaps had enlisted from Maine, or some other far-away State, were the badges of western commonwealths, showing that they had played a man's part in the building up of the nation they had saved. Of all the States, California excepted, the one that had the largest number in line was Illinois, but Ohio was a close second. Many other States also had large delegations, for all of the communities that sent large numbers of men into the field were well represented. Almost every delegation had an emblem: Ohio its buckeye, Connecticut the wooden nutmeg, Minnesota a loaf of bread, and so on indefinitely. There was something distinctive to each group. The men from Vermont, the "Green Mountain State," bore a line of seven small, green banners, each containing a letter, the whole spelling the name of the State.

Near the head of the procession rode a veteran on a bicycle. Whenever the marchers halted, he circled around like an expert and kept pedalling away with the ease of a boy until the line moved on again.

A gray-headed bugler sounded the calls for the Ohio delegation, and every time he blew a blast, the crowd cheered. Behind the spick and span front ranks of the New Yorkers were some to whom fortune had not been overkind. One of them marched in a duck coat and overalls, but he was just as welcome as if he had come out in broadcloth. They were all comrades, and perhaps he might never have another chance to march with them. He was one of the "boys," and so they grasped his hands with the grip of the soldier and bade him welcome to the ranks.

FEATURES OF THE PARADE.

Many features of this great parade were noteworthy, but only a few can be dwelt on. "Everything is lovely, and the goose hangs high," the motto of the Illinois contingent, expressed the idea of everybody along the line. There were absolutely no unfortunate incidents. As the time passed, the clamor increased rather than grew less, and every State seemed to eclipse in its reception those who had gone before.

"Hurrah for that man with the white head," cried one enthusiast. The vigor with which the response came showed that noticeably snowy hair was the exception rather than the rule, as might have been expected.

A few minutes later, a man in the lines spied a comrade sitting on a box by the curb. Immediately the deserter was surrounded and compelled to join the procession, bringing his wife along, while all who observed the incident yelled themselves hoarse with approval.

But it was Pennsylvania's old battle flags which first drove the crowds really wild with enthusiasm. The cheer that followed these shreds of tattered silk was simply deafening, and second only to that which greeted the flags carried by California boys near the end of the line.

SPLENDID SPECTACLE.

One of the splendid spectacles was the line of flags of the Massachusetts contingent. Abreast were the red State flag, the white one of the department, the blue Union Jack, and a superb national banner. They attracted signal attention. And leading the advance of the army was a red guidon. As the New Englanders touched Market street the cry went up, "Three cheers for the Mayflower," and the natives gave them with a will.

The duck trousers of the Rhode Island veterans made an especially pleasing picture, and for dress rivaled the white vests of the Pennsylvanians.

One brigade flag that was especially conspicuous was the flag of the Second Brigade of the second division of the Sixth Army Corps of the Potomac.

The Michigan boys held a chicken aloft, a foraging indication that the crowd was quick to catch onto and recognize. There were many minor emblems of that legitimate poaching of the soldier boy. The incidents of actual war were recalled more than once, and it became realistic when one of the tired walkers, Anson Cromer of Michigan, sat down in the middle of Montgomery street and took off his shoes. He then packed them up in true soldierly fashion and, shouldering a broom he carried, marched after the line, the improvised knapsack on his back. Three cheers were called for on account of the big hat of one of the veterans, so anxious were the people to note every attracting incident.

In the waits, many of the veterans were called upon for speeches by the spectators, ever anxious to get the benefit of the festival to the full. The fife and drum corps of the Denver Zouaves, the sunflowers of the Kansans, the corncobs of the South Dakotans, all furnished themes of pleased comment. The Texas men came with a pair of steer's horns borne aloft, and measuring from tip to tip 6 feet 5½ inches. The exuberant veterans, when the command to march was given, in unmilitary, but festive fashion, started off with a skip and a jump.

APPLAUSE FOR SHAFTER.

Gen. Shafter, every step of the way, came in for applause. What was remarked, right and left, was the appearance of the veterans who had lived in California, where the years spent in the bracing and healthful climate enabled them to defy the effects of time.

On horseback came a young girl who excited attention. She was lustily cheered. The little lady was the granddaughter of the Command of the Department of Ohio. Her grandfather carried a bugle. "Sound the bugle," cried the crowd. And in response came a blast of war. Ohio's fine band and even step pleased mightily.

It took 2 hours 20 minutes for the procession to pass a given point, but so fresh was the breeze from the ocean that tempered the bright sunshine that few of the veterans succumbed to fatigue. The day was perfect, and the verdict of all was that never was a finer Grand Army parade and never did the old soldiers receive a heartier or more sympathetic welcome.

PASSING IN REVIEW.

DIVISIONS AND REGIMENTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The parade today of the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic in this city will be long remembered by the thousands of people, who packed the streets along the line of march to witness it. Not a few of them recognized that for them this meant the passing of the heroes of many a bloody struggle in defense of the Union for all time in a collective body, so far as this city is concerned. Devoid of all the pomp and panoply of the warlike host which marched in all the pride of strength and youth in yesterday's parade, there was something pathetic in the thinned-out ranks of the veterans which touched the hearts of all who saw them. Bowed with the weight of years, worn out and weary, but animated by the fires of an unquenched spirit, this remnant of a mighty host which had carved out victory for the republic on the hardest-fought battlefields the world has ever known, marched proudly along, the last of an unconquered band of heroes. They looked the part they had played as makers of history in this country of their birth or adoption, as the case might be. Proudly they marched with the battle flags waving above the swaying ranks—flags which bore the marks of shot and shell in many a fierce fray, comrades together now as they were then. With military precision, these old soldiers of Antietam, Vicksburg, the Wilderness, Gettysburg and Appomattox swung into line at the appointed hour ready for the command to march.

Headed by the detachment from Illinois, commanded by Benson Wood, the Grand Army detachments appeared in full muster at their appointed stations, ready to move with the main column which started punctually at 10 o'clock on the route of march. The mounted staff of department commanders and all the mounted escorts were formed into platoons of eight files from the distance being regulated at four paces. This formation was well maintained all through the parade, and the same can be said of the different posts which were paraded some sixteen paces apart, with about double that distance between the departments. A platoon of police led the column, commanded by Chief Witman and followed by the drum corps of the National Association of Civil War Musicians. Next in line was Chief Marshal Edward S. Salomon and his staff. The personal escort of Commander-in-Chief Stewart was composed of George H. Thomas Post, No. 2, Department of California, A. D. Cutler commanding. Accompanying the commander-in-chief was Quartermaster-General Burrows, Judge-Advocate-General Beers, Adjt.-Gen. John W. Schall, Chaplain-in-Chief Shuey and Inspector-General Walsh, with members of the Executive Committee.

The several departments of the Grand Army followed with, as mentioned before, the Department of Illinois in the van. Following came Pennsylvania, commanded by Edwin LABOR.

CONTRARY TO LAW TO FAVOR UNIONS.

Chief Executive Will See That Due Respect is Paid to Rules.

Laborites Endeavor to Coerce the Commandant of the Watertown Arsenal—Interference by Agitators in Other Quarters—Engineers' Combination Threatens to Fight the President Politically.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary Cortelyou today confirmed the report that widespread and thorough inquiries are in progress in all departments of the government to determine the relations of labor unions to government work, and to ascertain whether discrimination has been or is now being practiced in the employment of men on government work.

Reports that have been received from commandants of navy yards, commissaries, ordinance officers in charge of arsenals, governors of soldiers, homes and others in authority, which show that a condition of affairs exist that is directly contrary to the rule laid down by the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission, and endorsed by the President, to the effect that no workman shall be discriminated against because of membership or non-membership in a labor union.

At the War Department, it was learned today that at Watertown Arsenal an attempt had been made by the secretary of a labor union to coerce the commandant into rejecting certain material, furnished by a contractor on the ground that the contractor employed men more than eight hours daily. Some effort was also made to influence workmen doing piece work to the advantage of the labor unions. Certain commissaries in charge of stores reported attempted interference by union labor representatives, both in the employment of men and the purchase of material. Acting Secretary Darling, said that while the Navy Department did not permit any discrimination between union and non-union men in the navy yard, attempts had been made to work non-union men out of Washington, Brooklyn and Mare Island yards. The method followed by union workmen was to condemn the work of non-union mechanics, in order to have them discharged. Then, if the next man engaged was a union man, there would be no complaint. If a non-union man succeeded to the job, "knocking" was continued until he was displaced. The net result of this operation, if continued, would be the filling of all places with union men.

Representatives of labor organizations have called on the Acting Secretary to protest against the employment of non-union men, but have invariably been informed that no discrimination will be shown and that no grievances will be heard except from individuals as such.

All information obtained is to be submitted to the President. Already an order is in force prohibiting discrimination in employment of workmen, and if this order is disobeyed there will be swift punishment for offenders, according to a Cabinet officer's interview on the subject. No advantage whatever in government work is to be given to labor unions. They are not recognized as possessing any rights over an individual non-union workman. All practices contrary to this rule are to be weeded out in every department of the government.

TO FIGHT THE PRESIDENT.

ENGINEERS' UNION GETS GAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Members of the Engineers' Union announced today, upon reading President Roosevelt's ruling that non-union men should not be discriminated against in government departments, that a national movement would be started to defeat him for renomination, and for election if the fight in the nominating convention is unsuccessful. Neil C. McCallum, business agent of the engineers' organization, proposes to start the movement in this State.

"When a preacher wants a job, he must first join a conference or be a graduate of a certain college," declared the labor official. "When a lawyer wants to transact business in the United States courts he must join an association, yet when we say that a man should not work unless he joins a society composed of his brother workers, we are condemned. This rule of Roosevelt's will defeat him in the next Presidential campaign."

Seattle Car Men May Strike.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 19.—The employés of the Seattle Electric Company may go on a strike within the next twenty-four hours. They have made demands on the company for an increase in pay and other concessions, all of which have been turned down. Early this morning the employés are in session considering the matter of striking.

Fishermen's Strike Ended.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 19.—The local salmon fishers' sympathetic strike ended today by an agreement between fishermen and dealers that the former shall resume fishing at once, the latter agreeing not to sell any fish bought of the fishers to the Benecia or Black Diamond canneries, or to any San Francisco dealers, until the strike by the Black Diamond Fishermen's Union is settled. The prices to be paid are to be current market prices as adjusted from week to week. The settlement relieves a very strained position.

There were 19,742,000 acres public land that passed to private ownership, an increase of about 3,000,000 over the previous year. The cash receipts were about $10,540,000, an increase of nearly 70 per cent. over 1902.

About three-quarters of these receipts go into the arid land reclamation fund, which now amounts to about $15,000,000. This money is immediately available for national irrigation work.

In estimating the probable amount appropriated under new irrigation law, only $2,500,000 annually was allowed as the probable increase to the fund the figures of the past year present a startling excess over the estimates, and put this irrigation work into the class of formidable national enterprises.

LAND ENTRIES IN CALIFORNIA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] During the fiscal year ending June 30, there were 5865 entries of public lands in California under all land laws against 6801 entries in 1902. The total acreage of entries this year was 939,180 against 655,986 acres in 1902. The receipts from sales of lands, fees and commissions were $877,735 against $336,208 last year. California's contribution to the arid land reclamation fund through land sales in 1901 and 1902 amounted to $503,820, and of this year's receipts about $450,000 will go into fund, making a total of $1,150,000 contributed by California.

Only 1723 acres were entered in Alaska during the last fiscal year.

POSTOFFICE CASE.

NEW INDICTMENTS LIKELY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Grand Jury today resumed its inquiry into the affairs of the Postoffice Department, and it is said that after the conclusion of the investigation there will be another batch of indictments.

The postoffice inspectors are also engaged in original inquiries, and it is understood will present the facts in the case of a number of departmental employés, which, while not criminal in character, are considered sufficiently irregular to call for attention at the hands of the high officials of the department. Among the cases of this character is that of W. O. Hazzard, division superintendent of free delivery of the State of New York, who, it is charged, drew a per diem allowance of $4 a day from the government, as if on active field duty, while confined in a hospital for treatment for a gunshot wound. These cases have not been brought officially to the attention of the Postmaster-General, and no decision regarding them has been reached.

A corporation such as this is hailed as a new idea in the management of bankrupt estates.

COMBINATION OF BREWERS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Many recent conferences among brewers of Greater New York have given rise to a belief that a combination of all brewing interests is about to be formed. The immediate result of the consolidation would be to close several of the smaller breweries. There are about forty of these in Brooklyn alone. Another result would be the establishment of certain standard grades of beer and ale, which would be sold at uniform prices in all saloons. Brewers have been complaining that the keen competition in their business has been almost ruinous.

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 19.—The President received a call today from John A. Sleicher, editor of Leslie's Weekly, and H. H. Kohlsaat of Chicago. Schleicher discussed with the President the reform movement in China and the threatened punishment of the Shandhai editors who were advocates of reform. President Roosevelt said he had heard nothing of the matter, but promised to investigate it at once.

Kohlsaat talked about the proposed currency legislation.

The Mayflower returned to Oyster Bay late this afternoon.

FLASHES FROM THE WIRES.

The names of the alleged murderer and his victim in Tuesday night's tragedy in Cleveland, O., were learned yesterday. The man was William Leutbecher, 28 years of age, and the young woman Martha Faehnrich. The cause given for the tragedy is the opposition of the Faehnrich family to Leutbecher's attentions to Martha.

The Most Rev. J. J. Harty, Archbishop of Manila, has postponed his departure from Rome, as he is desirous of assisting in the coronation of the Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Hendrick, the recently-appointed bishop of Cebu, next Sunday.

Baron von Windheim, whom the Emperor has just appointed Governor of Upper Silesia, was a classmate of the Emperor at Bonn University. It is well understood at court that Von Windheim is destined for a high place in the government.

The question of calling the Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson of Brooklyn, and formerly of Chicago, to the long vacant pulpit of Tremont Temple, Boston, will doubtless be acted on at the meeting of the trustees early next month.

Veteran's Terrible Death.

NAPA, Aug. 19.—George A. Mower, a Civil War veteran, who lived alone about a mile from Calistoga, met with a terrible death early Tuesday morning. He fell across a hot stove and was nearly burned to a crisp, being suddenly stricken down with a stroke of paralysis.

AFTER SEVEN YEARS.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 19. —The following is from Director W. W. Campbell of the Lick Observatory: "The faint periodic comet discovered by Prof. Brooks of Geneva, N. Y., in 1889, appeared again in 1896, and its second return was predicted for this year. Dr. Aitken found it this morning with the 36-inch equatorial, about five minutes of arc from its predicted place. It is of the fourteenth magnitude, and therefore requires a telescope twelve inches or more in diameter to see it.

"The new star discovered by Turner of Oxford in the constellation Gemini last March was systematically observed here and elsewhere until in May, when the sun reached the part of the sky in which it is situated. The sun having now passed to the eastward sufficiently to permit observations to be resumed, Dr. Curtis reobserved the star this morning, and found it to be of the tenth magnitude. The spectroscopic observations made in the spring showed that the spectrum of the star was gradually changing, and assuming the character of the spectrum of a nebula. This morning's observations show that the change to the nebular state is complete."

Fight on Western Union of Pennsylvania Railroad.

Proposed Extension of Lines of the Postal Company.

Both Corporations Raise Commercial Rates on Messages in the East.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ANDERSON (Ind.) Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The probability of conflicts in the West between the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company, is suggested in information which has reached this city. Secretary John P. Sears of the Anderson Commercial Club, who has just returned from New York, where he went to consult with telegraph officers with a view to improving the service in this city, made a statement concerning the results of his trip which is significant in view of recent occurrences in the East. Sears said he met Vice-President Baker of the Postal Telegraph Company, who told him that the Postal would enter this city and others along the Pennsylvania Railway system west of Pittsburgh at the close of this year by supplanting the Western Union along the Pennsylvania system.

Sears also quotes Baker as saying that notice will soon be given to the Western Union to get its lines out of the way along the Pennsylvania system west of Pittsburgh. These lines extend from Pittsburgh to Chicago and St. Louis, and from Chicago to Louisville and Cincinnati, and include extensive trunk lines as well as many wires for handling local business.

RAISE THEIR RATES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By an agreement between the Western Union and Postal telegraph companies the commercial rate for messages exceeding ten words between this city and New York and Brooklyn, Baltimore and Jersey City has been raised from 20 cents for 10 words and 1 cent for each word over 10 which has prevailed for more than ten years, to 25 cents and 2 cents a word excess. The officers of the companies are not inclined to discuss the change. A Western Union officer said that the company had lost heavily on the old rate, as the actual cost of transmission was 22 cents. The Postal, it is said, has taken the step in order to balance the contract recently made with the Pennsylvania Railroad, which, it is said, has proved unprofitable.

DR. WOODS AND WIFE.

Friends of Them Assert that Under Certain Conditions They Will Surrender to the Authorities.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Persons interested in the case announce that "within a few days" Dr. John D. Woods and his wife, who are being sought in connection with the death of Col. William Best at San Rafael, Cal., last April, will surrender to the prosecutor of Essex county, N. J., at Newark. It is declared that the doctor will make it a condition that the indictment for larceny of Col. Best's jewelry against Dr. Woods in San Rafael is not to be used as a subterfuge to get him to California, and then bring forth an indictment for murder.

Woods is said to be in hiding near Asbury Park. He has been reported seen dozens of times since the search began. Only a few days ago a member of the Best family who had been actively pursuing the doctor, stated that he had seen him on a train near Asbury Park, "but could not learn where his destination was." Interest in the case has gradually subsided.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Plans for combining farmers, fruit growers, dairymen and all other producers of natural food products into one national organization were considered at a conference here today between representatives of several farmers' cooperative associations. As a result of the conference, it was decided to hold a farmers' convention in Chicago September 8, to consider detailed plans of organization.

It was claimed by those who attended today's conference that when the organization is completed, the farmer will be able to get $1 a bushel for wheat, 60 cents for corn and 40 cents for oats throughout the year.

MANSION ON EARTH WANTED BY DOWIE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John Alexander Dowie, head of the Christian Catholic Church in Zion City, has now declared that he will one day have a magnificent marble temple at Zion City, surpassing in grandeur the Mormon Temple at Salt Lake. Now he declares to his congregation that it is his ambition to have the finest mansion for a preacher in the world.

"Not less than 320 acres of ground will do me to carry out my plans," says Dowie. "I shall need a dining-room with capacity for a thousand guests. I need it to entertain in proper form my surpliced choir and host of workers on occasions. I have worked hard for you and Zion City, giving my time day and night, and I think I am entitled to these things."

Dowie never yet has failed to get what he wants, and he will undoubtedly have the mansion.

The railroads were notified today that the restoration host that is to go from Zion City to New York in October to evangelize the metropolis will number 4000, requiring ten trains. Dowie will go in a magnificent private car, and the telegraph wires connecting with his car will advise him every hour of the progress of every one of the trains.

TURKS FEAR NEW RUSSIAN DEMA

Porte Will Oppose Placing Officers Over Gendarmes.

Claims Growing Out of the Murder of the Monastir Presented Yesterday—Insubordination Mussulman Troops a Cause of Alarm—Engagements and Killings.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 20—[By Atlantic Cable.] The ... asserts that Great Britain, Russia and ... laying in an enormous and abnormal quantity ... steam coal, presumably in preparing for eventualities. The Daily Mail further understands that unless the ... situation improves, all the powers will prohibit ... squadrons to Turkish waters.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Tuesday, Aug. 18.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Russian squadron is expected this afternoon. It will anchor in the Bay of Miadia, off the coast of European Turkey, between Burgas and the entrance of the Bosphorus, 80 miles from the latter.

The attitude of indifference hitherto assumed by the Turkish officials toward Russia's action is giving way to one of marked concern. The Porte fears that Russia contemplates making still more important demands than are contained in the recent note of M. Zinovoff, the Russian ambassador, such as the appointment of a Christian Governor-General of Macedonia. This idea, however, does not find support in diplomatic quarters, where the conviction prevails that Russia is working in full agreement with Austria.

No difficulty is anticipated on the part of Turkey to the acceptance of the Russian demands with the possible exception of the appointment of European officers to command the gendarmerie. This is likely to arouse opposition, and it is thought that Russian anticipation thereof led to the dispatch of the squadron, the presence of which was hardly required to enforce a fulfillment of the other terms.

The Russian demands on Turkey growing out of the recent murder of the Russian Consul at Monastir, M. Rostkowski, were formally presented at the Yildiz Palace today. Notwithstanding the warning which Russia addressed to the Bulgarian government, it is generally believed here that Russian naval dominion in Turkish waters will dangerously encourage the Macedonians, who, it is asserted, will interpret Russia's action as being the first step toward intervention in their behalf.

The insubordination of the Turkish troops is regarded as being one of the greatest dangers of the present Balkan crisis. The lack of discipline among the soldiers is marked. It is found necessary to humor them in order to prevent conflicts between the soldiers and their officers. For instance, a regiment while on the way from Uskub to Monastir demanded that the train be stopped at Salonica for twelve hours, instead of for the scheduled half-hour, so that the soldiers might amuse themselves in the town. After futile endeavors to prevail upon the men to return to the train to proceed, the officers were obliged to grant their demand.

The killing of Bulgarian workmen who were repairing the railroad track near Uskub is another grave insubordination of the Turkish troops. Details of the affair show that a trainload of Turkish soldiers, soon after leaving the railroad station at Uskub, not only fired on and killed three Bulgarians who were at work on the road and left the bodies lying on the line, but some of the soldiers left the train and pursued other Bulgarian workmen at the neighboring stations, where the Turks murdered them all in cold blood.

Consular reports received here from Monastir continue to emphasize the danger of an outbreak of Mohammedan fanaticism there. The consular agents have asked for protection, and the question of again dispatching warships to Salonica is being discussed by the representatives of the powers.

Dispatches from Turkish sources say the insurgents have destroyed another village in Macedonia.

The ambassadors of the powers have again drawn the earnest attention of the Porte to the fears of a massacre at Salonica, and have demanded the adoption of immediate and effective measures for the protection of the foreign consulates, and the subjects of the various powers.

Letters received here from Uskub say that there is danger of a great feeling of unrest, and it is feared the populace may be attacked.

The monastery of the Holy Virgin, near Kitchevo, has been burned by Albanians, after a determined struggle between the defenders of the monastery and the insurgents during which both sides lost heavily.

Servian refugees are arriving at Uskub from Dibra, having fled from there on account of fear of a massacre. The Albanians in that district have burned a number of Bulgarian villages.

GEN MACARTHUR CHEERED.

A distinguished trio rode at the head of the Wisconsin division. They were Gen. MacArthur, commander of the department of the Pacific; Gen. Cobb and Gen. Lyon, all three being attired in civilian clothing. All three these general officers are from Wisconsin and all have won national fame. Gen. MacArthur was received all along the line of march, and loudly cheered as he passed each column.

KNAPP'S BATTERY.

The survivors of the heroic Knapp's Battery of light artillery were in the line, and were warmly received. This is the remnant of the famous old fighting regiment which was mustered out at the close of the war, and this is the first occasion the battery has paraded since its service in the historic grand review of the Federal troops at Washington in May, 1865. This battery did splendid work at Chancellorsville, Gettysburg and all through the Shenandoah Valley, concluding a brilliant career by marching with Sherman to the sea, entering Richmond with Grant. Its most historic feat was the firing of the shot that killed Gen. Pol before Resaca.

One thousand men marched under the yellow banner of Illinois. At the head marched Col. Thomas G. Lawlor. As usual, the Badger State hosts fell in after the Illinois, and closed up the First Division. There were 300 in the list, led by Gen. Arthur MacArthur, in civilian clothes, keeping company with Gen. Amos Cobb, ex-Chief Justice of the Supreme Bench of Nebraska, and Gen. Lyon, present Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin. At the very head was J. P. Rundle, commander of the department, and his chief of staff, Capt. Henry of Eau Claire. All of the Wisconsin officers were on foot, while the New York, Illinois and Ohio delegations were supplied with horses, as well as bands, to accompany their divisions.

Pennsylvania headed the Second Division. Here and there in the line appeared a bucktail, indicating the presence of a survivor of the famous First Pennsylvania Regiment, "the Bucktails." There were five in all of these old mountaineers. One man, with a new lease on life, shouldered his crutch and went gamely without the wooden assistance he had been accustomed to for thirty years. Another, forerseeing long waits in view in the procession, carried under his arm a camp stool. When the parade halted he unfolded his neat contrivance and rested on the pavement.

In the New York section, which followed Pennsylvania two girls trotted along, keeping company with their fathers. One wife, also accompanied her husband. Jerry Stuntz of Pasadena, a former Empire State soldier, waited in a wheel chair until his former comrades apeared, when he directed his attendant to push him into line. On offe side of John S. Koster, commander of the New York section, was M. W. Cartwright, Chief of Police of New York City.

The scene was one of wild enthusiasm all along the streets, old and young turning out en masse to greet the fast-fading ranks of the veteran American soldiers, who, in compact organization, will never march here again. The reviewing stand was on Van Ness avenue, and there the departments marched past in perfect alignment, after a long and tiresome march for many of the older veterans, showing up in brave style until dismissed by the grand marshal.

PLENTY OF COLOR.

Although there was little variety of uniform in the parade, the color feature was amply furnished by the great abundance of flags and banners. Nearly every one of the thousands in line carried the national emblem, making the scene most brilliant. The Illinois delegation attracted much attention, and Pennsylvania was splendidly represented, while Wisconsin, Iowa, New York and Ohio were not far behind in point of members. The California posts, of course, led all others in point of numbers, the southern part of the State making an especially fine showing. A few of the veterans were compelled by physical weakness, to drop out when their hotels were reached, but the great majority went bravely over the long line of march. During the progress of the procession, a salute was fired from Union Square, and bombs were discharged at intervals. The Alaska delegation carried aloft an immense pair of horns, and a couple of coons were borne by the Wisconsin men.

PACIFIC SLOPE'S SHOWING.

The Pacific States and Territories have reason to feel proud of the showing they made in the great parade. Every section was represented, from Alaska to Arizona, and all vied with the best-equipped posts of the whole country. Oregon turned out 174 veterans, supported by a color guard of twenty men. Commander Turner was flanked by his staff, consisting of Senior Vice-Commander McDevitt, Quartermaster Leitelitt, Gen. Sumner, formerly of the Philippines, and Past Commander Lamb.

There were 100 men from Washington and Alaska. Thirty men were on hand from Utah, commanded by G. W. Ramsey, and had with them a fifer who played an instrument that had seen service in the war. A score of veterans represented Arizona, besides a number who marched with comrades from other places. Last, but far from least, came the California contingent, headed by Department Commander Shafter, who was cheered all along the line. Lincoln Post alone had 705 men in the ranks, while the other posts were represented by nearly their whole membership. Oakland sent 100 men, and nearly every interior city and county turned out from ten to 100 veterans each. About fifty members from Nevada were marshaled by Post Commander John Hymers.

ORGANIZATIONS RECEIVE IN THE AFTERNOON.

RELIEF CORPS AND THE G.A.R. LADIES TAKE THE LEAD.

Headquarters of the Two Auxiliaries so Crowded With Visitors that Passage Through the Rooms Was Almost Impossible—Evening Concert.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The afternoon was devoted largely to receptions and reunions. At the headquarters of the Woman's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the Grand Army, the number of visitors was so great that passage through the rooms was almost impossible. The United States Maimed Soldiers' Organization met in Temple Hall, but the attendance was small. After Comrade Storey had explained the work done by the order to secure increased pensions for disabled veterans, an adjournment was taken until tomorrow. Old members of the First Missouri and Second United States Artillery met and exchanged stories of the war in an informal manner.

A few survivors of the famous "Iron Brigade" of the Army of the Potomac assembled in Pioneer Hall, their session also being of a social character.

All of the State and county headquarters were open, and hospitality was lavishly dispensed. The rooms of the Sacramento Valley posts, as well as those of the Southern California and Fresno people were centers of interest, and at each place boxes of California fruit were freely given to all visitors.

In the evening, thousands attended a vocal and instrumental concert at Mechanics' Pavilion. Gen. Nelson A. Miles was the guest of the Spanish-American War Veterans, and the Woman's Relief Corps gave a reception to Commander-in-Chief Stewart.

Reunions were also held by the ladies of the Grand Army and Wisconsin Society of Civil Veterans. A camp fire at the armory of the Spanish-American War Veterans closed the events of the night.

The veterans of the Spanish-American War and the Philippine insurrection held a largely-attended reunion tonight and camp fire at their armory on Ellis street. Previous to the arrival of their guests, the election of officers was held with the following result: Commander-in-chief, Gen. Owen Summers of Oregon; senior vice-commander, Maj. B. L. Sime of California; junior vice-commander, Col. J. B. McClintock of Arizona; judge-advocate-general, Gen. Wilder P. Metcalfe of Kansas; surgeon-general, Maj. Elmer S. Brown of Washington; chaplain-general, Rev. Joseph Wooley of Rhode Island; officer of the day, Lieut. L. Hartmann of Idaho. The adjutant-general and quartermaster-general are to be appointed by the commander-in-chief.

A resolution was adopted declaring strongly in favor of the consolidation of all existing organizations of veterans of the Spanish and Philippine wars, and Rev. J. J. Woolley was chosen as a delegate to eastern meetings of the various societies to urge consolidation.

The camp fire was attended by Gov. Pardee and staff and a number of prominent eastern visitors. Gen. Miles was expected to be present, but was detained elsewhere. Brief addresses were made by Gov. Pardee, Rev. Father McQuade, Col. Berry and others.

KINNE FOR "SENIOR VICE."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—Col. C. Mason Kinne, a member of Lincoln Post, No. 1, of San Francisco, who is prominent in the administration of the affairs of the Department of California, is to be the next senior vice-commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. His selection has already been made, and the appointment will be conferred in convention without opposition. It has been customary to appoint a delegate to the position from the city in which the encampment is held.

SAN JOSE PREPARING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN JOSE, Aug. 19.—The various committees are closing the arrangements for the reception of the Grand Army visitors next Saturday. A fine lunch, prepared by the ladies, will be served in St. James Park, free for all. About eight tons of fruit will be piled high on the tables. The soldiers are asked to bring their wives and daughters with them. The guests will be given free rides to all points of interest.

The Detroit police yesterday were as far from a solution of the horrible murder of little four-year-old Alphonse Wilmes as they were when the mutilated body was found.

TROOPS LEAVE FAMOUS FORT.

Historic Fort McHenry Has Been Abandoned as Headquarters.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19.—Historic Fort McHenry has been abandoned as headquarters of United States troops in this State, according to orders received from the Secretary of War. Lieut.-Col Thorpe is appointed District Commander of the Defenses to Baltimore and the headquarters are changed to the new Fort Howard at North Point, another site that figured in the Revolution. Fort Howard is situated where the Patapsco River empties into Chesapeake Bay. The quarters there are more modern and superior to those at Fort McHenry. Only one company of artillery will be continued at the later fort, which will be preserved because of its historic interest.

It is now so close in the harbor that it is of no value for defense. Fort Howard is ten miles below.

The section of Fort McHenry where the fighting was done in the Revolution has been occupied by only the quarter's department for some years. The guns that defended the fort at the time the "Star Spangled Banner" was written are all gone. Most of them were borrowed from the French government at the breakout of the Revolutionary War. The large, smooth-bore guns that are now mounted at the fort were put in place in the Civil War.

ROUSING WELCOME INTERESTS VETERANS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The magnificent welcome accorded the members of the Grand Army has greatly impressed visitors with the hospitality of California. Commander-in-Chief Thomas J. Stewart today expressed his pleasure at the reception accorded the veterans.

"The people of San Francisco have given us a reception that we can never forget," said Gen. Stewart. "It has surpassed everything before it."

Great interest has been aroused concerning the resources of California. The California Promotion Committee, representing leading commercial organizations, reports that it has distributed a vast quantity of free literature to the veterans and other visitors to the city. The headquarters of the committee are thronged with visitors, and thousands of pamphlets and other pieces of descriptive literature on California have been carried away by the veterans. In fact, so steady has been the demand for literature that despite an enormous supply, a number of standard publications of the committee have been exhausted. Great interest was aroused in California during the President's visit, and there has been a vast demand from the visitors for the handsome, illustrated volume "California Addresses by President Roosevelt", issued by the Promotion Committee.

Thousands of the veterans and their families will visit various portions of the State to see the orange orchards, big trees, etc. Rufus P. Jennings, executive officer of the Promotion Committee, expressed his gratification over the interest evinced regarding California.

"I believe the visit has been propitious in every way, and will result in great good to the State," said Mr. Jennings. "California is settled by natives from every State in the Union, and it has been a pleasure to Californians to renew friendships with old friends of the Grand Army."

Train after train still adds its complement to the army of veterans already marshaled here, and the encampment now begins to assume the proportions of one of the largest ever held in the history of the organization. Arrivals are now computed at 21,000 people from eastern points, with fully 35,000 persons in addition from California points. For the next few days excursions have been arranged to carry the visiting veterans to different points of interest in the interior, and all the leading cities have made arrangements to give them an appropriate reception.

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER IMPERIAL VALLEY.

DISTINGUISHED PARTY INSPECTS RECLAMATION WORK.

Capitalists and Railroad Officials Marvel at Great Transformation Accomplished in Two Years by Big Irrigation Enterprise—Long Drive and Sleep in Open Air.

Enthusiastic over the marvelous example of reclamation of desert by irrigation, a party of distinguished capitalists, financiers and railroad officials returned from an inspection of Imperial Valley last evening.

The party made the trip in the private cars of R. H. Ingram and Frank Seaman of New York. The visitors were piloted by A. H. Heber, president of the California Development Company, which has made the great reclamation project such a success. Leaving this city Sunday evening the party reached Imperial, the center of the valley, the same night. Early the next morning the investigators took carriages and drove about twenty-five miles, reaching Calexico in time for luncheon at noon. The drive over the southern part of the valley was taken in the afternoon, and the night spent at Calexico, the entire party sleeping in the open air. Early next morning the party returned by another route to Imperial in time to catch the morning train for Los Angeles.

Most of the members of the party had not been in Imperial Valley before, but were attracted by the reports of the marvelous development which has been accomplished there during the past two years by the diversion of the Colorado River waters into the desert. They unanimously expressed surprise at the magnitude of the undertaking, and the remarkable results apparent on every hand.

Prominent in the party was Frank Seaman, a banker of New York City, and head of one of the largest advertising houses in the world. Mr. Seaman came west in his private car "Colombia," and he proceeded north at 7:30 o'clock last evening, accompanied by members of the Imperial party from San Francisco.

Other members of the party were E. B. Pond, president of the San Francisco Savings Union; George W. McNear, president of the Port Costa Milling Company, which company is erecting a large warehouse at Imperial; J. M. Elliott, president of the First National Bank; Warren Gillelen, president of the Broadway Bank and Trust Company; W. J. Doran, vice-president of the American National Bank; R. O. McCormick, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific; James Horsburg, assistant general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, and manager of the Sunset Magazine; George M. McKinney, general immigration agent of the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific; R. H. Ingram, division superintendent of the Southern Pacific.

Feared Walk Over Seattle's Steep Hills.

Trans-Mississippi Delegates Ran for the Cars.

Wetmore Opposes Bell's Bill. Decision Rendered in Piercy Case

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 19.—The proceedings of the second day's session of the Trans-Mississippi Congress were broken off with a jar this afternoon, when John Henry Smith of Utah, who was presiding temporarily, raised his hand for order, and announced that the women in the hall had better hurry to the city, for there was a rumor that the street car men were going out on a strike at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Five minutes later the hall was cleared, not only of women, but of men as well.

Truman G Palmer was in the middle of an able paper, telling about the Philippines, when the announcement of the possible strike was made.

Before the hall was entirely deserted one man had the presence of mind left to make a motion to adjourn, but no one stayed long enough to vote on the question. Mr. Smith declared the motion carried, anyway.

Though official action has not been taken, it is understood that the next session of the Congress will be held in St. Louis during the World's Fair. Richard C. Kerens, the Republican leader of Missouri, was unanimously elected president for next year.

A. L. Black of Whatcom, Wash., was named as first vice-president. Walter Gresham of Galveston, who is presiding over the present congress, was selected as second vice-president, C. B. Booth of Los Angeles, fourth vice-president; George B. Harrison of Kansas City, was reelected as treasurer, and Arthur Francis of Cripple Creek, Colo., was elected secretary.

THAT FLYING MACHINE.

LANGLEY ISSUES STATEMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Prof. Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, whose experiments down the Potomac River with the aerodrome or flying machine, devised by him, have attracted wide public attention, in order to correct certain public misapprehensions, today issued a statement, in which he said:

"The present experiments being made in mechanical flights have been carried on partly with funds provided by the Board of Ordnance and Fortifications, and partly from private sources, and from an endowment of the Smithsonian Institution. The experiments are carried on with the approval of the board of regents of the Smithsonian Institution.

"It is to be regretted that the enforced publicity which has been given to these initial experiments, which are essentially experiments and nothing else, may lead to quite unfounded expectations.

"The fullest publicity consistent with the national interest—the present experiments have for their object the development of a machine for war purposes—will be given to this work if it reaches a stage which warrants a publication."

CHINESE FEUD.

NEW OUTBREAK THREATENS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The fear of renewed hostilities in Chinatown, as a result of the conviction of murder in the first degree of Quan Quock Wah, one of the eleven presidents of the Highbinder Society, who inspired the murder of Tim Yick in Ross alley three months ago, has prompted Chief of Police Wittman to take every measure to prevent a bloody outbreak. The Chinatown squad has been strengthened, and orders have been issued to patrol the vicinity of highbinder headquarters without relaxation day and night to prevent a gathering of the fighting men of the various tongs now at open war with the Educational Society.

The detectives learned today that secret meetings of the highbinders were held last night, at which a price of $300 was set upon the head of Jue Wing Hung, the cook, whose evidence for the prosecution was mainly instrumental in convicting Quan Quock Wah. He was present at Quan Quock Wah's cigar store when two highbinders entered, and each received from Quan Quock Wah a revolver with instructions to shoot Tim Yick at sight. One of these men subsequently slew his man by shooting him in the back.

It has also become known that open war has been declared against the Educational Society, the members of which are held responsible for the conviction of Quan Quock Wah, and the latter are arming themselves for their own protection.

BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER.

PROCEEDINGS IN PIERCY CASE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, Aug. 19.—Judgment and findings were filed today by Judge Rhodes in the long-pending suit of Mary M. Piercy against her son Ed M. Piercy, involving the title to nearly 1300 acres of land in this county. Two years ago, Mrs. Piercy, who was 80 years of age, deeded the land to E. M. Piercy, the consideration being love and affection and services rendered and promised. Andrew Piercy, another son, had proceedings brought which resulted in Mrs. Piercy being declared in April, 1902, incompetent. Noble Hamilton was appointed guardian ad litem, and began suit to set aside the deed of lands to E. M. Piercy, on the ground of incompetency, lack of consideration, undue influence, intimidation, etc. In giving judgment for E. M. Piercy, Judge Rhodes finds that all of these allegations were untrue. The property in question was inherited by Mrs. Piercy from her son David, who died some years ago. She was also the mother of Samuel Piercy, deceased, who was an actor and married into the wealthy Dunphy family of San Francisco.

Strangely enough a private dispatch was received here tonight announcing the death of Mrs. Piercy in San Francisco at the home of her son, Andrew. She leaves a large estate here and in San Francisco.

HERRERA ASPIRES TO CHAMPIONSHIP.

CHALLENGES YOUNG CORBETT AND BACKS IT UP WITH COIN.

"Parson" Davies Thinks the Mexican is the Best in His Class—Will Probably Soon Be Given a Match by "Eddie" Hanlon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Biddy Bishop, manager for Aurelio Herrera, the Mexican featherweight, today deposited $1000 in gold coin and issued a challenge to Young Corbett and all the rest of 128-pound boxers of prominence. That Bishop is sincere there can be no doubt, as he insisted on putting up coin, and declared if the offer is accepted, this money will go as a side bet.

Herrera is entitled to recognition by the best men in his class, for he has gone to the front rapidly of recent months. Bishop speaks glowingly of the Mexican's rapid improvement, and remarks that Herrera now uses the crouch and throws in knock-out punches from short range that are surprising.

Parson Davies, who is "Kid" Broad's manager, says Herrera can defeat Young Corbett and all the rest of the 128-poundders. It is likely Herrera will be matched to box Eddie Hanlon here next month, and the match would certainly prove a good one.

ASTORIA REGATTA.

SURPASSED PREDECESSORS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ASTORIA (Ore.) Aug. 19.—The ninth annual regatta opened this morning, the weather conditions being almost perfect. The river was crowded with vessels and craft of various descriptions in holiday attire, and the spectacle presented was a magnificent one. The coronation of "Queen Frances" from the royal barge, anchored in the middle of the river, was an event that rivaled anything ever before attempted. The marine parade, which followed, was more than a mile long.

The races this morning were as follows:

Junior four-oared shells, for local crews: Won by crew No. 1; the second crew not finishing, their shell having collapsed.

Junior four-oared shells: Victoria and Vancouver; Victoria won by three seconds.

Junior four-oared barges, San Francisco crews, South End's Alameda and Ariel's Alameda won, South End's second. This is the fifth time that the Alameda crew has won this race at the Astoria regatta.

The cutter race between crews of the lighthouse tenders Manzanilla, Columbine and The Heather was won by the Manzanilla crew, with the Columbine second.

JEFFRIES SHAKES FITZ.

WILL TRAVEL WITH CORBETT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After a conference between Jeffries and Corbett, it looks as though the champion and his latest antagonist would form a partnership and go on the road in a big pugilistic drama. Certainly, four rounds between these two artists in ring costume would pack a house in any town. Today, Corbett left for the East, but yesterday he had a long conference with Jeffries. Asked what was the result, Corbett said: "Jeffries told me he is going East, and would meet me in New York, when he will probably talk matters over."

From Jeffries's friends comes the news that Fitzsimmons has lost considerable prestige by his action of late, and it is feared he will be jeered instead of cheered when he attempts to go abroad with the show. Jeffries is friendly with Bob, but he does not like to assume so severe a handicap. Corbett, on the other hand, is very popular with the people, and as he is a good talker and a clever manager, he would be a great help to Jeffries.

BRIG ON FIRE.

HAD GIANT POWDER ABOARD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The brig W. G. Irwin, hence August 15 for Roche Harbor, returned to this harbor today on fire. Capt. Cathley reports that on August 17 at 9 o'clock p.m. he discovered smoke coming through the cabin floor. After searching the hold, fire was located in the forward hatch. The hatches were battened down all night and on the following morning were removed. It was discovered that the lime slack in the cargo was on fire. The vessel's bottom and sides were burning, and Capt. Cathley ordered the boats made ready and provisioned, and they were towed astern of the burning vessel. On the evening of the same day fifty cases of giant powder were taken out of the hold and thrown overboard, and the vessel's course headed for this city. The Irwin was picked up off the heads by the steamer Navarre and towed into the harbor and docked at Meigs wharf. When she reached the bay the flames were coming through the decks.

BREAKS ALL RECORDS.

SEATTLE GLOBE TROTTER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 19.—James Willis Sayre, the "Times" globe trotter, reached Seattle at 4:15 this afternoon over the Northern Pacific Railroad.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon, Sayre had been gone from Seattle exactly fifty-four days, eight hours and fifty-five minutes. The best previous record, made by Charles Cecil Fitzmorris, was sixty days, thirteen hours and twenty-nine minutes. Thus Sayre has broken the record by more than six days.

BELL'S WINE BILL.

WETMORE OPPOSES IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

STOCKTON, Aug. 19.—President C. A. Wetmore of the National Viticultural Association, is avowedly against the alleged pure-wine bill proposed by Congressman Bell. Wetmore, who is a vineyardist and winemaker of years of experience, declares that the purpose of the bill is not to prevent adulteration of wines, but to put a tax on all wines, thereby making it unprofitable for the small winemakers, who produce for their own consumption, and thus thrusting them out of the business and lessening the demand for the grapes, that the wine trust may dictate prices of the grapes. He declares that if the prevention of adulteration were sought it could be accomplished by a bill similar to the oleomargarine bill, which protects pure butter without taxing it. He will shortly call a mass meeting of the small growers to take action against the proposed bill.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Corpse Too Big.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—Owing to the immense size of Gottlieb Reichstetter, who died here last Saturday, the undertakers had considerable trouble in getting the body through the doors to the hearse. Reichstetter was 66 years of age and weighed at least 350 pounds. When it was attempted to take the coffin out it was found necessary to pry off the lid and take the door off its hinges. A dozen men were required to lift the coffin down the stairs.

Veteran's Narrow Escape.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—George W. Giles, a veteran of the Grand Army, had a narrow escape from death by suffocation by illuminating gas last night while in bed at his lodging-house. Giles is a member of Rawlins Post, G.A.R., of Stockton. The prompt summoning of a physician saved Giles's life.

Newhall May Lose Office.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—Owing to the absence of Police Commissioner Newhall from this city for more than sixty days, as provided by the city charter his office will be declared vacant. Mayor Schmitz has as yet not named Newhall's successor and it is possible that Newhall may be reappointed.

Gyson Tried to Die.

WOODLAND, Aug. 19.—Fred Gyson, a prisoner in the City Jail, made a desperate attempt this evening to commit suicide. He cut a deep gash in the left side of his throat with a rusty razor, but did not sever the jugular vein. He may live. Gyson was being held for examination, as to his sanity.

HOIST BY HIS OWN PETARD.

Prisoner Escapes and Leaves Detective to Serve as His Substitute.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Aug. 19.—Albert Ecklund, alias George Johnson, who was captured at Rawlins, and who was being taken back to Chicago to answer to the charge of grand larceny, effected a remarkable escape from Detective William Marsden.

Marsden left Rawlins last night with Ecklund, and to make sure of his man shackled him to a seat in the smoking compartment of a chair car. While Marsden was sleeping beside his prisoner Ecklund went through the detective's pockets, secured the keys to the shackles, released himself and then shackled the officer to the steam pipes. Having relieved the officer of his weapons and other property, Ecklund left the train at Laramie. Marsden was not awakened by the conductor until Cheyenne was reached, when he called for assistance. As Marsden had absolutely nothing on his person to prove he was not a prisoner, the trainmen would not release him. The railroad authorities telegraphed to Chicago for instructions, and when the train reached Sidney, Neb., Marsden was finally released from his predicament.

Tonight he passed through Cheyenne, en route to Laramie to try to effect the recapture of his prisoner.

CRIME PLOTTED BY UNION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

IDAHO SPRINGS (Colo.) Aug. 19.—At the hearing of Napoli and Carbonetti, Italian members of the Miners' Union, charged with complicity in the blowing up of one of the buildings of the Sun and Moon mine last month, a sensation was caused by the evidence given by William Bate, a union miner. He declared that C. E. Chandler, financial secretary of the union, told him some time before the explosion, that a committee consisting of Napoli, Carbonetti and Philip Fire, the man who was killed at the time the building was blown up, had been appointed to blow up the Sun and Moon. Chandler has been missing since some time before the explosion, and the officers have been searching for him.

THE SALESWOMAN

Compelled to Be on Her Feet the Larger Part of the Day Finds a Tonic in Pe-ru-na.

Miss Curtain, of St. Paul, Gives Her Experience.

Miss Nellie Curtain, 646 Pearl street, St. Paul, Minn., head saleswoman in a department store, writes:

"I have charge of a department in a dry goods store, and after standing the larger part of the day, I would go home with a dull ache, generally through my entire body. I used Peruna and feel so much better that I walk to and from the store now. I know Peruna to be the best medicine on the market for the diseases peculiar to women."—Miss Nellie Curtain.

Nothing is so weakening to the human system as the constant loss of mucous. Catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membrane produces an excessive formation of mucous. Whether the mucous membrane be located in the head or pelvic organs, the discharge of mucous is sure to occur.

This discharge of mucous constitutes a weakening drain; the system cannot long withstand the loss of mucous, hence it is that women afflicted with catarrhal affections of the pelvic organs feel tired and languid, with weak back and throbbing brain. A course of Peruna is sure to restore health by cutting off the weakening drain of the daily loss of mucous.

An Admirable Tonic.

Congressman Mark H. Dunnell, National Hotel, Washington, D. C., writes:

"Your Peruna being used by myself and many of my friends and acquaintances not only as a cure for catarrh but also as an admirable tonic for physical recuperation, I gladly recommend it to all persons requiring such remedies."—Mark H. Dunnell.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

BUSINESS.

Activity is reflected in money and business by the clearings of the local banks yesterday, which sent exchanges in the clearinghouse in the sum of $4,803,848.50, as compared with $727,-694.53 for the corresponding period of last year, and $456,115.66 for the same day in 1901.

Covering by shorts during the last half hour caused a sharp rally and the close in wheat at Chicago was at 81½ for September. A sharp backset in prices appeared in the New York stock market consequent upon the reactionary forces developed the preceding day. Declines in the active list ran from 1 to 4 points.

THE PRESIDENT SAYS, "NO LABOR-LINE."

A Washington dispatch to The Times, published in yesterday's issue, stated that the President, shortly after the Miller incident in the Government Printing Office, quietly set on foot an investigation for the purpose of ascertaining to what extent non-union labor is discriminated against in the employment of men in the government service. The result of the inquiry, it seems, has shown that in all branches of the service subordinate officials have been in the habit of discriminating in favor of men who belong to trades-unions in the giving out of public work. In many cases, it has been found, only union men have been given employment, the subordinate officials being under the impression that it was a part of their duty to make such discriminations against non-union men; that such, in fact, was "the policy of the government."

The subordinate officials who have thus been making unwarranted discriminations against one class of citizens and in favor of another class, have probably learned their mistake by this time; for, as the dispatch informs us, "the President at once gave strict orders that there should be no discrimination between union and non-union men in navy yards, soldiers' homes, river and harbor works or elsewhere in the War or Navy Departments. This order," adds the dispatch, "is regarded as of sweeping importance, since labor troubles in yards building government vessels might logically lead to interference by the government to protect non-union workingmen."

The action taken by the President is certainly of great importance; especially so, since it makes a radical change in what has been the policy of the government—or of certain government officials—heretofore, in matters of this kind. The effect of this change of policy on the part of the government must be determined by the events of the future. That the President is right—absolutely, unqualifiedly, and irrevocably right—in the attitude which he has assumed on this subject, there can be no possibility of doubt and no successful denial. The arbitrary action of the Bookbinders' Union, in securing the dismissal of Miller from the Government Printing Office, and the President's prompt reinstatement of Miller in his former position, served to call the attention of the country to the abuses which have long been carried on in the name of the government. The President was quick to discern these abuses and to realize their significance. Being a conscientious man, thoroughly sincere and honest, with the courage of his convictions, to discern abuses was to seek to remedy them.

It is becoming more and more apparent that the President meant just what he said when he gave out the order that there should be no further discriminations against non-union men in the Government Printing Office. No one who understands the President's character can believe for a moment that he will cease in the good work of enforcing this order, in letter and in spirit, until the principle of the "open shop" shall have been practically applied in all departments of the government. In the successful inculcation and realization of this idea, as applied to government work, he will have done a service to the whole country, and will also have strengthened himself in a political sense, because he will have raised himself even higher than he now stands in the esteem and confidence of the people, who are greater and more numerous than any mere clique or faction of the people.

ANARCHY IN ARIZONA.

Not, perhaps, exactly anarchy, but something approaching it. Arizona, formerly known as the land of "sunshine and silver," but now more appropriately as the land of "copper and cattle," has had troubles enough of its own in the past in the shape of murderous Apaches and scarcely less dangerous outlaws; but it has, until recently, been free from the striker and the boycotter, chiefly because there has been nothing much to strike on. With the establishment of mammoth copper camps at Jerome and Bisbee and Globe and Clifton and other points, the ever-present agitator has, however, been getting in his disturbing work, with the usual result of a cessation of industry, throwing thousands of men out of employment, and in one case—at Clifton, where a large number of ignorant foreigners are employed—producing riots involving bloodshed and necessitating the interference of the military.

The last Arizona Legislature, influenced by demagogues, enacted an eight-hour law, which was a disastrous blow to the mining industry of the Territory. The mine owners say that few of them can afford to work their properties if they have to give ten hours' pay for eight hours' labor. Consequently, the big copper mines in Yavapai county have been closed down. A dispatch from Prescott states that at a recent meeting between the owners and the workmen, the former submitted a revised scale, said to be the highest scale paid in the United States, but it was flatly refused by the miners. The operators will now abandon further negotiations with the union, and import miners.

In this connection it is pertinent to refer to a strong message sent to the Arizona Legislature by Ex-Gov. L. C. Hughes, in 1895, vetoing a bill relating to contempts of court. Mr. Hughes was subject to much criticism as Governor, and even his best friends will not deny that there was some foundation for such criticism; but in this case he certainly made a commendable display of firmness and common sense, especially as a majority of the Territorial newspapers were urging him to approve the measure. The great railroad strike of 1894 having been foiled by injunctions of the courts, this bill was introduced six months later. There was a strong lobby representing organized labor at the capital, and a special meeting of the Arizona Press Association was called; both of these interests urging the passage of the law. Great pressure was brought to bear on the Governor, but he stood firm, as a consequence of which several bills which he favored were defeated.

In his message, Gov. Hughes showed that the right of courts to punish for contempt, actual or constructive, is founded on the principal that whoever offends the court offends the majesty of the people, and the summary punishment of such an offense has no personal attribute or aspect. He said:

"In no State in the Union nor elsewhere has the court been stripped of this inherent right of self-protection as this bill provides, but on the contrary, the power to punish for contempt is incident to all courts, independent of statutory provisions.

"In ancient times there were cities of refuge to which the accused could fly for protection. The modern city of refuge for life, liberty, and property rights is the court. It is of all others the most sacred, because of the safety it gives to persons and property.

"How important that it should be strengthened, fortified, and guarded with jealous care, and to make its power absolute in the enforcement of its mandate.

"Thoughtful citizens understand that one of the dangers which now threaten our institutions is that courts, instead of being too arbitrary, are not independent enough. There is danger of laxity instead of severity in the administration of public justice. It is well understood that in proportion to the increase of lawlessness and disregard for judicial authority the power of the court and its usefulness will decrease, and in these times of anarchal growth would soon become a hissing and a byword among mobs, riots, and insurrections; in fact, it would soon come to pass that if an injunction were issued in terms unsatisfactory to the defendant he would simply disregard the court's mandate. This, then, would be anarchy indeed.

"The spirit of this bill develops a most dangerous tendency in line with anarchistic teachings, which propose the subversion of all government, and is only another evidence of the startling strength this spirit has attained. But anarchy can make slow progress while the judiciary maintains its present power untrammeled and is strengthened instead of weakened by the legislative department of the Territory or State, as they stand as a rampart between the ranks of the red fla- of anarchy and the patriotic, liberty-loving people, whether rich or poor, high or low."

Referring to the attitude of the press—Mr. Hughes is himself the publisher of an old-established Arizona newspaper—he said:

"I am not unmindful of the fact that representatives of the press have urged the passage of this bill in the interest of what they believe is for the protection of newspapers of the Territory. I am honestly impelled to the belief that they have not taken into consideration the scope and danger of such a law on the statute books, if the same could be enforced. Even the press itself is endangered by the destruction of the courts, and our institutions and the rights of litigants are in greater danger from the power of the press over the courts (especially if that press be venal) than from the power of the courts over the press.

"There is no greater power than the press. It is stronger than the combined forces of the government, for it creates, directs, and molds public opinion, and public opinion is omnipotent. An honest, fearless, clean press is the greatest boon vouchsafed the people, and is the greatest power for good in every condition of social, commercial, and political life. But a venal press is the most dangerous power in the land. If not checked it can destroy every fabric of government, impair the happiness of the people, desolate the home, ruin reputation, destroy the most sacred and revered institutions, strengthen, embolden, and protect vice in its every form, encourage riots, paralyze the arm of the law by threats and intimidations, libel, coerce, and harass the courts, and thus destroy the confidence of the public in its integrity. The liberty of the press is a great blessing. It is entitled to full protection, but the abuse of that liberty is an evil against which the people have a right to be protected. Newspapers should uphold the courts rather than impair their usefulness.

"If courts can be traduced, slandered, libeled, and threatened with respect to cases on trial before them, no one's rights or liberties are longer safe."

The Governor closed his message with the following truthful and pertinent remark:

"Nowhere can the strong arm of the courts produce such salutary results as in these Territories, and nowhere should they be given more power, to the end that lawlessness can be forced into the channels of respect for law and order."

The wise—or otherwise—action of the people of Arizona, at the present juncture, will go far to decide whether public opinion, as voiced by Congress, shall deem it advisable to grant the Territory the boon of Statehood in the near future.

The world has never seen a braver and more stirring spectacle than was the one presented in San Francisco yesterday by that fragment of the old army which saved the Union, as it swept in parade, doubtless for the last time, through the streets of California's metropolis. The man must have a heart of stone who was not thrilled at the sight of those marching men, for there were thrills in even thinking of what the scene must have been when the old lads went by under the banners torn by shot and shell and stained with the life blood of heroes. It stands to reason that the survivors of the great war will not be able to keep up the marching gait much longer, and it is equally to be presumed that the organition of the G.A.R. has had its final encampment in California—at least its final one of any consequence in point of numbers. Should there ever be another national encampment in this State, which is altogether unlikely, there will be but a handful of survivors gathered together; but as the lines shorten the pathos of their presence increases. San Francisco does well to cheer with wet eyes as the veterans go by—those cheers were royally won by matchless valor, and the tears on the lashes of the looker-on do him or her credit. So long as the men of the sixties are honored and applauded by their countrymen, so long will the battles they fought for the flag and the State not have been fought in vain.

Today the American and British yachts will try conclusions as to the relative merits of construction, and the skill of sailing masters, for the first round. According to the best advices obtainable, both vessels are wonderful racing machines (and but little else, by the way,) with the American machine having somewhat the best of it, in the preliminary spins. There may be slaughter galore in the Balkans and the reopening of feuds in Kentucky, or any other old place, but the Yankee and Briton will be too busily engaged in watching the proceedings off Sandy Hook to pay any great amount of attention to death and disaster anywhere, until he has heard "who wins." The America's cup, while of trifling value, is the stake to be sailed for, and as there are gallant sportsmen engaged in the contest, we may anticipate the usual stirring scenes along the Jersey coast. It is but natural that all good citizens of the great republic should desire to see the Yankee boat win, but should the Lipton yacht prove the better vessel, there will be no tears shed on this side of the Atlantic, whereas, it will fill our good cousins on the other side with gayety unspeakable. Possibly it might add to the interest in yachting were the cup to go across the pond this year, but we have every confidence that it won't. Anyway, we shall soon see; and whatever happens, may the best boat win.

Had there been no transcontinental railroads in the United States, there is but little doubt that Colombia would have ratified the canal treaty with a rush. It would be interesting to know just what it has cost those transportation lines in this country to defeat the wishes of the American people; and it is to be regretted that there isn't some direct way to get even with them. But the canal will be dug yet. The railways may delay it, and hence make a little dirty money, but they cannot defeat it forever. Uncle Sam wants a waterway between the oceans and, by the eternal, he proposes to have it.

That is a story with whiskers on it going around, about grasshoppers holding up trains in Montana. Kansas bled with that complaint as much as thirty-five years ago. There is no sort of trouble that Kansas hasn't had; and she has originated a good many troubles. But she comes right up smiling, just the same, with crops that burst elevators and corn cribs, and that even compel hobos to go to work or get out of the State.

There is one consolation about it; there are a great many people in this country who didn't want that canal built across the Isthmus of Panama, in the first place. The reason is that there is believed to be a better place to do the digging.

Should those Russian battleships commence filling the system of the Sultan full of those widely renowned iron tonic pills, maybe it will cure the Sick Man of Europe of what ails him. Anyway a few doses are well worth trying.

At last the Los Angeles automobile must wear a conspicuous number or be haled off to the pound. It is a mighty good idea, and the movement has come about not a moment too soon. The blow to the man who is run over will be just as hard, even if the machine that hit him bears a number, but when his friends sorrowfully follow his remains to the cemetery it will comfort them somewhat to be able to pick out the machine in the procession that made the corpse possible.

If the wholesale grocers boycott the retailers, and the retailers boycott the wholesalers, it will be quite interesting to observe just where the great North American eating public is going to get off.

In addition to doing other notable things, Los Angeles is bringing out baseball players for the rest of the United States. Not that Los Angeles is one of the United States, but it ought to be.

It may be impossible for a pugilist to be a gentleman, but it must be said for Corbett that he takes his loss of the recent boxing match after the manner of a gentleman to the manner born.

There is one consolation to the Angeleño about the $1.40 tax rate; he has the money to pay it, even though he hasn't a red cent left after he has settled up with the tax collector.

It was certainly hot enough for us yesterday and the day before, and the day previous to the day before, but it is contemptible for a fellow to come in and ask us if it was.

When a man with $85,000,000 has to die, just the same as other people, it does seem as if it were hardly worth while to keep on hustling so lively to make money.

Long Beach has a two-legged pig; and if she has only one of them, she is a good deal better off than all the other places in the country.

Los Angeles is just now hiving the beekeepers, and we didn't have to hammer on any tin pans to get 'em to light, either.

Dan Patch has paced a mile in 1:59, but where is that 2-minute trotter that the hoss breeders promised us some time since?

We wait with interest the report of the Grocers' Committee on putting turnips into the grated horse radish.

When one hears that it was hotter some place else, it does seem cooler, when one comes to think about it.

It certainly was warm enough for us yesterday, but we do despise the fool who asked us if it was.

If there are really any such things as cool waves, soon may they wave in this particular vicinity.

What this country needs is a weather bureau located down here where it is hot.

AFRICANUS TRIUMPHANS.

[Read Before the Afro-American Congress at Pasadena, Cal., Aug. 19, 1902.]

When, out of the chaos, earth was hurled,
And God's great mandate spread;
When he made thé races to fill the world—
Yellow and white and red—
There was one made black, and the other three
Seeing him, asked to know
Whence, from what darkness cometh he?
And whither does he go?

And the black man said God made us free,
White and black men all,
Yellow or red, whichever we be,
There shall be no bond or thrall;
But they said his lips had spoken lies,
For, the brand was on his cheek,
And they dulled their ears to his children's cries,
And the word his tongue would speak.

So, through the centuries hath he borne,
With shoulders bowed to the wheel,
The whole world's burdens and its scorn—
Its bloodhounds at his heel.
Bound he stood in the palace hall,
He was chained in the galleyed ships,
Yet, with deathless courage he braved it all,
With the challenge upon his lips.

Out from the ages, stained and dim
With curse and wrong and hate,
He comes with the patient heart of him
Unbeat of Time or Fate.
Lash and shackle and gyve and goad
He bore through grief and dole,
Yet stands at last, from the weary load,
Erect with dauntless soul.

There was never an hour of the countless years
When the Slavers' white sail gleamed,
But, through the rain of his blood and tears,
Of his birthright still he dreamed;
There was never a night of gloom and pain
But brought him its hope of morn,
With the vision of Liberty dawned again,
And the freedom he lost, new born.

He comes with his glory from wars of death
For the flag that made him free.
He comes from the cannon's thundrous breath
That he faced all fearlessly;
He comes with the songs his poets sing,
With the pictures his painters drew,
With the music the tongues of his pleaders ring,
And the things that his hands can do.

He comes, my brothers, whoever you be—
Yellow, or white, or red—
In the fair, full light of his destiny,
With the word that, of old, he said.
Gentle and patient and brave and strong,
With the faith of his soul unworn,
And the time is past for shackle and thong,
And the time is past for scorn.

O olden race of the jungle and hill,
O olden race and strong,
Brave be your hearts with the challenge still,
And glad be your lips with song.
Look up to the glory that flames the skies,
The gloom of the night is done;
Oh, shout to the morning with victor cries,
For the long, hard fight is won.

CARELESSNESS MAY COST VALUABLE PROPERTY.

ELECTRIC ROAD PROMOTER CLAIMS BIG SESPE HOT SPRING.

Supposed Ownership of Mrs. Radford Declared to be Error—Queer Saloon License Practice Causes Great Stir. Joseph Farrell Dead.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, Aug. 19.—John Burson, the electric railroad promoter, has secured possession of the celebrated Sespe Hot spring, and he will exploit the property when his electric line between Bakersfield and this city becomes a fact. The noted spring lies near his surveyed line.

The acquisition of the Sespe Hot Spring by Burson will be a surprise to many. It was thought to be the property of a Mrs. Radford of this city, and by a recent court decision was so declared. Mrs. Radford's husband several years since acquired title to the section upon which the spring was supposed to be, from the railroad company. According to the maps the spring was upon odd numbered section 21, and Radford paid the Southern Pacific Company a good price for the land, including, it was supposed, the spring. Radford for some reason put the property in the hands of another person for safe keeping, turning over the deed at the same time. This party moved to Nevada, but forgot to give Radford the deed, nor would he return it, though pressed to do so. At length the power of the courts was exerted and the Radfords fully established their rights to the property included in section 21.

But it appears that it did not, after all, give them the coveted spring, which is considered the largest, hottest and finest of the kind in the State. In running his electric road survey lines, John Burson made the discovery that there was considerable discrepancy between the maps and the old survey lines, and that in reality the famous and coveted spring was not on section 21 at all, but was well within section 22, which being of even number was government land and claimable. Accordingly, Burson filed on that part of section 22 embracing the spring, and now has possession and is in good season.

SALOONISTS' PARADISE.

The town is stirred over developments before the Board of Town Trustees, regarding saloon licenses. A saloon was recently started in town and was given a license to run by the Marshal, who did not even consult the board. There has been considerable saloon agitation in the county recently and this "dead easy" way of getting a license was considered peculiar. It set the trustees to wondering where they were "at," and they started an investigation. Called upon to explain, the Marshal said he had done in this case just as in other cases since he had been in office, granted the license as asked for. Trustee Shaw insisted that it was usual to have a petition form any one wanting license to sell whisky, and passed upon by the board.

The saloon ordinance, passed way back in 1896, was dug out of its dusty recesses, and then there was light for the board. It was found that for years the town had not pretended to live up to its own laws, as regards the government of saloons and the granting of licenses. The ordinance makes it imperative that an application be filed in writing, and that no applicant be granted a license for more than one quarter, when he must reapply, each time putting up $100 to pay for the quarter asked for. Another and a peculiar feature of the ordinance is that a license must be granted, when asked for unless some one comes forward and shows that the applicant is not of good moral character and all that which places no limit on the number of saloons, which the town may have.

On top of all the lax methods which had been uncovered by the agitation and in face of the fact that there are already fourteen saloons in the little town of 2700 people, the board voted to grant another license for a saloon—because it had to, it thought, under the ordinance. Luis Arellanes asked for a license to sell liquors at some place on Lower Main street and on motion of Trustee Canet, seconded by Trustee Vickers, the request was granted, the entire board being present. Trustee Wilde alone voted against it.

Considerable talk has been created on the streets by the peculiar condition of affairs which has been unearthed regarding the conduct of this important branch of the town's government and the apparent laxity of those who have had charge of affairs. Some saloons have made no pretense in the past of obeying the 11 o'clock closing clause in the ordinance. The Marshal and the night watchman were charged to see that there be no further violations on this score and to report promptly when any are found. All saloonkeepers are ordered to apply for licenses according to the ordinance at the next session of the board.

VENTURA BRIEFS.

Joseph Farrell, a well-known Ojai valley man, died suddenly of blood poisoning, from what appeared a most trivial wound he had received a few days previously. On Thursday Farrell began to suffer some from a bruise below the right knee, which he had received by falling among some rocks on Sulphur Mountain a few days previously, and on Monday his case became acute. A neighbor, James Bracken, was sent for, but before he could arrive Farrell died. The funeral was held today at 10 o'clock at the Mission Church in this city. Deceased was 46 years of age, and unmarried.

The case of Ben Craig against his wife, Jessie Craig, for the custody of their three-year-old daughter, was on before Judge Ewing today behind closed doors. A number of ladies and others, including Wheeler Blumberg, were in attendance as witnesses. The case is rather a sensational one and is the outgrowth of several other sensational suits, in one of which Craig has sued Wheeler Blumberg for $25,000 for alienating his wife's affections. In the present suit it is charged Mrs. Craig kidnaped her child and went to live at Wheeler's in order to be near her paramour, who, it is alleged, is one Jack Larrabee.

Clarence Crisaman has purchased the Bernheim Block on Main street near Palm, paying $12,000. It includes two storerooms, now rented.

The Russo-Japanese Situation.

In view of all the talk of Japan's going to war with Russia, it is wholesome for us to look at the facts. We have recorded the launching of Japan's new naval programme, and its checkered career among the shoals and sand banks of Japanese financial difficulties, with the various parliamentary crises which arose therefrom. A partial compromise has now been reached between the various parties concerned, and chiefly the government of Count Katsura, on the one hand, and Marquis Ito and the Constitutional Political Association on the other; as a result of this compromise, the government has abandoned the plan of the projected additions of a new tax on land, which was insistently opposed by Ito, and agrees to pay the naval bill in this way, namely, by raising a new issue of bonds to the added $2,250,000 from the and $500,000 which is to administrative account. promise has an esoteric as follows: The ordinary of Japan, represented by is incapable of bearing new navy schemes; but is reduced to two and increasing her already tional debt, and stopping curtailing certain works; for the sum to from the railroad fund half of that fund—a country with only read for a population United States has fifty for less than twice the [Harper's Weekly.

WHAT IS IT, WHO IS COOK?

Did Anybody Ever Hear of His Organization?

Calls it the "International Railway Employees."

Has Collected Hundreds of Dollars to Bring it to Los Angeles.

Rev. F. A. Cook, claiming to represent an association called the "International Railway Employes," whatever it may be, has collected several hundred dollars from Los Angeles business men for an alleged fund to bring the board of organization to Los Angeles and hold a convention.

The joke of it is, nobody knows anything about such an organization or about Cook. The Chamber of Commerce has no knowledge of a movement to bring the "International Railway Employes" to Los Angeles; the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association never heard of it; and the subscription has no other known indorsement but this industrious Cook's.

So far as Los Angeles business men are concerned, the only thing they know is that Cook has got their money.

Cook is known to have had his mail addressed to Hotel Rosslyn, although he has not domiciled there, and the management professed all ignorance of his whereabouts or movements. He says it is a practice, according to the hotel clerk, to call at the hotel for his mail; otherwise nothing was known of him.

The attention of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association was directed to Cook by a circular letter that has been received by many of the prominent business firms of the city. The communications are written on the letterheads of the "International Railway Employes," which words are in bold type, in the style of German face, circled over the head of a primitive passenger engine. Under the cut are the words, "Rev. F. A. Cook, Secretary and Treasurer," and Cook in asking for money, signs himself rather as "local secretary and treasurer."

Such are the meager data concerning the so-called organization, about which nothing could be learned in a number of the local railway offices yesterday. Officials of both the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fé confessed ignorance of any such organization among their employés, and a search of the pay rolls disclosed no such high-sounding appellation.

The following is a copy of one letter sent over to the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association for investigation:

INTERNATIONAL RAILWAY EMPLOYES.
Office of Secretary and Treasurer.
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.

Dear Sir: We hereby solicit your subscription to the list already submitted to you for the first International Convention of the above order, which will be held September 21 in Los Angeles at which time the location of the permanent headquarters of the Pacific Juris-diction shall be determined. The list already submitted bears the names of two or three hundred merchants, manufacturers, business men, lodges, societies, etc., in amounts ranging from $1 to $100. Hoping to receive an early and favorable reply, I remain,

Very truly yours,
F. A. COOK.
Local Secretary and Treasurer.

It will be noted that the circular letter does not contain the names or addresses of any officers of the "International Railway Employés," except that of Cook without address. There is nothing to show where its headquarters are or what its objects are. All the letter head of an "international organization" are missing. Merchants know nothing about this man Cook, as said Mr. Zeehandelaar yesterday, and certainly the association would not have indorsed him or his requests, unless those who may have given him credit have done so upon their own responsibility. Railroad traffic men have nothing about the so-called "International Railway Employés," and say they have received no notice whatever of a convention to be held in Los Angeles on September 21."

NEW CAMPING GROUNDS FOR HOLINESS CHURCHES.

THIRTY-THREE ACRES SECURED AT HIGHLAND PARK.

Highland Park is to become the permanent headquarters for the camp meetings of the Holiness churches of Southern California. This was settled at the annual business meeting held during camp meeting now in session here.

The Holiness churches have purchased a tract of twenty-three acres on Arroyo Seco Valley, at the foot of Avenue 40, including a section of the arroyo, and will proceed with the work of making here permanent camp grounds of this part of the land.

The site is on the land a considerable portion of native timber, including live oaks, sycamores and willows. These will be preserved and a large number of fruit trees will be planted during the coming rainy season. An abundance of fine water can be developed.

The situation is of convenient access to the street railways and both the Pasadena and Salt Lake Railways. It is the purpose of the Holiness Association to put the grounds in good shape for annual gatherings, and the hope eventually to combine with this enterprise their "Home of Peace," conducted at Santa Fé Springs, and a training school for workers in their missionary fields.

The present meeting over $300 has been raised for the new camp ground, and the old grounds at Highland are to be sold for $2000.

The present camp meeting has been a successful one, and sixty tents are now occupied on the grounds. Rev. A. A. Clark, who has been actively president of the Holiness Association of Southern California for the last two years, resigned this position to resume his work as one of the editors and publishers of the organization's church paper, and to attend to the publishing house, which is located on Altura street, East Los Angeles.

A SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT IN LOS ANGELES COUNTY.

Union Services at Terminal Island in Which the Worshipers Sink Their Sectarian Differences—Preachers of All Denominations.

A preacher in Chicago on Sunday, August 16, outlined the difficulties lying in the path of religious effort and progress growing out of the manifold divisions of Christians, the multiplicity of sects formed by cleavages along lines, not very important, as regarded on the basis of fundamental religious principles. He proposed as a remedy a "church merger," or "trust" in religion.

Southern California often leads the rest of the world in new ideas. It will not, therefore, surprise those who know this to learn that there is such a "church merger" actually in open action here. It is at Terminal Island. This seaside resort is not a local place in area, or in population. The people belong to a rather select grade in intelligence and morality. A large number of them are church members or at least church goers. But there are too few of any one denomination to build a church, and maintain a minister. So they have a union church, built by people of all shades of religious thought, and the services are provided for by having ministers of the various denominations officiate, as one may be obtainable.

Perhaps it may occur to some mind that there are difficulties in obtaining such supply, or that the supply is indifferent in quality, when obtained. The contrary is the rule. The services are held on Sunday evenings, and the most prominent and able ministers in this city and from others places in Southern California fill the pulpit in this little union church. The expenses are provided by voluntary contributions and the church is self-supporting. Dr. Walker, Dr. Day, Dr. McCormack of Pasadena, and many others take these services in turn, one Sunday each, during the summer season.

Terminal Island church goers are thus able to enjoy religious privileges, although away from their regular church homes. A board of trustees, selected on the broad idea of one from each denomination, has charge of the church, and a healthy welcome is meted out to all residents of Terminal, to their guests and to strangers, generally who may enter the doors of this uniquely "broad" church.

Rev. C. C. Pierce of the Memorial Baptist Church, Los Angeles, will be the preacher this evening.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES.

Series to be Held in Southern California—Arranged by Prof. Cook of State University.

Prof. A. J. Cook, representing the State University, has completed the arrangement of a schedule of farmers' institutes for the autumn season in Southern California. The institutes will be held under the late appropriation of the Legislature—the first of its kind—allowing $6000 per year for such work.

Following are the dates: Goleta, August 28 and 29; Carpinteria, August 31 and September 1; Ventura, September 2 and 3; Fillmore, September 4 and 5; Fernando, September 7; Tropico, September 8; San Dimas, September 9 and 10; Upland, September 11 and 12.

At the coming institutes Prof. Leroy Anderson of the Polytechnic Institute of San Luis Obispo, Dr. and Mrs. Sherman of Fresno, Prof. Newton B. Pierce of Santa Ana, Prof. Wickson of the State University, Frederick Maskew of Long Beach and others will take part. Prof. Pierce will speak on the walnut blight, which new disease is causing considerable alarm.

It is possible that another institute will be held in the dairy region at Bolsa.

NEW WAY TO TREAT HAY FEVER

No Stomach Dosing—Just Breathe Hyomei—Stops Sneezing and Smarting.

Dean's Drug Store are recommending to their customers, as a cure for hay fever, Hyomei.

It is claimed for this remedy that it stops the spasmodic paroxysms of sneezing, the smarting and running of the eyes and nose, and other acute symptoms of this disease.

Many persons have been cured of hay fever by Hyomei and its inventors profess to be able to prevent both the occurence of the annual attacks and to arrest the progress of the disease when in the most chronic form.

Among those who have been cured by Hyomei are J. F. Forbes, chief dispatcher B. & M. R. R., McCook, Neb., who writes: "I have never had relief from any remedy for hay fever even temporarily, until I used Hyomei. I will always recommend it whenever occasion offers."

A. Hamlin, Westford, Mass., writes, "Hyomei cured me of hay fever in one week's time. I consider it a duty to tell others who suffer from this disease."

These endorsements are samples of hundreds that have been received by the manufacturers of Hyomei, but Dean's Drug Store offer to refund the money if Hyomei does not do all that is claimed for it, is the strongest proof that can be offered as to the reliance they place upon Hyomei to cure hay fever.

FIRST OF RACES FOR AMERICA'S CUP.

Opening Day Finds Both Skippers in Confident Frame of Mind.

"Wully" Fife Makes Another Change that Gains Twelve Seconds More Time Allowance for the Shamrock III.—Both Boats Take Trial Spins—Sir Thomas Predicts He'll Win First Two Races.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles D. Moore, official measurer of the New York Yacht Club, measured the Shamrock today. The distance from the top of her boom to the throat-halyard block was the first question. "Wully" Fife, the designer, has lowered the throat-halyard block three feet below the position occupied at the previous official measurement. Making the Shamrock topmast three feet longer decreases her rating length four-tenths of a foot, and this makes her time allowance 12 seconds more than it was according to previous measurements. Instead of 1 min. 57 secs., instead of 1 min. 45 secs. A gaff is taxed for each 100 per cent. of the length of the topmast, so where there was a topmast, there is less excuse for it. Fife has shown himself a great designer.

Many months of anxious labor have the cup challenger Shamrock and the cup defender Reliance been subjected to, during trim, the crews of both yachts had a comparatively easy time of it today. Both yachts went out for a trial in the forenoon, to test the running gear led aloft, and that the sails had been properly stretched while they were becalmed at Erie Basin. The Reliance dropped her moorings at 9:55 o'clock, under medium club topsails. The usual headsailing, reached a position at the point of the Hook on the starboard tack, and then stood on the port tack eastward and eastward. The wind was blowing at perhaps 10 miles an hour, and the defender sailed over a smooth sea in a way that delighted the patriots.

At about 10:15 o'clock, the Shamrock followed, under similar sail, but instead of passing the Hook she reached off southward and northward, in order to get well away from the defender. It was therefore, impossible to compare the boats definitely, but those who were near enough to see observed that the Reliance made less disturbance in the water than did the Shamrock. As to heeling, opinions differed, patriots maintaining that the Reliance stood up better than the Shamrock, while the friends of the latter were confident that she was outsailing the Reliance. The difference, if any, was slight, but the Reliance appeared to be better of the heeling.

The Shamrock reached out to eastward a few minutes, and then, coming about, reached for home just outside the big Ocean House. She was then seen to club topsail when the wind freshened her. Among the excursionists on the big steamship were Lord and Lady Curzon and the Countess of Shaftsbury, and numerous others were coming over to see the sport from the decks of the steamships. The passengers were treated to a hard at the graceful yacht as she passed in front while the steamer lay hove to. The Shamrock was followed alongside, in the same manner, by the Reliance, under similar conditions, the latter yacht making a few short tacks to keep the track record. It was also said that he was going to try to beat the Shamrock's record of 1:59 1-4, made by the old time star Pointer.

The Shamrock, for Dan Patchen-Zeltica, by Wilkes Berry, McHenry, time 1:59.

The Metropolitan $5000 purse, 2:20 pacers: Dick Wilson won the first, fourth and sixth heats in 2:08, 2:10 1-4, 2:12. Hal Chaffin won the third and fifth heats in 2:09, 2:14. Diablit won the second heat in 2:09 1-2.

2:15 trotting, purse $1000: Dillon won the first and third heats in 2:14 1-4, 2:13 3-4. Ada Gray won the second heat in 2:12 1-4.

2:07 pace, purse $1000, mile and a half: Locands won in 3:15½.

confidence is shared by every man on the fleet. Designer Fife is thoroughly satisfied with the tuning-up that the Shamrock III has received, and Capt. Wringe is confident."

In reply to a question whether or not there was any basis for suspicion that the challenger had not been permitted to show well her speed in her trials with Shamrock I, Sir Thomas said: "There never was any jockeying. I do not consider it an honest way of getting people to bet their money. Except in a few cases when Fife has wanted to sail alongside the Shamrock I, we have always done the best we could."

Sir Thomas added, jokingly: "The Shamrock III will win the first race easy, by either six or seven minutes, I am not quite certain which, and the second race by four minutes and a half. You will have to ask me about the third race later."

LOS ANGELES WAGER.

Betting on the international cup races in Wall street has been light this year. Fred Books has placed $8000 on the Shamrock, against $16,000 on the Reliance. A large part of this money is from Los Angeles, he said. He also has $10,000 more to bet on the series, but his clients want better odds than 2 to 1.

A. C. Gwinne has $5000 to bet at 2 to 1 on the American boat. Harris Hates & Co. bet $250 against $500 with A. C. Gwinne that the Shamrock would win. Bunnell, Buchanan & Co. bet $2000 on Reliance against $1000 with Tucker on the series of races. R. S. Winsmore of Dick Bros. & Co. had money for both sides. He placed $2000 on Reliance at 2½ to 1 and $1600 on Shamrock at the same odds. He has more money on Reliance at 2 to 1. Arthur Hanan, who won the Canada cup this year, wants to bet $1000 that Shamrock will not win a single race.

Capt. C. Oliver Iselin was not on board the Reliance in her trial today. The birth of a son to him was considered a good omen by old barnacles. With such evidence of Iselin luck, they feel that the Shamrock III will be the worst-beaten challenger that ever crossed the ocean.

WEATHER AND COURSE.

CONDITIONS AND CROWD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Over the ocean race course outside Sandy Hook, Sir Thomas Lipton's third challenger, the Shamrock III, tomorrow will try conclusions with the new defender of the America's cup, the Reliance. It is expected that one of the very largest crowds, which ever witnessed an international cup race will go out to witness the initial race for the blue ribbon of the sea.

Again this season, as in the two preceding series, the government will police the course with revenue cutters, and the most stringent rules will be laid down to prevent interference by the excursion fleet with the big single-stickers.

Like greyhounds in leash, the big racers are moored tonight inside Sandy Hook, ready for the fray tomorrow. Both were given their final trial spins today. Despite the big time allowance which the defender must concede to the challenger, the friends of the Reliance are extremely confident that Sir Thomas is again doomed to defeat, and the confidence in the American boat is reflected in the betting, where the odds are 2-to-1 on the Reliance. The friends of the British boat, on the other hand, profess the greatest faith in the ability of Fife's latest creation to "lift the cup."

In neither of his previous attempts to carry off the precious "mug" did Sir Thomas, sail on a challenger. Tonight, he was in doubt whether to sail on the challenger tomorrow. His friends on the Erin urged him not to do so for fear of an accident.

According to the rules, the first race will be 15 nautical miles to windward or leeward and return, depending upon the direction of the wind. After that, each alternate race will be over a triangular course, ten miles to the leg. The next race will be sailed Saturday, and the third next Tuesday and thereafter every other day until the series is completed. The winner of three out of five will be the victor. According to the rules, if the course is not covered within the time allowance, 8½ hours, it is no race.

The weather predictions for tomorrow are not alluring, the forecaster promising a breeze of from 2 to 9 knots. A 7-knot breeze will be necessary to carry the boats over the course in the allotted time. The wind at Sandy Hook at midnight was southeast, 8 miles an hour; weather cloudy. A moderate sea was running.

For the first time, the challenger and defender today hailed in company off Sandy Hook when both boats were taken out for final trial spins. Some observers thought the Shamrock III heeled a little more and seemed to carry a larger stern wave.

The Reliance was the first to get away from her mooring within the horseshoe, and passed out by the point of the Hook at 10 o'clock a. m. There was a fine 10-knot breeze from the south-southeast, and sailing close-hauled, she went out through the main ship channel and George's channel to the Sandy Hook lightship, about eight miles, at a fast pace.

Shamrock III left Sandy Hook fifteen minutes later and followed the defender through the channel to the lightship. Both yachts carried lower sails and club topsails. The Reliance turned at the lightship and ran back toward the channel, meeting the Shamrock III on the way out. The two yachts passed each other at a distance of a mile. Shamrock III proceeded as far as the lightship, hove to, and waited the arrival of the Oceanic, bound in, and then followed the big liner in under mainsail and jib.

A flood of letters, cablegrams and telegrams reached the Erin today from all parts of the world, bringing wishes for the success of Sir Thomas and the Shamrock III. One cablegram came from Lagos, Portugal, from Lord Charles Beresford, saying that all the officers and men of the channel fleet sent hearty good wishes and hoped to hear that the Shamrock III had won by a length. Other messages came from the Durban Yacht Club of South Africa, the Yacht Racing Association of Perth, Western Australia, the Royal Yacht Squadron of New Zealand, and from nearly every yacht club in Canada.

Among the notables who will probably be the guests of Sir Thomas on the Erin during the races are Adjt.-Gen. and Mrs. Corbin, Paymaster-General Bates, U.S.A., Gen. and Mrs. Chaffee, Senator and Mrs. Kearns of Utah, Gov. Odell, Lady Sweetenham, wife of the Governor of the Straits Settlement, and Lieutenant-Commander Isam T. Takeshika of the Japanese navy.

BRITISH MUCH INTERESTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An unusually lively interest is being manifested in the forthcoming races for the America's cup. Englishmen believe that the Shamrock III has a better chance of winning than any boat which has hitherto crossed the Atlantic. Some quarters are already discussing whether the next contest will be here or in Irish waters. The fact that the Reliance is heavily handicapped by the time allowance has given great joy here, though it is thought that if the Shamrock wins she will do so decisively, and that she does not need this help.

LOOLOOS AGAIN BEAT OAKLAND.

Cooper's Control Indifferent and Hits Were Timely.

Reilly's Na's Beat Frisco Nats in Loose Slugging Match.

Rusty Hall's Pitching Lets Pete and His Men Down Without a Single Run.

Looloos, 3; Oakland, 0.

There was a time when the Looloos found hitting George Cooper like pulling hot potatoes out of a fire without a stick, but not now. George discovered yesterday and so did several hundred fans who rejoiced in the double pleasure of watching a fast, snappy game from a decently cool spot—one of the few in Los Angeles.

Control was the rock that sunk Mr. Cooper's hopes. Southpaws are very apt to such aberrations as prevented his laying the sphere over just the particular corner of the plate that meant pop flies or easy grounders when men were on bases, and while the Oakland box artist failed to get his name in the score summary to any reprehensible extent, his Italian hand showed in the base-hit column, and always at the wrong time for Lohmanite aspirations. The Looloos gathered but six safe swats to the losers' eight, but their bingles came opportunely, while Rusty Hall kept the Oakland hits from innocent proximity to each other. Hall and hot weather are a bad combination always; the big youngster has been doing splendid work at all times this year, but is no exception to the general rule that governs pitchers' arms, and shows at his best when the mercury and the thermometer top are getting unduly intimate.

The Looloos' six swats, together with some timely errors, were turned to account for three sweet tallies, while Pete's braves garnered nary a one. George Wheeler, the prize fat boy, took a flying shot at a bird in the ether over left-field fence in the fifth and made him shy—result, two runs, and a homer for a faithful, painstaking player who merits more base hits than have come to him thus far. He was responsible for three of the Looloo six yesterday, and will get back his rightful place in the league batting averages with a few more such field days.

The Looloos as usual lost no time, for Hoy worked his small stature and Cooper's opening wildness for free transportation to first, but Wheeler's hot drive to Cooper was counted against the mute at second on a hair-breadth decision, and Toothpulier Smith whacked a hard one to Charlie Schwartz, which spoiled the fat boy's chances at station number two. Before Dillon then lived up to his reputation for a bad man to pitch at in a pinch by whacking a long, difficult fly to left center, which O'Hara after a hard run, dropped. The error gave Smith a chance for a splendid sprint, and he scored from first, having started as soon as the ball was hit. The play was another instance of the way brainy base-running and judicious chance-taking enables the Looloos to win as many games as they do with comparatively light batting. The run was scored on no hits.

The other brace came in the fifth, when, with one gone, Hoy beat a perfect bunt toward third. Wheeler laid for a curve and straightened it out in a mighty wallop that would have cleared left field fence even had it been thirty feet farther back, and then leisurely chased Hoy home. There was no need for hurry, but the dummy didn't know it for sure, and lost no time in transit. For a minute it looked like an earthquake; Smith slammed his longstick against another of Cooper's offering and started it for the other fence, but Murdock made a long run back, though playing deep, and he picked the ball literally off the boards. Dillon went out via the Francks-Messerly route.

The tale of the Lohmanite runs is soon told, for like the small boy's apple core, "there wasn't none." The visitors had a hiatus when O'Hara opened the game with a hit to left and stole second, but the next three men failed to drive the ball out of the infield and died victims to Hall's pitching and masterly support, particularly by Smith, who brought down a foul after a long, hard chase.

In the fourth the visitors registered a brace of indisputable bingles, but as usual they came with two out and there was nothing further doing.

In the sixth the Lohmanites turned loose a trio of misplays that looked like some of the work with which those worthy late lamenteds, Johnson, Fillman and Brashear, used to bring down the house in peals of laughter. Jimmy Toman, whose little nose usually gets into trouble of this kind once or twice in a game, was the disturbing factor. Cravath had retired and Spies singled to center. Chimmie took a long wallop at the ball, but only drove it onto the earth before the plate, and he tore off for first. "Dopey" Gorton grabbed up the spinning sphere and launched it at Messerlyville like a cannon shot; it caromed off Toman's back and Murdock, the right fielder, made a mess of it. Toman continued merrily toward second. The buzzard overhead turned; he smelt carrion, and a second later was sure of it when the shortstop passed the ball to the left fielder, and who in turn threw it at the vacancy occupying third base. Baxter was up in the air somewhere, and so was the whole north side of Pete's infield. Hurlburt then hit a smashing bounder dead at Schwartz, and he smothered it handily, retiring the side.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Schwartz distinguished himself by brilliant fielding yesterday.

Hall caught O'Hara napping off first like a goose on one leg in the fifth, and "if looks could kill" Hall were a dead man already. O'Hara had just made a fine line hit to center and was congratulating himself thereat when Hall interrupted the current of his reverie as aforesaid.

Some sensational foul fly catches by Dr. Smith, three in all, were made during the game.

Hurlburt made a bad break when he passed the third strike on Baxter and let that worthy get to second without earning the trip.

Umpire Jim McDonald has been doing splendid work thus far this series, both on balls and strikes, and on the base decisions. The crowd has been supporting him well, too.

Dillon showed a great deal of nerve in the eighth by trying three times to lay down a bunt, and finally doing it. He had two bunt strikes called on him.

Hall's drop broke very quickly yesterday, and his other curves were sharp, hence doubly effective. His control was absolutely perfect.

Duggleby May Come.

Fisher's efforts to brace up his twirling staff may bear fruit. Duggleby, one of the Philadelphia National's pitchers, wants to part company with Manager Billy Shettsline and has written Fisher for terms.

REILLY'S VERSION.

VICISSITUDES OF TRIP.

"I think our team beat all known baseball records in its last long trip away from home—we lost the leadership five times and then came home with it after all" remarked team boss Charlie Reilly of the local Nats last night.

"Such a trip was surely never taken before in the history of baseball, and I hope it never will again. Why, in Butte the first day when we went out to practice it hailed stones as big as pigeon eggs. Then it came on to snow, and finally, before the game was over it was a fine day. But that's too many kinds of weather in one day for me.

"Considering the big weather changes the team had to contend with, I think it did splendid work. We drew well all over the Northwest, because the people there all wanted to get a look at us Californians. Some of the Sunday crowds were as good as 5000 paid admissions.

"Our team is pretty much a college proposition at present with the Hildebrands, Sears and some of the other men who have been on leading college teams heretofore. There was quite a crowd of ex-Princeton fans out at the opening game.

"Hildebrand, the pitcher, was really overcome by the heat and that was the reason he was taken out. His brother told me he was not right before an inning had been played."

"The diamond is the hardest field I ever saw. My feet are so sore from walking and running over it that I can hardly walk with comfort. A man's spikes will not sink into the infield at all. The hardness makes a ball act as if it was alive.

"And, incidentally," Reilly concluded, "you might say we deserve some credit for going in up there North with a gang of bush leaguers and making the public think they were stars. The players thought so too, but when they woke up, and 'fell down' I got others."

REILLYITES WIN.

A SURFEIT OF BATTING.

Charlie Reilly's Nats, celebrated their homecoming yesterday by taking a fall out of the San Francisco Na's, to the wholesome tune of 13 to 10 after a match in which hits, of the home run and other extra base variety became too common to excite interest. In fact the thumps got tiresome. Both pitchers "received" from the start, and the disciples of swat on both aggregations proceeded to fatten their averages until the fans in the bleachers were walking across benches to their neighbors and kicki gnabout "Aw, another home run."

The game was a loose exhibition of the national sport, but it was not entirely the players' fault as both teams had been unable to secure berth accommodations on the Owl and many had to sit up nearly all night. Then, too, the diamond had taken unto itself a case-hardened consistency that made the lively Victor balls jump like scared jackrabbits. After the first inning the batters awakened to this fact and most of them tried to chop hits down, any second bouncer to an infielder being good for a base if sharply hit.

The final score was something like 13 to 10, but the fans got tired of keeping track of it, likewise of the base hits before the game was half over. The play took about two hours and a half and the association would do well to start operations about 2:30 o'clock if it expects to pull off any more such slugging matches as that of yesterday.

Eddie Householder made his first local appearance in a Los Angeles National uniform and looks to have suffered considerably from his injury in the East. He was formerly much faster than now.

There was a general switching around of pitchers owing to the thumuing the boxmen were receiving, but these stick favors were delightfully impartial, and there were no hard feelings in consequence.

Martin Glendon made the usual obstinate ass of himself by kicking at decisions and he was put out of the game. The umpire, Harry Colgan, is a Pittsburgh youth, and a very competent and fair official, decidedly above the run of minor league judges of play. In fact the Pacific National umpires as a case out-average the league's ball players.

The attendance was small, doubtless because of the counter attraction across the street. The P.N.L. seems to have made a big mistake in playing conflicting dates with Morley, and the attendance will show it. As long as the Looloos are going at their present gait, they are likely to receive the lion's share of the public favor. The score follows:

The Highland Park Improvement Association urges a large attendance at its next meeting, as at that time the incorporation of the association and the general planting of shade trees in that territory will be discussed.

Funeral in Marshalltown.

The remains of the late Judge H. C. Henderson were sent Tuesday noon to the old Iowa home for burial, going in charge of Frank G. Henderson, a son of the deceased, who will return here about the end of this month. A public funeral service will be held at the Methodist Church in Marshalltown, Iowa, next Sunday afternoon.

Prince to Speak.

Hon. George Prince, Congressman from Illinois, and member of the House Committee on Banking and Finance, will deliver a lecture before the Los Angeles Chapter of the American Institute of Bank Clerks this evening at 8 o'clock in Blanchar's Hall. Mr. Prince will speak on "Currency Legislation." The public is invited.

Caught Them Fighting.

The next time P. G. Smith and Juan Martinez want to engage in a fist fight they will first look to see whether the patrol wagon is approaching. Yesterday afternoon the wagon was summoned to Nigger Alley to convey a drunk to jail. The attention of Patrolman Dixon was attracted to a fight near by and the wagon was driven there. Before the two combatants knew that any officer was near them, both were seized and hustled into the wagon. They were locked up on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Scalding Caused Death.

J. H. Bland, a fireman on the Santa Fé railway, died yesterday at the California Hospital from the effects of injuries received several days ago by the explosion of the boiler of the locomotive on which he was at work. The accident happened near Kingman and caused the instant death of Engineer R. L. Fitch. Bland was brought to Los Angeles on a special train, which arrived at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, as reported in yesterday's Times. He lingered until 9 o'clock, when death relieved his sufferings. He was unmarried. The local branch of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen has taken the body and will have charge of the funeral.

Very Stubborn Fire.

For more than twelve hours yesterday one company of the fire department fought a stubborn blaze in the bricquette manufacturing plant of the Diamond Coal Company at Rampart street and Oceanview avenue. The fire was discovered before daylight yesterday morning and a telephone alarm sent in. Despite the fact that chemical streams were used, it seemed impossible to extinguish the fire, which smouldered in the finished product of the plant. It was not until after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon that the fire was finally extinguished. The bricquettes are made of sawdust and crude oil and are used for the purpose of smudging the orange groves when they are threatened with frost.

Bad Negro Jailed.

H. B. Busby, who the police say is one of the toughest negroes in the city, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Hawley and Murphy on a charge of burglary. He is alleged to have broken into the house of his cousin and stolen a watch which he sold at a Main-street pawn shop. It was recovered there by the officers. The prisoner was taken into custody for half an hour the day beforer and closely questioned as to his knowledge of the murder in the redlight district Monday night, but was not locked up. He is a brother of the man who a few years ago poisoned some wine for the purpose of killing another negro with whom he had had trouble. Another person found and drank the wine and died. For this crime the elder Busby is serving a life sentence in San Quentin penitentiary. Recently he made application to the Board of Prison Directors for his release on parole.

QUEER MURDER ATTEMPT AT LONG BEACH.

GEORGE CORDELL SEEKS LIFE OF CONSTABLE R. M. LYNN.

Crazed Dairyman Fires Five Shots Into His Enemy's House on Sudden Impulse, Narrowly Missing Miss Lynn—Jailed After Hard Struggle.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 19.—George Cordell fired five shots into the home of Constable R. M. Lynn about 8:30 o'clock this morning in a vain attempt "to get" that officer. Miss Theta Lynn happened to be standing in the window facing the desperate man and the shots intended for her father nearly hit her. Cordell was disarmed and locked up by the crowd after a hard struggle.

Cordell is the proprietor of the Crown dairy ranch, a short distance north of town, and is an industrious, prosperous man. Of late his family relations have not been pleasant and they culminated a short time since in his wife having him examined as to his sanity. He was acquitted and they then separated. Mrs. Cordell coming to town with her little girl and taking rooms near the scene of this morning's shooting. Yesterday she went back to the ranch and found everything moving quietly. When Cordell left with his load of milk at 5 o'clock in the morning he was apparently in better spirits than usual. After disposing of the milk, it appears Cordell purchased a revolver and drove to the house where the little girl was staying. Then he left money for her keep and chatted awhile with the woman of the house.

Incidentally, he displayed the revolver to the woman and said Lynn was his enemy and he was after him. The two houses are on the alley between Second and Third streets and only a few feet apart. Before anyone could realize what was in his mind Cordell stepped into the alley and fired five shots into the side of the Lynn house and not more than eighteen inches from the side of the window in which Miss Lynn was standing. As soon as she recovered from the shock Miss Lynn ran to the home of M. J. Shaul on the next lot and asked for help. Shaul went out and found Cordell on the doorstep boldly declaring that he had done the shooting and was trying to get Lynn.

"Did you get him?" asked Shaul.

"I don't know," was the reply.

"Then let's go and see."

The two went around the house together and Cordell climbed into his wagon and commenced to reload his gun. Shaul saw this would not do, and snatched the weapon away, handing it back into the crowd which had gathered. Cordell fought against being disarmed, but Shaul, with the aid of W. W. Craig and H. A. Davies, dragged him out of the wagon and held him on the ground. The two last named then took him to the City Jail, fighting all the way, and locked him up.

Constable Lynn was on the wharf at the time of the shooting, but was notified and took up the work of securing evidence. He secured a warrant for assault with a deadly weapon and the prisoner will have a hearing on that charge. It is the opinion of a good many that overwork and trouble have unbalanced Cordell's mind, but as he was pronounced sane by the Commission the other tack will be taken.

RED HOT STAGE OF ASYLUM DISCLOSURES.

Supt. Campbell to Prosecute ex-Steward Whitaker for Abstracting Documents.

Sensation Caused by Requisitions Showing that Cut Glass Dishes for Officials Were Bought in the Guise of "Soup Plates"—Attorney-General's Office to Take a Hand in the Case.

THE sore at the Southern California Asylum for the Insane at Patton (Highland) is to be probed at once by the Attorney-General's office, the State Board of Lunacy and the State Board of Examiners. It looks as though the truth will come out after a full investigation of the startling charges.

Doings of a sensational nature are predicted for today. Medical Superintendent Campbell arrived in the city last evening and says he will criminally prosecute ex-Steward Whitaker and ex-Druggist Howard for the abstraction of State papers on which they base their charges of grafting. Assistant Attorney General Stetson is coming here to take up the case.

Officers of the institution admit irregularities in the requisitions for supplies, but assert that they were known to the Board of Managers. Expensive glassware for the board was charged up as "soup plates." Secretary Clark states that "since the row" some of his perquisites have been cut off. Other charges of cruelty are made.

Dr. M. B. Campbell, medical superintendent of the Highland Asylum for the Insane, is in Los Angeles, prepared to make charges against several ex-employés.

This morning, Assistant Attorney-General Stetson will arrive from Sacramento, and, acting under his direction, Dr. Campbell will commence action against ex-Steward C. N. Whitaker and ex-Druggist F. W. Howard for the recovery of State records alleged to have been taken from the asylum.

Dr. Campbell has also taken the first steps toward forcing R. C. Harbison of San Bernardino to show his hand. Yesterday he made the demand of Chairman E. P. Clarke of the Board of Managers that Harbison be induced to prefer charges and appear at the next meeting of the board with his proofs.

DR. M. B. CAMPBELL.

So it comes to pass that, after a weary wait for some one to bring matters to a focus, Dr. Campbell takes the initiative, and the "preliminaries" leading up to the promised investigation may prove interesting to all parties concerned.

That there will be a thorough investigation of the conditions at the Highland Asylum is now assured. W. S. Melick, secretary of the State Board of Examiners, and Dr. F. W. Hatch, general superintendent of the California State Commission in Lunacy, having expressed their determination to be present and probe to the bottom of the difficulty.

Covering a period of several months, R. C. Harbison has been publishing anonymous articles in the San Bernardino Sun reflecting upon the management of the asylum and alleging cruel treatment of patients. At the last meeting of the Board of Managers, Harbison refused to divulge the nature or the source of his information. Since that meeting, allegations of cruelty and "grafting" have multiplied so rapidly that those higher in authority than the board have been obliged to take cognizance of the fact and respond to the public demand for a full and impartial investigation.

THE DOCUMENTS WANTED.

When C. N. Whitaker was deposed as steward he threatened to file charges against Dr. Campbell, but has reconsidered and now protests that nothing could induce him to again appear before the present Board of Managers, whom he distrusts. However, when he left the asylum it is alleged he took with him certain requisitions and estimates that are a part of the State records. The absence of these documents, and a druggist's register that F. L. Howard confesses to having in his possession, have handicapped the hospital officers, they say, in an effort to get at the bottom of the trouble, hence Dr. Campbell's determination to sue for their recovery.

DR. CAMPBELL'S STATEMENT.

"If these fellows think they can run off with State records," said Superintendent Campbell last night, "and deem themselves immune from responsibility, I will demonstrate to them their mistake. This morning I wired the Attorney-General as to what action I should take to recover the stolen documents and his reply is that Assistant Attorney Stetson is on his way to Los Angeles and that I shall force their surrender. Thursday morning on Mr. Stetson's arrival I will cause the arrest of F. E. Howard for the theft of a druggist's record, and C. N. Whitaker for purloining requisitions and estimates from the steward's office. And just to make it lively for these light-fingered gentlemen I shall engage special counsel here and give them more than they have bargained for.

"I have waited patiently for charges to be preferred, and during all this clamor about cruelty and grafting I have remained quiet. Now I am going to take a hand and bring these fellows to a 'show-down.' I have no detailed statement to make to the public, but when the matter is taken up before the proper authorities I will be prepared to make someone back water. I am thoroughly convinced that Whitaker will never again appear before the board. It would be my pleasure to get him on the stand, and under oath, explain some of his acts during his incumbency of the office of steward. He left things all in a tangle, which with important papers abstracted has made the straightening out of his books difficult.

"The statement of some accusers as to the use of apomorphia is most amusing. If these people who claim to know so much about the use of drugs will put in an appearance at the investigation I will read them a homily on the beneficent influence of apomorphia in just such cases as we are called upon to handle here. In the treatment of one suffering from hysteria there is no more humane treatment known than that in practice here. Perhaps I will be able to enlighten 'Dr.' Whitaker, 'Dr.' Varney, et als.

"Then all this roar about requisitions for non-contract goods—it's ridiculous. The books are open. Anyone that cares to investigate can get at the facts. I, of course, am forced to depend upon heads of departments, and when they are found incompetent or crooked they are dismissed. That is all there is to it.

"It is said I purchased fifteen tons of fertilizer and that five tons were dumped at my ranch. That is all true. The records will show that I bought ten tons for the State and five for myself, but both lots were shipped in the same car.

CHARGES FROM DISCHARGED EMPLOYES.

"Then as to those cruelty charges, you will notice they are from discharged employés. Relatives of patients are making no complaint. And I am of the opinion that some of these people who are so free to talk through the newspapers will hesitate to make any statement under oath, or place themselves in a position where they can be cross-examined. I have too much at stake to risk my reputation in an effort to shield a crooked employé."

IRREGULAR REQUISITIONS.

Harbinson, who has been harassing the asylum authorities with threatening articles, bases his accusation of "grafting" on two requisitions issuing from the steward's and attendants' dining-room and from the male patients' dining-room. These requisitions call for things of common use in dining-rooms, but their receipt is acknowledged by Secretary A. C. Clark, with the notation "For the board." They should have been receipted for by the assistant steward, had the goods been received at all. Here are the requisitions:

THE BUG IN THEM.

To the lay reader and to unsuspecting members of the Board of Managers such requisitions have an innocent appearance, but here is an example of a method of substitution in vogue in most public institutions. The fact is the goods mentioned in these requisitions were neither bought or delivered. In their stead a quantity of cut glassware was purchased for the board room.

Nor is this fact of substitution denied by Dr. Campbell or Secretary Clarke. The latter explained that that was "the only way such things could be bought," and "of course it was understood that all boards expected and receive liberal entertainment on occasion."

"But if glassware can be procured in that way the average taxpayer will wonder if the scheme cannot be worked without limit.

WHAT THE SECRETARY SAYS.

And in explaining methods of procedure in public institutions, Secretary Clarke had something to say for himself. The rumors that have been afloat relative to grafting have been of an irritating nature and the "big secretary" says he is ready for all comers.

"I would just like to have a lot of experts turned in here," said Mr. Clarke yesterday. "This office is ready for any kind of an investigation. And you can rest assured that when it comes to the pinch I will pass the responsibility up to the right parties. In two different institutions in this State I can demonstrate that large salaries are being paid to fictitious persons and the warrants are regularly approved by the Lunacy Commission. These institutions have to make good some way.

"Why, in my own case, when at Sacramento, an effort was being made to raise my salary, Dr. Hatch came to me and said: 'I am awfully sorry Clarkie, but I cannot work the raise for you. You will have to make it up the best you can at the asylum. In consequence I did get some meat, ice, vegetables, etc., until this row caused a shutting off of supplies.

"People who know nothing of the facts are wondering how I can afford a house at Long Beach. The answer is simple. I worked it through a building and loan association and owe for the most of it yet. Then Mrs. Clarke had a little money we put into it. And this notion about estimating twice for a carpet for Dr. Campbell's office—that is easily explained. The carpet was estimated for in June. Dr. Campbell and Commissioner McGonigle were called to Sacramento. There was not enough money to pay their expenses and get the carpet. So we let the carpet go, and again estimated for it in July. Whitaker had nothing to do with the deal at all."

STATE BOARDS TO PROBE.

These matters, however, will be thoroughly exploited when the Board of Managers convenes on September 8. Dr. Hatch of the State Lunacy Board and W. S. Melick of the State Board of Examiners have declared that the inquiry will be searching in its nature, and that every effort will be made to secure the attendance of all who can testify in support of the charge of inhuman treatment. A majority of those who have thus far given evidence have expressed their willingness to tell all they know, and their number is increasing daily.

One of the more recent ex-employés to volunteer a statement is F. Muschewske of Colton, who served as attendant, shoemaker and harness maker at the asylum. In speaking of the practices at the asylum Mr. Muschewske said:

SAYS PATIENTS WERE BEATEN.

"The cruel treatment of patients has not been colored. One day while walking in E ward a patient just tapped my foot in cleaning the floor. Attendant McAllister, observing it, said: 'Why don't you hit him a lick? I'd teach him a lesson.' Next day I saw him do just what he said he would do if in my place. He knocked the patient about twenty feet.

"Then there is the case of Andy Young, who was occasionally violent. I have seen him taken into the 'strong room' and beaten until he was a sight to look at. This was often done, for the simple offense of calling an attendant names. Again and again have I seen apomorphia administered until the poor victim would beg to be killed. On one occasion I saw a patient whose head had been lacerated and his face beaten black and blue by attendants. I called Supervisor Kimball down on this occasion, but I was laughed at and told that I was too soft-hearted. The matter was never investigated. Again I have seen Kimball give Patient Stone a 'shot;' and after violent sickness send him out on the ranch to work. Kimball ran the whole place while he was there. Drs. Campbell and Dolan did not know what was going on. One of the most cruel attacks I ever saw was that made on an inoffensive Mexican, who stood mute against the wall of the ward. An attendant slapped his face, and because he showed resentment he was forced into a corner and choked until he fell senseless to the floor. I remonstrated, but the attendant only said: 'Oh, we have to bring them to time, you know.'

"If I had a relative that was insane, I would rather have him shot than to send him to the Highland Hospital. I have worked in three asylums, but this is the worst to my knowledge.

"If the board will call me before them, I will tell all I know and give the names of all attendants guilty of cruelty."

FORMER PATIENT'S STATEMENT.

C. J. Oberschmidt of Highgrove, a former patient, is eager to give something of his experience while at the asylum. He said:

"When I was taken to the asylum, I was not violent. I was always responsible mentally. On one occasion, for what reason I do not know, I was strapped in bed forty-eight hours, without relief. My arms and legs were a sight when released. I was handcuffed. I remonstrated and declared that I would break them off if they did not release me. They refused, and I kept my word. For this offense, an attendant and five assistants knocked me down and jumped all over me, one big, burly fellow standing on my throat. From the injury received in that encounter I have never recovered."

Mr. Oberschmidt is a wealthy farmer of the Highgrove section, and is respected by his neighbors as a peaceable, intelligent man. When leaving the hospital, he wrote in the register that he had been well treated. "I did not dare do otherwise," said Mr. Oberschmidt. "I was anxious to get out to attend to my business, and had I written the truth, they would have kept me another month."

WHITAKER'S POSITION.

Ex-Steward Whitaker declares that had he been given a fair show before the board of managers the result of the last meeting of the board would have been quite different. He considers it useless to appear before them with any kind of evidence, so will content himself with furnishing such information as he may have to Mr. Melick and Dr. Hatch.

"The fact is that at the time my case was before the board," said Mr. Whitaker yesterday, "the testimony of Dr. Campbell's witnesses was as much in my favor as in his, especially that of the following fellow-employés: James P. Donahue, head farmer; James Pritchard chief engineer; George Cowdry, carpenter; John Lowe, assistant baker; Victor Rogers, assistant cook; Donald Barker, attendant; Oliver Trostle, basement man; A. R. McClaren, attendant; Thomas Campbell, dairyman; Joseph Livingston, stableman; Isaac Malouin, assistant engineer; Thomas Fenton, painter; Martin Koll, head baker; Mr. Kitchen, assistant cook; Walter Ward, storekeeper; Charles Howley, assistant gardener; Warren Ball, assistant; Charles Diechelbohrer, irrigator.

"This evidence was entirely overlooked, as my dismissal was prearranged. While I know I have the sympathy of some of the members of the board of managers, I would never again, under any circumstances, appear before them as a board with any kind of evidence. The evidence used to 'depose' me—contradicted in nearly every instance by Dr. Campbell's own witnesses, and under oath—influences me in this determination.

"I have no charges to bring against the members of the board. For the Republican members, Mr. Clark and Mr. Off, I have the very highest regard. They have proven themselves honorable gentlemen. As I have said to them personally, they are being grossly deceived and time will develop the fact. McGonigle, a Democrat, and A. C. Clark (Dr. Campbell's right bower,) another Democrat, seem to run the whole works, because Democrats fill all the sinecure positions. I have no doubt but that McGonigle was actuated by animus in voting against me, and of the rawest nature, because I failed to carry through a deal that would remove from Ventura the third newspaper plant which seems to worry him a good deal. One of his letters to me would be interesting reading in Ventura, I have no doubt.

"If Gov. Pardee and the Lunacy Commission wish a thorough investigation they must direct it, but not through the present board of managers. I have no desire to be burned twice, and particularly by 'brother bucks.'"

THE HOTTEST DAY OFFICIALLY "TOOK."

HERE is Uncle Sam's local custodian of the weather, consulting his box of atmosphere up on the roof of the tall red building at the northeast corner of Spring and Second streets, to see how devilish hot it was yesterday at the hottest moment. He is just recording in his score book, under date of Los Angeles, August 19, 1903, "maximum temperature, 94 deg."

So you see in the picture the record of the hottest day of the year going down in writing. Just fifteen minutes after Weather Man Franklin was snapshot in the act, the record was on the wire on its way to the Weather Bureau in Washington. Every day at 5 a.m., and 5 p.m., the watcher on the summit of the Trust building takes culation of the air about the instruments. Down on the streets where the ordinary mortal swelters through summer days, it is a good deal hotter than up where the official record is taken; but the latter is the true record of the temperature of the natural atmosphere. The government's aim is to record the temperature absolutely fairly, where the air is unaffected by the radiation of the sun's rays from pavements and brick walls. So when it is 94 deg. hot up in Franklin's nerle you may know it has been a genuine roaster down where other people live.

There is a small flock of various weather instruments herded on the sightly housetop. Lorded over by the noise about estimating twice for a carpet for Dr. Campbell's office—that is easily explained. The carpet was estimated for in June. Dr. Campbell and Commissioner McGonigle were called to Sacramento. There was not enough money to pay their expenses and get the carpet. So we let the carpet go, and again estimated for it in July. Whitaker had nothing to do with the deal at all."

THE LAST OBSERVATION.

the temperature of the Los Angeles atmosphere and dispatches it to headquarters across the continent.

The thermometers in use by the Weather Bureau are supposed to be as perfect for their purpose as anything can be that comes from the hand of man. In the cage, measuring about three feet square, and raised ten feet above the roof, to be clear of the radiation of heat from artificial surfaces, are the hydrometers for measuring the humidity in the air, two visual thermometers to record the maximum and minimum temperatures, and one marvelous automatic self-registering thermometer, that records on a pad, with a fine needle and ink, the temperature for every moment in the day. The cage is constructed of up-slanting lattices, impervious to the rays of the sun, but allowing the free circulation of the air.

Down on the roof is a rain gauge with delicately-poised mechanism; and—this is really funny—a snow gauge! This is a sort of red tape snow gauge, and one of Prophet Franklin's standing jokes. In the beginning, which occurred back East, it was ordained that a snow gauge should be a part of the equipment of every United States Weather Bureau station, and with government bureaus that which is spoken in the beginning, is said, until higher powers order it forgotten. So if ever any tourist snow drops into Los Angeles, it will find a familiar place to be measured in.

The wind gauge and the rain gauge record, by means of electric wires, direct in the Weather Bureau's office on the sixth floor of the building.

The prediction is that it ought to be cooler today—but this is just a prediction.

WHOLESALE GROCERS' BACKBONES STIFFEN.

NUT-CRACKING of no mean sort has been passed up to the Southern California Wholesale Grocers' Association by the ultimatum of the Retail Grocers' and Merchants' Association of California that jobbers must agree not to sell rate-cutting, blacklisted retailers on penalty of a boycott. An important meeting of the jobbers' association was held yesterday afternoon, at which there was extended discussion as to the best means of breaking the hard nut. At times certain members evinced an amount of heat that registered higher than the already excessive warmth of the circumambient atmosphere.

It is understood that the result of the meeting was a decision on the part of the jobbers to stand their ground, and submit a circular letter to the trade, stating their position and intentions. This letter is now being prepared, and will be ready for the mails some time today.

"The matter was thoroughly discussed at today's meeting," said Secretary Rawson of the Wholesale Grocers' Association last night, "but no action was taken, and another meeting will be called in the near future. Meantime the thing is under advisement. Further than that there is nothing to say, other than that there is now absolute harmony among our members and any final action that may ultimately be taken will receive solid indorsement."

If what Mr. Rawson says be true, that the Wholesale Grocers' Association is now a harmonious unit in the fight, whichever horn of the dilemma is taken, then it would be reasonable to suppose that the particular one of the Big Four jobbers who refused to sell to independents Ham and Pitton of San Bernardino, on account of union pressure, has come to the position of the combined jobbers, who propose to sell goods to whomever they please. It were a sorry sight indeed if all the big jobbers of Southern California are about to bend the knee to a threat of boycott. It looks as if the wholesale grocers were going to fight.

THE BEE KEEPERS OF THE UNITED STATES IN CONVENTION ASSEMBLED.

Newly-elected President National Bee Keepers' Association.

for the position was in the field. Mr. Brodbeck is president of the California-National Association.

The president of the body for the coming year will be James V. Harris of Grand Junction, Colo. Last year Mr. Harris served as vice-president, and was in the chair during yesterday afternoon's session while the election was going on, President Hutchinson being disabled by illness. Mr. Harris is well known among the bee men of the West, and besides his office in the national body is also president of the Colorado State association, and is County Commissioner from Mesa county.

The vice-president for the coming term is Charles Dadant of Hamilton, Ill. Mr. Dadant is actively engaged in honey production, and is one of the most prominent apiarists of the country. He is a former director of the national association. The manner of election caused a spirited contest among many of the members. After the nomination of the man who was elected president it was moved that nominations be closed and that the secretary be instructed to cast the deciding ballot. It was decided to do this, when someone rose to a point of order, and contested the legality of such a procedure. In about a minute there was a parliamentary tangle from which they did not extricate themselves for a full half-hour. It was finally decided to close nominations and let the secretary do the electing, as was the plan in the first place.

The first busy-bee session of the convention came yesterday morning. The attendance was good, and a large number of new names were enrolled on the secretary's book. About 200 delegates were present, representing members in every State in the Union, and an annual honey production aggregating in value $25,000,000. The importance of the convention, now being held in Blanchard Hall, may be understood when it is said that these men almost hold in their keeping the honey supply of the civilized world.

Prof. Cook of California opened up the practical discussions with a paper on "Honey Exchanges and Co-operation." Prof. Cook cited the efficient work of the citrus-fruit exchanges of Southern California, and outlined a similar plan of procedure for the honey producers. He had J. A. Reid of the Pomotropic enter into detail regarding the working of the citrus-fruit exchange. Although there was considerable favor expressed toward Prof. Cook's views, some feared a sort of labor-union tie-up in the ranks should any such organization be effected, and thought that such an association might run the individual bee-keeper as a walking delegate runs his unfortunate followers.

The paper of the afternoon session was read by J. F. McIntyre of Sespe, this State. Its subject was "How to Make Money Producing Extracted Honey," and it was of especial interest to California bee men. California ships out the largest quantity of the extracted product, perhaps, and all the local apiarists are continually struggling with the various problems of extraction. Said Mr. McIntyre, in part: "To make money producing extracted honey it is necessary first to produce a large quantity of a high grade product, and, second, to sell it for a good price. In starting out the first thing to be considered is the location, or locations, for it will be necessary to keep a number of apiaries if you expect to make much money. Having found a good field it is important to start with a hive that you will not regret. I have found nothing better than the ten-frame Longstroth, with an unbound zinc queen-excluder between the super and brood-chamber, and a painted duck cloth under the cover. All combs in the brood chamber should be built from full sheets of foundation.

"It is also important to stock your hive with the very best bees. I recommend that you buy some queens from every breeder who claims to have superior stock, and breed from that which is best. A system of management should be adopted, which will prevent excessive increase.

"Honey should not be extracted until it is 'ripe.' Otherwise it must be evaporated to prevent loss by fermentation. It requires experience to tell when honey is ripe enough to extract. In some seasons and in damp locations the nectar from the flowers is very thin, and the honey will often ferment after it is sealed over. In most localities it is about right when half sealed. It is economy, also, to have only the very best tools to work with.

"The capping box should be large enough to hold all the cappings from one extraction, to give time for the cappings to drain dry before the apiary is ready to extract again. Plenty of tank room is necessary to give the honey time to settle and become clear and sparkling before it is put into cans or barrels.

"Now to consider the marketing. If the cost of production is 4 cents, it is easy to see that the man obliged to sell all his product at 4 cents will soon conclude to get out of the business. To make money he must be enabled to hold till the market price raises.

"Organization helps to hold up prices. The California National Honey Producers' Association, together with a medium crop, instead of the full crop that was expected, has prevented the market from going to pieces in this State this year."

After the reading of Mr. McIntyre's paper an animated discussion took place on the merits of various varieties of bees and the manner of breeding, together with the honey-producing powers of the various species. This was followed by the question box, and the election of officers.

Last evening was devoted to a sort of social time, and memories of 'bee-keeping in years gone by. The principal speaker was A. I. Root of Medina, O. Mr. Root started to manufacture bee-keepers' supplies on a small scale many years since, and has gradually increased his business until now he has the largest bee-supply plant in the world, shipping between four and five carloads of finished material per day. Mr. Root's subject was "Reminiscences of Bee Keeping and Bee Keepers in the Early Days," and he spoke at some length regarding the older members and pioneers in the honey industry of the United States.

After he had seated himself J. S. Harbison of San Diego was called for. Mr. Harbison is the pioneer of the Coast in this business, having come to California in 1854. Another question completed the evening's events.

Today there is a lot doing in the bee-men's line. There is a trip to Long Beach scheduled, first of all, and it is believed that many will take that advance. Meanwhile, the convention will go right along. General Manager N. E. Hance of Wisconsin will speak at the morning session on "The Eradication of Foul Brood," and this afternoon "The Production and Sale of Bulk Comb Honey," a topic of great interest to the eastern-ers, will be treated by Homer H. Hyde of Texas. The convention closes tonight.

CARRARA PAINT

"The best is the cheapest."

A Question

If lead is the best pigment for paint, why is it that the works of the old masters on canvas, that were executed before lead was ever heard of, are perfect at this day, while the work done by artists in the last two decades has in many cases faded and cracked until they are mere blanks?

The answer is simple—lead is not the best pigment for paint. It is far inferior to Carrara, as time and wear will prove.

Carrara holds its color to the very last and will never crack, chalk, rub off, peel or blister. Estimates furnished and work guaranteed for five years when done by the contractors we recommend.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

It was learned yesterday that J. D. Robinson's object in building the spur from Third street into the Los Angeles market was to connect with the projected Glendale railroad, which has a franchise permitting the hauling of berries.

It is probable that Chief Strohm will make an effort to have the passports upon which the firemen ride changed from the books of tickets to badges.

Delos Campbell was acquitted of battery yesterday.

Two boys were found guilty of petty larceny for trying to steal tickets from the Southern Pacific.

AT THE CITY HALL.

TO CONNECT WITH GLENDALE RAILROAD.

THEREFORE ROBINSON BUILT THE THIRD-STREET SPUR.

He Acted in Ignorance, but Assured Authorities the Tracks Would be Torn up and Ordinance Awaited—Passbooks May be Exchanged for Badges.

When J. D. Robinson, president of the Los Angeles Market Company, had a spur laid from the Traction Company's track well in toward the market building early yesterday morning, he occasioned some alarm in official bosoms, but his object has been made clear.

It is with the projected Los Angeles and Glendale Railway that Robinson intends to connect. His object in building this bit of railway was to get berries from Tropico and Glendale the quickest way possible, to-wit, by railway transportation.

It happens that the Glendale Electric Railway, a franchise for which was granted to L. C. Brand, is the only one in the city which has been given the right to haul berries. When the road is built it will be the only line enjoying even so limited a freight-carrying franchise, the ordinance specifying that berries, but berries only, may be hauled in crates.

The Glendale line will enter the city on West Sixth street, at a point near Figueroa street; proceed east to Central avenue and at Central avenue it will turn and run north to the Los Angeles Market, at Third street and Central avenue.

When the Glendale road is built it will be an easy matter for Robinson to get permission to have the berries hauled into the market over his spur.

At present, however, the tracks from the market connect with the Traction Company's line. Now a great many berries are raised at Gardena and Moneta and the adjacent country, which is tapped by the Traction line to San Pedro.

At present the berries, fruit and vegetables from those points consigned to the Los Angeles market are brought in by steam to the Redondo depot at Jefferson street and Grand avenue, and trucked from there to the market. Both the berry and fruit growers and the market suffer loss by this arrangement owing to the perishable nature of the consignments.

Undoubtedly Robinson wants to have railway facilities from those points of shipment to his market, but as the Traction Company has no authority to carry any freight whatever, such an arrangement would be illegal.

Robinson was somewhat premature in building the spur, as the ordinance making the grant has not even been prepared. He was so instructed yesterday morning, and said that he had erred purely through ignorance of the course that the legislation must take.

On Monday the Council granted Robinson's petition to build the spur track, and ordered that the ordinance be drawn. Robinson, believing that legislation in his case had been exhausted, and that there was no obstacle to his getting to work right away, notified the superintendent of the Traction Company that all was in readiness for the building.

That night after the cars had stopped running a gang of laborers went to work and by morning had three-fourths of the track down.

Although the Traction Company's laborers laid the track, Mr. Robinson asserts that he will pay all the bills, as per agreement, and that the railway company has no interest whatever in the spur.

Robinson was closeted with the Mayor yesterday morning, and came forth after a half hour's conversation with the information from "Hizzoner" that he had exceeded his rights, and that the track would have to be torn up. Later in the day Robinson hunted up Street Superintendent Werdin, and, being advised by the City Attorney that the proper thing to do was to take up the spur, he promised that the street would be in its former condition within thirty-six hours.

There is no doubt that Robinson and the market men were perfectly honest in their representations to the effect that they were ignorant of the law. The haste to which they exerted themselves was unnecessary, in view of the fact that on Monday next the ordinance giving them the privilege they asked will be operative, and that no urgent necessity exists at the present time for them to make the connection.

WANTS PASSPORTS CHANGED.

BADGE IS GOOD ENOUGH.

Had the Los Angeles Railway Company the right to change the passports of firemen and other city employés from badges to the books of tickets now issued?

Chief Strohm came back from the North Tuesday, and about the first thing he ran up against was the rule recently promulgated by the officials of the street railway companies. Since then he has been sizing up the situation, and it is understood that he will see what can be done by the Fire Commission.

It is claimed that the new system of identification is a great bother to the firemen. Often they are obliged to watch at a building that has been burned all night. In such cases they are not likely to have their tickets. But the badge is worn all the time.

City Attorney Mathews expressed it as his opinion yesterday that the city has as much right to designate the method of identification as the railway company, and perhaps a little more. The franchise grant obligates the railway companies to carry certain city employés free of charge.

It is thought that the railway men will have to back down from their positions assumed somewhat arbitrarily, in the opinion of those affected.

Sliebits Not Bankrupt.

Through a mistake it was stated in yesterday's Times that A. H. Sliebits had been enjoined by the United States District Court from having a certain saloon license transferred to himself. The restraining order pertained to another person, Sliebits being perfectly solvent.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

FANCY TRAMP MUST HAVE MONEY TO DRESS.

SAYS HE CAN'T DO WITH LESS THAN SIXTY-EIGHT A YEAR.

Queer Customer Who Has Come to the Attention of the Associated Charities. Man Who Went Thieving in a Pink Sweater.

A tramp who insists that he can't manage to dress on less than $68 a year is the latest thing to startle the Associated Charities.

He blew in yesterday with an application for alms. When his finances were investigated it was discovered that he has an income of $34 every half year. They suggested to him that he might manage to turn this to account, but he said that he had to have this money to buy clothes. He said that he couldn't manage to dress on less than that amount.

They asked him why he didn't go to work, but he said he wasn't healthy. Afterward he admitted, however, that he had walked down here from Seattle. He was told that if he was able to walk that distance he ought to be able to sit up and do a little labor now and then and keep his stomach reasonably full. He went away feeling very much abused.

DEAD AFFAIR NIT.

MEXICAN AND CAMPBELL.

Delos Campbell, an old resident of California, who keeps a store at Verdugo, was examined yesterday on the charge of assaulting a Mexican with a deadly weapon. The deadly weapon proved to be a little sprig of wood from a tree. On the other hand it was shown that the Mexican had tried to cut Campbell with a knife.

The Mexican is a ferocious-looking chap named Alejandro Orduno. Campbell claims that the fellow has been stealing his meat, and that on the 11th of August he followed his tracks to his house and found him actually eating the meat. They had words and Campbell claims that the Mexican sprang at him with a knife and cut him in the hand, but fell over a box and hit his head. The Mexican claims that Campbell hit him over the head and that he had no knife.

DUMBLER IS MAD.

BUT WAS RELEASED.

Andrew Dumbler, who worried his creditors by going to Mexico, or at least starting that way, was let out of jail yesterday, where he was locked up on the charge of trying to defraud those to whom he owed money.

Dumbler was released once before, but was rearrested on the steps of the County Jail as he was getting away.

He threatens to bring a damage suit against a Pasadena contractor named Vesper, who had him arrested.

Sued His Staff Officer.

Col. John R. Berry has brought suit against the former commissary on his staff, A. M. Austin. There is trouble over a note.

According to Berry's complaint, Austin borrowed $250 of him in May, 1898, giving as security a note for $1500 executed by Warren Wilson. Berry alleges that Austin allowed Wilson's note to become outlawed and that he (Berry) cannot now collect on it.

Clothes Too Loud.

For a thief trying to escape detection, a pink and green sweater in colors loud enough to silence a brass band is not a happy selection. This was proved yesterday in a petty larceny case tried before Justice Austin.

A colored boy named Emmet Robinson and Charles Freidenberg, a white boy with the sweater, were accused of stealing a ticket from the Southern Pacific station on First street.

They chose a time when the ticket agent had gone out to a fruit stand and entered the office. He heard them stamping the ticket and rushed to the station in time to catch them. He turned them over to a citizen to hold while he telephoned for the police, but the citizen allowed them to go. By reason of Freidenberg's noisy garb they were captured again in the tenderloin. They were found guilty and will be sentenced today.

Not Guilty.

N. J. Davenport, a Home telephone foreman charged with battering Heber Jones was discharged from custody yesterday. It appeared that the row was over a time check and that Jones had been in trouble before.

Big Estate.

A petition was filed yesterday for the probate of the estate of Charles Forrester by his son Frank Forrester. The estate is valued at $119,144.30. A considerable part of it consists of property in the Westlake district. He leaves a widow, one son, two daughters and two grandchildren.

China's Sacred Jeweled Tree in Boston.

One of the mysteries connected with the forbidden city of Peking has come to light here with the strange appearance in the Boston Art Museum of what is said to be the famous sacred jeweled tree belonging to the imperial family of China.

For more than two centuries this treasure, made of native Chinese precious stones, standing two and a half feet high and radiating a brilliant mass of colors, had been closely guarded day and night, few persons knowing of its existence or where it was kept. Its disappearance several years ago, before the Boxer outbreak, caused a furor among Chinese officials.

The tree is said to have arrived at the museum through unknown channels, and an effort has been made to restore it to the Chinese government. —[Boston Post.

OTHER COUNTIES MUST SHOW

CHIEF DEPUTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY JAMES and John Lowe, clerk of the Board of Supervisors, returned yesterday from Sacramento, where they appeared before the State Board of Equalization in an attempt to have the assessment of Los Angeles county equalized with that of other counties.

Mr. Lowe says that he believes this county will be relieved of the burden this high assessment has brought.

Mr. James thinks so too.

They quote Chairman Brown of Sacramento of the board, who said: "You gentlemen are not asking for a reduction on the ground that the assessment is too high, but are only asking that the other counties be raised to an equal basis."

Mattison of Santa Cruz also said at one of the board meetings: "This is a pretty serious matter, gentlemen. I believe it will bear further investigation. It certainly looks to me as though Los Angeles county is slightly up against it."

"Before going up," said Mr. James, "we secured data of the basis of assessment in most of the other counties in the State. We used this for ammunition. Our best points were scored by use of the data of San Francisco building permits secured before the meeting.

"When we went before the board we were able to show that $30,000,000 increase in the city of Los Angeles in 1900 over $18,000,000 in San Francisco. Improvements showed that San Francisco only assessed for $5,000,000 increased improvements, while Los Angeles has assessed for $18,000,000 increased improvements.

"An attempt was made to raise San Francisco, who is on the board, to dispute this, but they had no data and so the matter was left as it was.

The list will be added to gradually. The school of expression scholarship or more music and art scholarships, and possibly a few more business college or correspondence school scholarships, as the needs of the contest develop.

The number of scholarships to be awarded will certainly not be less than 42, and if those below thirtieth place do some work good and hard and there may be scholarships enough to supply half a dozen more. The chances of winning, though, the nearer at the wind-up should be rated at 50,000.

CASH PRIZES.

It is designed to have a scholarship for each one of thirty or more [illegible] the awards of scholarships [illegible] Ten," that is the ten highest scores, will be supplemented with cash prizes aggregating $250 cash without a scholarship, or in lieu of the all-cash prizes first choice of the $150 and $100 cash.

If the $250 cash prize is not taken by No. 1 it will be passed on to No. 2, who may take it or a scholarship and $125 cash. If No. 2 prefers the latter combination, the all-cash prize will be passed on down the line until it is accepted.

In any event, $150 cash will go with the first choice of scholarships, $125 with the second, $110 with the third, $100 with the fourth, $90 with the fifth, $80 with the sixth, $70 with the seventh, $60 with the eighth, $50 with the ninth; these, with the grand capital prize of $250, making a total of ten cash prizes, amounting to $1085. In addition to this and the scholarships valued at $2000 or over, cash commissions are being and will be paid during the progress of the contest and at the close, to the amount of several hundred dollars more, so it will hardly chance that any contestant will not be well paid for the work done during the contest.

OTHER WARM THINGS BESIDES WEATHER.

SCHOLARSHIP RACE ON SULTRY DAY UNCOMMONLY HOT.

Miss Pedelty Recovers First Place and Senor Saenz Gets Back Among the High Five—Miss Templeton, Miss Zander, Miss Den and Others Move up.

The weather was not the only thing that was warm in Southern California yesterday. The Times Scholarship Contest was just as warm as anything, and a good many of the contestants kept up a very warm pace in spite of the overpowering warmth of the brand of climate now being served to the sweltering denizens of Southern California by the unfeeling clerk of the Weather Bureau.

Miss Gertrude Pedelty, by a gain of 2339 points, regained first place from Jeanette Bower, who dropped back to second place with a gain of only 1576.

Porter Blackburn gained 2945 points and Florence Darch 3335, but neither of them succeeded in getting higher up the list, although they are pressing the two leaders closely.

HERO OF THE DAY.

Manuel E. Saenz of The Palms was the hero of the day. He scored a clean gain of 6738 points and is once more one of the "High Five," having moved up from seventh to fifth place. Don Manuel had the good fortune to bring in six new yearly subscriptions all paid up in advance which accounts for his phenomenal gain in scholarship points. The young Señor is getting much support from Santa Monica where he is well and favorably known.

Miss Ellis gained 2055 points and Miss Hibbard only 52. Both went back one number on account of Don Manuel's flying leap.

Miss Georgia Pitts continues to hold eighth place with a gain of 705. She has returned to Redlands from the wilds of Riverside county, where she waged a successful campaign, and it is up to the Redlanders now to keep her in the place she has gained through so much strenuous effort.

Miss Clare Templeton scored a gain of 1982 points, picked up on the Santa Barbara coast, where the cool Pacific breezes blow, and the gain was sufficient to take her up to ninth place, and almost enough to put her ahead of Miss Pitts.

Hazel Ball failed to score at all yesterday and dropped back to the last place of the "Upper Ten."

Miss Beckingsale scored a gain of 1161, as the result of her visit to Santa Paula, and the returns from that bustling little city are not yet all in.

Mabel Brown gained 1025 and is holding on to the hoodoo number, No. 13, like grim death.

Josephine Den exerted herself successfully in the attempt to recover her old position, No. 18, and accomplished it by making a clean gain of 2780 points.

C. Hix Thornburg registered a gain of 1174, but fell back to nineteenth place.

SOH SANG ANCHORED.

Soh Sang Nan couldn't be driven out of twentieth place with dogs, so firmly is he anchored to it. His gain for the day was 850, chiefly contributed by his Christian Endeavor friends. Soh Sang is working for an Occidental College scholarship, where Chinese and Japanese students are already enrolled. The orientals think that Occidental is as good a place as any to get a good Christian education.

Inez Lynn remains in twenty-first place with a gain of only 38 points.

Aubrey St. Clair has moved up from twenty-fourth to twenty-second place, with a gain of 1269. The East Side lad has been bettering his position steadily for about a week now, and further gains on his part may be looked for, as he is leaving no stone unturned to improve his score.

Miss Hanna Thompson has at last gotten within the limit of sure prize winners by crowding Charlie Yorba out of thirtieth place.

Things are still coming "Cheerful Bunnie's" way; he scored 1007 points yesterday, which placed him ahead of Juletta Campbell, whose gain for the day was only 457. Will L. Baughman moved up from thirty-ninth to thirty-seventh place at the expense of Grace Langdon and Wilson Turner.

The Lobster Patti Man.

The Coptic was five days out of San Francisco on her way to the Orient, and was due to arrive at Honolulu next morning. Many of her passengers were to leave the ship at this delightful port of call, and so, in their last evening on board, a concert was given on deck. It was a charming entertainment. A party of Yale and Harvard students going home to the islands for the summer vacation made up an impromptu glee club. There were men on board who had stories to tell and told them well, as well as the average run of general amateur talent on shipboard that sings, recites and does things to the piano. The captain was the right bower of the concert committee. He ordered the piano slung up on deck from the saloon below and had the deck handsomely canopied with bunting. The night was sweet and soft with the wonderful breathing of the southern winds, and there was a very dazzle of tropical starlight. The out-of-door concert was a success in every way until the closing number of the programme. A woman who was literary, artistic, aesthetic, musical, and much older than she struggled to look, was down for a vocal solo. She was not over-popular, but she meant well. Her voice had been good, but that was some time prior to this voyage of the Coptic. However, no one flinched, and the effort aroused much applause, and demands for an encore. As she was swishing back to the piano, a gushing maiden exclaimed, and her voice carried the length of the deck:

"Why, she's a regular Patti!"

A cross-grained brute of a man who was leaning against a stanchion, commented without thinking, and his voice was a good deal more than a stage whisper:

"A regular lobster Patti."

The encore was blighted in a stormy exit, followed by hysterics, while the female passengers flamed with indignation against the wretch who had insulted the soloist. There was no more mingling with the social circles of the Coptic for the man who had transgressed, and when the invitations were out for the shuffleboard and card parties, he was on the blacklist all the way to Shanghai.—[New York Times.

Why Mr. Dickson Quit.

Senator Hoar used to be shaved by a colored barber of the name of Dickson, whenever he went to Boston. One morning he opened a conversation by saying: "I believe you are a member of the African Church in —— street?"

"No, sah, not at all, sah," was the reply made with much dignity.

"Ah I thought you were when I was here last."

"But not dis yeah, sah."

"Ah, have you resigned?"

"Well, sah, it was dis way. I jined dat church on good faith and de fust yeah I give $10 to'ds the stated gospel, en all de church people calls me 'Brudder Dickson.' De second yeah ma bizness fell off, en I give $5; en all de church people dey call me 'Mister Dickson.' De dis rasser hurt yo' sah?"

"Not at all; it is very easy."

"Thank yo, sah; well, de third yeah I feel so pohly dat I don't give nuthin' 't all fur preachin', en all de church people dey pass me by en say 'dat old niggah Dickson.' After dat I quit 'em,'—[New York Press.

"Two Pictures at Once."

A well-known landscape painter was busy "dashing in" the colors of a sunset. The tints were hurriedly conveyed from tube to palette, and from palette to canvas, for the artist was anxious to catch the effect.

A rustic standing by observed the operation for a little while, and then remarked: "Ah, you be a-painting two pictures at once. That's clever." He paused a moment, and then blurted out: "I like that picture best—the one you've got your thumb through!"—[M. A. P., London.

HAVE been treated by Dr. Schiffman for years. I have tried all his different methods and can say unhesitatingly no dentist or physician has ever operated with such success or skill. In extracting my teeth he did it without any pain to me. It is a great pleasure to me to recommend him and his method of treatment.

MILO M. POTTER,
Prop. Van Nuys Hotel and Hotel Potter, Santa Barbara.

Ten years ago a reputable D. D. S. of Va, told me that a certain molar tooth could not be satisfactorily saved and that it would probably not be of service for one year. It has not only served me for ten years, as Dr. Schiffman saved and crowned it, and comparatively speaking without pain. I sing his praise.

L. M. ANDREWS, Pastor M. E. Church, South, Cor. 6th and Mateo Streets.

On account of some unfortunate experience I had in the extraction of my teeth I became a great coward in this respect. Today Dr. Schiffman extracted one of my very refractory teeth without causing me one particle of pain.

D. K. TRASK, Judge Superior Court, Los Angeles.

Dr. Schiffman extracted a tooth for me absolutely without pain. His advertising phrase, "Didn't Hurt a Bit," is literally true.

R. D. HOLABIRD, Pacific Electrical Works, Under Nadeau. First St.

EVERAL years ago Dr. Schiffman did some crown and bridge work for me which has proved entirely satisfactory. The work was done painlessly and with great skill. It gives me great pleasure to recommend him.

IRVING R. SMITH, L. A. Times.

Dr. Schiffman has put in almost an entire upper bridge for me. The bridge is perfect in every respect, and I can use it as well as my natural teeth. The work was promptly and painlessly done.

J. F. WILL, 901 West Twelfth.

Dr. Schiffman pulled two of my window teeth, and it didn't hurt a bit; on the contrary, the sensation was pleasant.

GUY L. HARRISON, Vice-Pres. Herald Pub. Co.

It is with pleasure that I state that I have had several teeth filled by Dr. Schiffman, and that he killed and extracted the nerve and filled the root of one of my teeth and put on a porcelain crown, which cannot be distinguished from a natural tooth, all of which was done without pain.

JUDSON R. RUSH,
Of Davis & Rush, Attorneys, 3 Rogers Blk.

I have had porcelain crown work and some filling done, also had ten teeth and roots extracted by Dr. Schiffman, and take great pleasure in recommending his method to anyone wishing dental work done without pain.

MRS. C. T. W. SCHRAMM,
Mother of Paloma Schramm, Cor. Austin and Wadsworth.

Dr. Schiffman has put in a very satisfactory piece of bridge work for me and I cheerfully recommend him to anyone in need of dentistry.

F. FLORENTINE,
1535 North Main St. County and City Criminal Photographer.

About a year ago I had a solid gold bridge put in by Dr. Schiffman. The work was absolutely painless, and has proved entirely satisfactory, and I cannot say too much in praise of the doctor.

GUS BASLER, 715 W. First St.

Dr. Schiffman extracted my teeth and replaced same by bridge work. He also treated and filled two teeth, which I thought were too far gone to save. The above work was all done painlessly and in perfectly satisfactory.

E. A. POLLARD, 727 Central Ave.

This is to certify that Dr. Schiffman did some crown work for me seven years ago and the work is as good today as it was when he finished the job.

I have had fourteen teeth extracted positively without pain by Dr. Schiffman.

L. B. OSBORN, Ocean Park Postmaster.

Have just had a large back tooth extracted by Dr. Schiffman; had been hesitating, but it was only a trifle and gave no pain.

FRED A. DAY, Deputy City Assessor.

SCHOOL FOR HOUSEWIVES---By Marion Harland

HOUSEWIFE'S COLUMN

AT THE expense of some delay and trouble, I send "credential" for the cold method of preserving berries.

A neighbor in this place does strawberries in the same way, excepting that she does not mash or wash.

Place a layer of berries and a layer of sugar in a vessel until all are in; let them stand over night. In the morning fill jars full, seal and place in a cool, dark place. When opened they taste like berries that have been in sugar over night. The secret is in having everything fresh and clean, scalding cans the morning before they are used and packing so that there are no empty spaces.

Without doubt, some of your other readers know of this method.

Did my pen slip so far as to make me give the following directions for laundering silks and pongees? Sounds crazy, doesn't it?

"In laundering wash silks and pongees do not wring; drain, dry thoroughly, do not sprinkle, but iron while damp with a moderately hot iron."

What I wished to say was that all summer silks and pongees should be perfectly dry before ironing, and be ironed in that state. Try it once and see for yourself.

My orange cake came back from California as "Berwick Cake," with proportions somewhat changed. M. J.

Our old and valued correspondent never writes at random. With all my heart I hope that she and her neighbor are in the right, and that the "cold process" may soon supersede the crucial ordeal of hot stove, hot kitchen, hotter fruit and hottest housewife when canning is the order of the day. Who will try next and report to the Exchange? Out of the mouths of many truth is established.

Another member adds this recipe for "cold storage" currants:

After washing, remove the stems and dry on a towel; then mash, being sure to break every currant. For every cup of fruit take one cup of granulated sugar; stir thoroughly and can. I have put up currants in this way for several years and have had fruit keep well.

I have put up red raspberries in the same way with the same result. J. B.

PLACE aux hommes!" A "John" ventures within the charmed circle of the Exchange with a protest against the policy of a brother man as reported in a late number. Nothing abashed by finding himself in a minority, he utters forth his mind with strength and clearness:

It seems to me that the wife writing under the signature of "M. M. W." is a patient sout and has a small-bore specimen of humanity for a husband. Any man that will compel his wife to go to him for a little change on every occasion when she requires it should not have a wife. It is a housekeeper he wants. There! I will let it go at that, and state my own way.

I and my better half have been married thirty-five years. Many years ago we made a partnership agreement. I have a certain salary per month. My wife at the beginning of every month receives her money from me with which to run her house, clothe the kids (a pair of them too young to clothe themselves yet), I, on the other hand, pay insurance, life and fire; taxes, fuel bills and repairs on the home. I never ask what she does with her share of firm money and she does not bother about my share. Any unusual expense is borne by both of us as equally as possible. I find this plan works all right and I advise others to try it.

GRAYBEARD.

There is no flaw in the method here laid down. The writer may be a graybeard, but he has outgrown the prejudices of a past in which women were written up as superior to men and talked down to their faces in the home circle as unfit to handle the purse strings. A past, in which, if a woman had money of her own, it became, with herself, the property of her husband as soon as he (nominally) endowed her with all his worldly goods and chattels.

All honor to such graybeards, and may their days be long in the land!

NOT long ago a young lady asked for a remedy to cure a bad breath. I want to say if the young lady will take an even teaspoonful of pulverized charcoal mixed in molasses every night before going to bed it will not only cure the breath, but beautify the complexion. A READER.

The charcoal, taken dry or mixed with milk or with water, will correct acidity of stomach as well as when stirred into molasses, which contains an acid of its own.

READING an inquiry about dyeing straw hats in your corner, I will say I have dyed them successfully with a preparation to be had in almost any of the large department stores and which costs but twenty-five cents per bottle. If directions are followed, the coloring of the hat will be a very simple matter.

Having colored hats in the old way, i. e., with logwood, and, afterward blocking and varnishing, I find this preparation a decided improvement.

Though I am not a housekeeper, I am very much interested in your household corner, as I have had a little all-round experience in a few of the most necessary employments of girls, or, rather, which young women ought to know. B. A.

The rules of the department prohibit the mention of any patent preparation. In obedience to these, I withhold the name of the dye commended by "B. A.," which may or may not be proprietary. In view of the circumstance that I am in daily receipt of requests for a trustworthy dye for hats that will neither fade nor distil inky tears under a summer shower, I am glad to know there is something that will stand all these tests.

The general interest to "set a good table" upon ten, six and even four dollars a week is evinced in the large number of letters of inquiry poured from my mailbag and the contribution of divers menus from housewives who have proved for themselves that one or all of these experiments may be made successfully by a woman with brains and will.

They are interesting studies, these various bills of fare, to which it is hoped "E. D." will add her valuable quota before long. Whatever may be the reader's private opinion of the palatableness of some of the dishes submitted and their popularity with one's own particular "John and the boys," it cannot be denied that the arrangement of each list is ingenious, and that human life and strength may be sustained by the most frugal of the series.

It is my intention to devote a certain space of this corner to these menus for several weeks to come. Housewives are invited to send in other lists, and estimates, and criticisms are fully invited.

I AM going West this summer and shall travel alone. I am going in a tourist sleeper, one of the parties that leaves Boston twice a week in charge of a special conductor. I will be three days, or, I should say, three nights en route. I have never been on the train at night, as we have been out of my native State very little. Please tell me what will be best for me to wear on the train day and night. If you could tell me the things I need for comfort while on the train I would appreciate it, or any other suggestion you can offer. N. M.

Repeating the advice given to another prospective tourist a couple of weeks ago, I recommend a good taffeta silk (black) as a serviceable traveling gown. Have a black or gray China silk shirtwaist, besides that belonging to the gown, for warm weather. Lay in a good supply of white linen collars and cuffs that you may freshen up your attire at least once a day. Besides your hat, have a soft cap of silk or cloth (gray is a useful color) to wear during the day. Besides your nightgown, have a kimono of light wool or wash silk, that can be slipped on over your nightdress. Have bedside slippers that can be put on easily in case of accident. A lace or net cap, to be drawn over the head at night, will protect the hair from dust and keep it in order. Plenty of handkerchiefs, a full change of underclothing and a light shawl should form part of the outfit. Your dressing case must, of course, be supplied with all the accessories needed for the toilette at morning and at night.

HOW TO SERVE MELONS

New Ways to Present the Luscious Late Summer Fruit

IN former days and generations the housewife was limited to one or two ways of serving the luscious melons which each August and September produced for her benefit.

Nowadays to win and hold her brevet as housemother she must have a repertoire of recipes for preparing them at her finger ends.

Here are some good directions and formulas which will be new to the average home cook:

Melons should be served as cold as possible—iced, in fact—as this brings out their delicate aroma.

This is especially true of muskmelons, the smallest of which are served cut in halves. The centres, from which the seeds have been removed, are filled with shaved ice. These are frequently served at luncheons and dinners as an appetizer before soup.

Frequently a dash of brandy and a few drops of lemon juice are placed in each half of the shell.

Again the pulp is removed from the rind and grated or chopped fine and pressed through a vegetable press. A small punch bowl is filled half full of the fruit pulp. To it are added a tablespoonful of Maraschino and two tablespoonfuls of orange juice. The glass is then filled with shaved ice, topped with a few candied mint leaves.

Scoop out the pulp of a large muskmelon, cutting it in uniform pieces; add to each quart a teaspoonful of salt and mix carefully. Then add a cupful of tiny dice of preserved ginger or a tablespoonful of ground ginger, a tablespoonful of brandy, the juice of lemon and mix carefully. Place in a two-quart fruit jar, adjust rubber and screw on lid. Bury in equal parts of ice and salt and allow to stand for three hours. Serve in the halves of the melons or in little cups. This is for a prelude to a luncheon; if wanted for a dessert, it may be served with rich cream whipped to a solid froth, then sweetened and slightly flavored with lemon.

Chestnuts and melon is a good combination in any form. The chestnuts are scored, then baked until almost tender. The hulls and inner skin are removed and the chestnuts simmered until tender in a syrup composed of one cupful of granulated sugar, one cupful of water and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. When tender, cool. Cut a muskmelon into small cubes. Mix with the chestnuts, using twice as much melon as chestnuts. Pack in a mold with a tight lid, add the syrup the chestnuts were cooked in and sufficient more syrup to make a pint; add also the juice of a lemon and the grated rind. Cover the mould, bind the seam with a strip of suet-saturated muslin and bury in ice and salt for two hours. Dish on a pretty platter, heaping the partly frozen syrup about the pieces of melon and chestnuts. Whipped cream may be served with the dish, but it is not really necessary, as the dessert is sufficiently rich without.

Pare a muskmelon or a watermelon and cut in small cubes. The half shell of the melon may be used in which to serve the sherbet. A slice is cut from the bottom, so that it may stand upright and firm on the plate, and the upper edges may be cut in vandykes. Boil one quart of water with one pint of sugar ten minutes; add one teaspoonful of granulated gelatine that has been soaked in two tablespoonfuls of cold water ten minutes and strain into the freezer. When cold add the juice of six lemons, and freeze as usual. When nearly frozen add a pint of melon cubes. Turn the dasher very slowly a few minutes; remove it; scrape the sides of freezer can, put on the lid, insert cork in lid, and cover with ice and salt; let the whole stand an hour or two before serving.

Make a sherbet as above, or use orange juice in place of lemon. Freeze until firm. Have some small nutmeg melons, very cold. Cut a slice from bottom, so each will stand upright; cut a slice from the top and remove the seeds. Fill each melon with the frozen mixture; fit on the lid, place the melons in a large pan, surround with ice, cover and let stand one hour. When wanted for the table, have ready tiny bows of narrow ribbon; with a pin adjust these to the lid, to serve as lifts. Serve on individual plates, with a little lace paper doily placed underneath each melon. The ice is eaten directly from the melon, which lends its delicious flavor to the ice.

Fully grown but not soft muskmelons make a good conserve candied. This may be used for every purpose that citron is good for. The process, which is by no means a difficult one, is as follows:

Cut the melons in halves, remove the seeds and peel them. Make a brine strong enough to float an egg; put in the melon and let it stand, fully covered with brine, for four days. Then place in fresh water and let it stand three days, changing daily. Cover with fresh water, and let simmer gently until tender but not broken. Make a syrup by boiling one pound of granulated sugar and one pint of water for ten minutes. Use this amount to every two pounds of melon. Place the melon in syrup and simmer gently for half an hour, then pour all into a stone jar; let stand three days. Drain, bring syrup to a boil, pour over the melon, and let it stand three days. Drain again, boil the syrup until reduced one-half, pour over melon and let stand three days. Now dip the melon pieces out on flat dishes and place in the sun or cool oven to dry. Each day pour a little of the syrup over the melon until all has been used. Turn the pieces occasionally, and when crisp and candied and well dried pack in boxes, placing a sheet of waxed paper between each layer.

This can be used in cakes or puddings, or a cupful, sliced thinly, added to a lemon sherbet gives it a distinct and delicious flavor.

Take a fully grown but not overripe melon—one can use muskmelon or watermelon rind, the dark green outer rind and the inner soft portion being removed. If muskmelons are used, prepare as in previous recipe, but cut into inch cubes. Cover the melon with cold water; to each quart allow a tablespoonful of salt and let stand twenty-four hours. Drain and rinse thoroughly and drain again. Cook in water until just tender; drain. For every pound of melon make a syrup of three-quarters of a pound of sugar and half a cupful of water; add also to every two pounds of melon the juice and thin yellow rind of a lemon and half a tablespoonful of bruised ginger root. Tie the root in a bit of cheesecloth. When the syrup boils add the melon and cook gently for twenty minutes. Pour into small jars and seal.

Melon prepared in this way can be added to iced puddings, sherbets or frozen gelatine dainties, and will be found delicious for such purpose, imparting an individual flavor.

Very small, unripe muskmelons make excellent mango pickles. Cut a round piece from the stem end of each, scoop out the seeds, throw in brine strong enough to float an egg, and let stand three days. Chop fine a white cabbage, add half a pint of salt, chop separately ten onions and twelve bell peppers. Cover each with half a cupful of salt. Let stand three days. Press out the brine, mix, and add four tablespoonfuls of mustard seeds. Drain the melons, fill with the chopped mixture, and fasten lid in place with a bit of twine. Heat enough vinegar to cover; add to every gallon a tablespoonful each of crushed cinnamon and cloves and two tablespoonfuls of coarsely-grated horseradish. Cover the melons with vinegar and let them stand for three days; drain, reheat the vinegar and pour it over the melons again. Repeat the process twice more. The melons may be put in glass jars, covered with the vinegar and sealed closely, or may be allowed to remain in a stone jar or wooden tub, well covered with vinegar.

THE PARENTS' CORNE

IF THERE is a tendency in a child to throat or lung trouble, nothing is better preventive for colds or croup than a tar poultice. Make a jacket of chamois skin into a bib fastened around the neck with tape. Melt resin and tallow (equal parts), rub on one side of the chamois and let the child wear it constantly through the winter, making a new one whenever necessary. The tallow will prevent the tar from sticking to one's skin.

If a child takes cold and gets croupy my "sovereign remedy" (now don't laugh) is simply warm water well sweetened. It has never failed me yet. I had one of my little girls wake up with that terrible harsh, metallic cough, and I would grease her chest and around her nostrils well with goose grease, give her as much warm sweetened water as she would drink, and in five minutes she was sound asleep, breathing easily, and never woke again till morning. If not too much trouble would you kindly tell me how to make mango pickles? Those made of mango peppers and stuffed with cabbage. O. E. H. (Colton).

It is with a kindly smile I ask how much the "croupy" child owes to the goose grease, and how much to the sweetened water. Yet, whatever tends to allay irritation and accumulate phlegm in the air passages and to relax the muscles of the throat must be beneficial to the little sufferer.

The recipe for mango pickles will be found soon in the recipe column. The request may appear somewhat out of place in this corner. It is inserted to show that it seems to us that the recent fears and fears that have been created by the fall in prices appear as a fright of unreason.

A DAUGHTER TAKES THE FLOOR (UNBLUSHINGLY.)

I DO hope this letter will not reach the waste basket, but I want to say what to do in this matter First of all, I do not like boys—and it is about my mother told a boy friend that I like him, and such other bosh, I overhearing, and whether he believed it or not I do not know, but he told Jo and I suppose somebody else heard it, and so on, because everybody asks me: "How is John to-day?" and when I meet him, I blush dreadfully, friend told me he believed what mamma told him. Should I write and it is not true, or let it go?

Now for the mother whose foolish raillery has placed her child in a tion. Of all the ill-judged and unkind remarks a parent can make of a are in worse taste and likely to do more harm than the bantering young girl about sweethearts and possible proposals. Love, when girl, should be a theme too sacred and delicate to be made the subject jesting. And to intimate that one's own daughter is in love with boy, is coarse and unnatural.

I am sorry that "one of my girls" should be subjected to such from any one; most sorry that her mother is the offender.

BANK CLEARINGS. The credits reported at the Los Angeles clearing-house today were $1,202,248.60 as against with $727,894.53 for the corresponding period of last year the same week, $968,115.06.

PROSPERITY IS SECURE. So much has been said concerning the decline in the stock market, as following a corresponding decline in the Wall Street Journal, to say the Wall Street Journal, that it is well to stop a moment, even if the security prices begin to recede from the low point to which they fell, and consider whether the gains of our national prosperity during the industrial situation, even the recent severe liquidation in the market for securities has not been a cause of alarm anywhere outside of Wall street, for while its effects may, for a time, diminish the profits of trade and unsettle public confidence, there could be no real disaster to the country. Stated in this form it seems to us that the recent losses and fears that have been created by the fall in prices appear as the height of unreason.

Are sound as a nation because they are not now, as in 1893, any doubt in our financial system as strikes at the permanence of our gold standard, (2) our progress in recent years, though very rapid, but too rapid—has begun to slow up, but too rapid—has begun to slow up, first, of natural development that is in accordance with economic principles; (3) while there has been overproduction of several of commodities; (4) we have not changed such concentration of wealth that there has been an increase in the waste of business by excessive competition, and a constant increase in the power to control stability of prices and rates to guard against the approach of panic; (5) we have largely paid off our debt which we owed to foreign creditors, and now enjoy a credit abroad that in a time of panic such sudden withdrawal of capital as has so greatly increased the evils of all our panics, is not likely to be an actual loss; (6) foreign capital to take advantage of the low prices prevailing at present. For instance, this very week inquiries have come from capitalists whether the time had arrived to invest in our securities in view of actual European buying and the rates of exchange. Most of it for a moment—we are taking account of stock—since our population has increased 1,100,000, and our wealth fully $3,000,000,000. We have added Porto Rico and the Philippines to our territory, achieved notable diplomatic triumphs, increased our opportunities for trade, and are about to open a canal across to the Orient through the Panama Canal. Our money circulation has increased 7 per cent., our bank clearings have more than doubled, deposits in all banks have grown nearly 50 per cent., deposits in savings banks from $1,000,000,000 more, our exports have increased from $882,606,000 to $1,719,669; we have produced out own mines over $421,000,000 of gold, $427,000,000 of silver, our iron and trade now leads the world. The great fields of the West and Southwest, the world's chief source of food and cotton supply, all say that the prosperity of the country does not rest on a foundation of mere achievement and greatly exceeds wealth? Moreover, who is so rash as to claim that the further national development is exhausted, when for every acre of the land under cultivation there are awaiting only the additional labor to make it fruitful.

COMMERCIAL.

FRUIT EXPORTS. According to figures sent East the total export of apricots last season was 1,000,000 pounds, compared with a total of 2,000,000 pounds for the year ending

WALNUTS. California dealers say that walnuts are in demand at a good deal more than the present time, and orders have been received from all points east and south, but that eastern jobbers and wholesale dealers are in- clined to look down the imported walnuts in favor of their supplies in California. Many orders booked thus far are for small lots, to be made later on, and it is not more than exhaust the crop of 1902 by a long shot, in short, dealers and others say. Prices will range higher than

RAISINS, PRUNES. Advices from the north concerning prunes say that offers are much lighter in the new year ago. Indications are that buyers last year purchased their quantities early in the season. The output of prunes for the season ended June 30, 1903, was 150,000 tons, and our wealth fully made quite a hole in the crop of 1902.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The reactionary tendency in the stock market, as the result of a corresponding decline in the Wall Street Journal, to say the Wall Street Journal, that it is well to stop a moment, even if the security prices begin to recede from the low point to which they fell, and consider whether the gains of our national prosperity during the industrial situation, even the recent severe liquidation in the market for securities has not been a cause of alarm anywhere outside of Wall street, for while its effects may, for a time, diminish the profits of trade and unsettle public confidence, there could be no real disaster to the country. Stated in this form it seems to us that the recent losses and fears that have been created by the fall in prices appear as the height of unreason.

Are sound as a nation because they are not now, as in 1893, any doubt in our financial system as strikes at the permanence of our gold standard, (2) our progress in recent years, though very rapid, but too rapid—has begun to slow up, first, of natural development that is in accordance with economic principles; (3) while there has been overproduction of several of commodities; (4) we have not changed such concentration of wealth that there has been an increase in the waste of business by excessive competition, and a constant increase in the power to control stability of prices and rates to guard against the approach of panic; (5) we have largely paid off our debt which we owed to foreign creditors, and now enjoy a credit abroad that in a time of panic such sudden withdrawal of capital as has so greatly increased the evils of all our panics, is not likely to be an actual loss; (6) foreign capital to take advantage of the low prices prevailing at present. For instance, this very week inquiries have come from capitalists whether the time had arrived to invest in our securities in view of actual European buying and the rates of exchange. Most of it for a moment—we are taking account of stock—since our population has increased 1,100,000, and our wealth fully $3,000,000,000. We have added Porto Rico and the Philippines to our territory, achieved notable diplomatic triumphs, increased our opportunities for trade, and are about to open a canal across to the Orient through the Panama Canal. Our money circulation has increased 7 per cent., our bank clearings have more than doubled, deposits in all banks have grown nearly 50 per cent., deposits in savings banks from $1,000,000,000 more, our exports have increased from $882,606,000 to $1,719,669; we have produced out own mines over $421,000,000 of gold, $427,000,000 of silver, our iron and trade now leads the world. The great fields of the West and Southwest, the world's chief source of food and cotton supply, all say that the prosperity of the country does not rest on a foundation of mere achievement and greatly exceeds wealth? Moreover, who is so rash as to claim that the further national development is exhausted, when for every acre of the land under cultivation there are awaiting only the additional labor to make it fruitful.

COMMERCIAL.

FRUIT EXPORTS. According to figures sent East the total export of apricots last season was 1,000,000 pounds, compared with a total of 2,000,000 pounds for the year ending

WALNUTS. California dealers say that walnuts are in demand at a good deal more than the present time, and orders have been received from all points east and south, but that eastern jobbers and wholesale dealers are inclined to look down the imported walnuts in favor of their supplies in California. Many orders booked thus far are for small lots, to be made later on, and it is not more than exhaust the crop of 1902 by a long shot, in short, dealers and others say. Prices will range higher than

RAISINS, PRUNES. Advices from the north concerning prunes say that offers are much lighter in the new year ago. Indications are that buyers last year purchased their quantities early in the season. The output of prunes for the season ended June 30, 1903, was 150,000 tons, and our wealth fully made quite a hole in the crop of 1902.

MONEY AND MONEY.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The reactionary tendency in the stock market became preponderant in today's market and caused a sharp backset in prices. It was the underlying cause of the reaction: that the ground had been fast, so far as perceived, the outside causes which were advanced to account for the decline were the effect rather than the cause of it. The dominant influence on prices were in the market itself. Yesterday's profit-taking left the market in a weaker technical position. The concerted selling all through the list caused the belief that a large bear party had been organized among the professional traders to contest the advance. In some quarters it was suspected that the choice of well-recognized bear operators to conduct the selling was a ruse to cover profit-taking sales of those long stocks, as the appearance of bear selling is the most likely to invite support of stocks by their market managers. The kind of support and protection for prices which has been in evidence since the trend definitely turned upward was not seen today, and the fall in prices was uncontested. The speculative public at large was left to conjecture whether the powerful capitalists whose leadership they have supposed they were following, had sold out their stocks and retired from the market, or whether they had become dissatisfied with the rapidity of the advance and the character of their following and had determined to countenance a reaction for the purpose of shaking off a weak and undesirable following of weak traders. The reaction did, in fact, bring out large numbers of stop-loss orders and wiped out narrow margins of smaller speculators who have been attracted by the rapid rebound. London was a seller of stocks on a large scale, evidently in the nature of profit-taking. That there were large additions to the short interest as a consequence of the day's selling, is a fair conjecture. As for the news developments that were an influence, no important place must be given to the question raised whether the retention of the Panama Canal treaty by the Colombian Senate is to be regarded as final. Yesterday's news of the rejection was made much of by the bulls as relieving the exchange market of the need for supplying means for remittance on the canal payment and, leaving the Treasury Department free to use measures of relief for the money market. Buyers on this factor were naturally disappointed by today's revised views of the canal treaty outlook. Much attention was devoted to a circumstantial report that the legislature who are backed by the Hanna legislation having been unable to agree, and that any currency measure at this coming session or the regular session of Congress is improbable. The selling was much concentrated, a single commission house disposing of many thousand shares during the day. The personality of the firm and its employment by one of the financial groups caused considerable significance to be attached to the trading. The further reduction in prices of southern pig iron had its greatest effect on Tennessee Coal, but the iron and steel stocks all shared in the day's weakness. The selling referred to largely converged on Amalgamated Copper and Rock Island as leaders of the reaction. The low temperature in the corn belt and the fear of the warm weather to insure the crop from frost were considerably dwelt upon. There was a considerable covering movement at the beginning of the last hour, but the bears made a fresh onslaught and forced a weak closing at the lowest of the day. Declines in the active list ran from 1 to 4 points. Some early strength in the bond market gave way to heaviness in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $1,852,700. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—There was a fairly steady opening in wheat; due to reports of continued wet weather in the Northwest Kingdom, and September opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 80¾@80⅞. Local longs showed a disposition early in the day to buy back some of the wheat they had sold out during the past few days, and were encouraged in that by the action of cash houses, which bought freely of the September delivery. This demand resulted in a better tone during the first half hour, when September sold up to 81⅛, but later in the day reports of bad weather in the Northwest, together with a better field than had been expected, caused heavy liquidation and prices declined rapidly. A break of 2 cents in the price of the cash commodity at Minneapolis, heavy receipts at all primary points, and light clearances added to the weakness and started a stampede to sell by local longs which resulted in September declining to 80⅝. Covering by shorts during the last half hour caused a sharp rally and the close was near the top, with September ⅜ to ½ higher at 81⅛. There was covering in corn early in the session on firmness in wheat, and with light offerings the market became firmer. September closed a little higher at 24½. Oats were independently strong throughout the entire day. September closed ⅛c higher, at 24½. Provisions were without support and continued selling by longs forced price to a lower level. Trading was dull the entire day. The close was weak, with September pork down 10c, lard was off 7½@10c, while ribs were down 5c.

CURES
I wish to prove conclusively that I am not offering treatment such as the average doctor is able to give. No matter how many physicians have failed to cure you, you can come to me with complete assurance that if I accept your case the treatment given will be absolutely scientific and fully effective.
Every patient I treat is given a thorough and permanent cure. If you are afflicted with "Weakness," Varicocele, Contracted Disorders, Stricture, or Specific Blood Poison, call and see me. I charge nothing for advice and consultation, and am willing to wait for my fee until a cure is effected. I TREAT MEN ONLY.

MANY MEN
Are Treated for Conditions Which Do Not Exist.

Failure to CURE the result.
STATEMENT OF INTEREST TO MANY MEN.
With the greater number of men seeking relief for the early decline of strength, I wish to say, the treatment and methods I use get at the "EXACT CAUSE." I am positive they are the most rational and effective whereby functional activity can be restored. Many who suffer from improper treatment or neglected conditions will fully appreciate the true merit in this treatment. The unreasonable treatment of many conditions is the direct cause for continued use of treatment, due to improper treatment rather than disease. I have found many men also who treated for conditions which they did not have, which accounts for failure to cure. I WAIT FOR MY FEE UNTIL YOU ARE CURED.
FUNCTIONAL DECLINE
Termed Weakness by Some.
The treatment and methods I use get at the exact cause—I am positive they are the most rational, scientific and effective whereby functional activity may be restored; many men suffering from this condition will find their trouble directly traceable to excesses and improper treatment, thus producing a seemingly chronic condition of the entire reproductive system. Under my treatment immediate benefit is seen, such as will be most gratifying to the patient.
CONTRACTED DISEASES.
Become chronic through improper treatment; painful caustic remedies are the direct cause of stricture, ulceration and deep-seated inflammation. I am confident I cure these ailments more quickly than any one claiming to treat these conditions successfully. I treat the exact cause, and completely remove every sign of the disease. In many cases a few days' time is all that is

NEW CANAL BILL IN COLOMBIAN CONGRESS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Dr. Herran, the Colombian chargé, has received no advices from Bogotá since Monday last, when he received from the Colombian Minister for Foreign Affairs, a cablegram dated August 13, announcing that the Senate on the day previous had disapproved the Panama Canal treaty, and that on the day following the President would submit another proposition to the Senate. According to his unofficial advices President Marroquin has had a canal bill introduced empowering the President to negotiate and ratify without submission to Congress, a canal treaty with this government, the general outline of which is contained in the bill now before Congress.

Dr. Herran's information is that on the 13th inst., the day after the disapproval of the treaty by the Senate, that body voted to appoint a committee of three members to act jointly with a committee from the House of Representatives for the formation of a measure having for its object the ratification of a treaty between the two countries by the executive of Colombia after the two houses of the Colombian Congress has passed an enabling act outlining the terms and conditions on which a treaty should be drawn.

The President of Colombia by this act would have full power in the premises, and the treaty would not have to be afterward submitted to the Colombian Congress.

A most careful reading of the dispatch which Dr. Herran received early in the week announcing the action of the Senate on the treaty shows that what that body really did was to "disapprove" the instrument and not "reject" it, as has been heretofore stated.

CROMWELL'S STATEMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—William Nelson Cromwell, general counsel of the Panama Canal Company, says regarding the latest action of the Colombian Congress, regarding which he has received information identical with that obtained by Dr. Herran:

"As Colombia is bound to the United States by what I consider an international compact (by which it is obligated to the making of a satisfactory treaty) as well as by its supreme interests, I have never doubted that Colombia would fulgil its high duties in that regard and every reasonable expectation of this government. This action of the Colombian Congress, therefore, justifies my expectations."

WORDS OF HOPE.

Booker Washington Says the Negro Must Bend All His Energies to Accumulation of Property.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Aug. 19.—Booker T. Washington made the principal address before the National Negro Business Men's League today. He said in part:

"We shall succeed in winning our way into the confidence and esteem of the American people, just in proportion as we show ourselves valuable to the community in which we live, in all the common industries, commerce, welfare of the State, and in the manifestation of the highest character. The community does not fear as a rule the vote of the man, no matter what his color, who is a large taxpayer. It is not the negro who owns a successful business, or works at a trade, who is charged with crime.

"While we are in many cases surrounded with disadvantages, when we contemplate our condition and opportunities with those of the Jew in many parts of Europe, it is easy to see that almost every opportunity denied the Jews is open to us.

The greater the difficulties to be overcome, the more strength we shall gain in succeeding. Every house owned, every farm well cultivated, every bank account, every store operated, every tax receipt is one influence which will operate tremendously in our favor.

"The negro is not ungrateful for all the benefits he has received at the hands of the white people of this country, and should on every proper occasion not fail to express his gratitude in no uncertain language. But the mere fact that we are not easily satisfied, and seek still further opportunities of advancement is an indication of the value of the race. People who are easily satisfied are people of few wants. Wherever you find a race that is easily satisfied, and one that has few wants, there you will find a race that is of little value to its country industrially, commercially or in any other direction."

BEEF COMBINE ALARMED.

Discontent Among the Farmers Causes Syndicate Buyers to Advance the Prices They Are Offering.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The dressed-beef combine has ordered an advance in cattle prices. The syndicate buyers bid 10 to 15 cents higher today in the face of heavy receipts, there being 10,000 more cattle this week than last. The trade theory is that the combine is alarmed over the wholesale liquidation of producers lately.

Indignation has prevailed among producers over the low prices, and a determination to abandon the business has become widespread. This threatened the killers with another period of scarcity of supplies. A syndicate buyer told a stock-yards man today that prime beeves would sell at $7 per hundred weight within the next two months.

OCEAN PARK AWARDS.

At a meeting of the Ocean Park Country Club, August 17, the chairman of the Regatta Committee submitted his report of the annual regatta sailed off Ocean Park August 9, showing that the trophy and other prizes offered by the club were won by the following-named yachts:

Annual regatta trophy, value $150, own by sloop Venus; $40 merchandise prize, won by sloop Clarine; $25 merchandise prize, won by sloop Marie; $20 merchandise prize, won by sloop Edna; $15 merchandise prize, won by sloop Katrina.

A committee composed of Messrs. Dana Burks, A. R. Frazier, Hon. Abbott Kinney, Senator H. E. Lavayea, W. W. Wideman, James H. Blagge and E. W. Murphy was appointed to present the trophy and prizes to the winning yachts and the South Coast Yacht Club Saturday, August 22, after the Times cup race of that date has been sailed.

The first regatta off Ocean Park has created much enthusiasm among the club members and others, which, it is believed, will result in several yachts being built or purchased in time to actively engage in next season's races.

The stone breakwater, the building of which has been contemplated for some time, seems a little nearer a reality than ever before, and if the scheme is put through, Ocean Park will have a safe anchorage for sailing craft.

WIGMORE'S PREFERMENT.

Selected to Develop Large Deposits of Coal for the Government in the Philippines.

Recent Manila papers tell of new honors conferred upon Lieut. Llewellyn Wigmore, whose home is in Los Angeles and who has made a splendid army record since his graduation from West Point.

Wigmore has been selected to develop the government coal deposits on the island of Batan. It is a project of the utmost importance to the government and Wigmore's detail, in view of his youth, is flattering in proportion. He is now a first lieutenant of engineers and attached to the staff of Gen. Davis as aide.

The Manila Times, speaking of his mission, says: "It is the intention to tap the coal vein and mine 500 tons with which practical steaming tests will be made before the government enters upon more extensive mining operations. The tests of Batan coal that have been made by the experts of the Mining Bureau have been very satisfactory, but it is deemed best to give the coal a series of practical trials in government vessels under supervision of a board of officers to finally determine its quality.

"The War Department has set aside the sum of $15,000 for the development of the Batan property, which has been reserved for the use of the War Department by the usual proclamation. This money will be expended in opening up the vein, erecting a suitable dump and making such other improvements as are necessary to get the coal out.

"Fuel has always been a serious problem in the Philippines, and if the Batan coal proves satisfactory it will effect an immense saving for the government, which now buys coal in Japan, Australia and elsewhere at a very high rate."

DETECTIVES WORKING WHOLLY IN THE DARK.

MYSTERY OF MONDAY'S MURDER NOT YET SOLVED.

Case Against Negro Pennington Not Nearly so Strong as First Appearances Seemed to Indicate—State of Terror in Crib District.

The members of the detective force appear to be no nearer a solution of the mystery surrounding the murder Monday night of Eva de la Crave than they were within an hour after the discovery of the woman's mutilated body in her crib in the redlight district. There's no question that they have worked hard on the case but from headquarters the only answer made to inquiries as to what has been discovered is that there is nothing new. One of the officers stated last night that the reason there was nothing to be given out was that nothing new had been discovered, that is to say, nothing positive or tangible enough to justify a warrant, against any one of the several suspected persons who are now in the City Jail.

The efforts of the department have been directed since Tuesday to trying to fasten the crime upon the negro Pennington, who was arrested on that day and is still in jail; but owing to the fact that Pennington has what seems to be a good alibi, the case against him is not so promising. "Looks like the lead is about to pinch out," as one of the detectives expressed it.

The most serious obstacle which confronts the detectives is the fact that no person saw the murderer. They are further handicapped by the unreliability of the women of that district when it comes to identifying any person. Within fifteen minutes after the discovery of the crime a dozen or more of the prostitutes in neighboring cribs were asked the question directly whether they had seen a man running away from the scene. Some of them had seen a man wearing white canvas shoes, but whether he was white, black, brown or blue they could not tell, neither could they agree as to how he was attired. Later they got their heads together and gave a general description of the fellow, but even if he were to give himself up to the police the fact that he ran would not prove anything and it would still be difficult to convict him.

As a result of the murder a state of terror exists among the crib women, and especially are they afraid of negroes. Some of them are ready to identify anybody as the criminal and it would take more than their identification to convince a jury of the guilt of a respondent who might happen to be formally accused of the murder. About midnight every night the women begin leaving the place. They do not go alone, but wait for one another and leave that district in parties. Frequent appeals have been made to the officers on duty there to escort these parties home and special policemen and deputy constables not connected with the department have been acting as escorts, for which service they are paid a stated fee.

DONNATIN LIKE "DADDY."

Two Hundred Employees of Pacific Electric Railway Mechanical Department Honor Retiring Superintendent.

The resignation of Charles E. Donnatin as superintendent of the mechanical department of the Pacific Electric Railway Company became known yesterday. Last night about two hundred employés in his department did him honor at his home. The crowd went to his residence, No. 1301 Buena Vista street, in a body at 8:30 p.m. Mr. Donnatin and his family were taken completely by surprise. The big crowd flocked in and overflowed the house.

Mr. Cobb of Pasadena acted as spokesman for the visitors, and in a few feeling words said that the object of the visit was a demonstration of the esteem in which Mr. Donnatin was held by his subordinates and the regret they all felt at the severance of the working relations. "You have always treated us as a father would" said Cobb. As tokens of the feelings of the gathering Mr. Donnatin was presented with three useful articles, a large reading chair and two artistic sofa pillows.

The veteran railroader was almost overcome by his emotions over the demonstration of friendship. He made a brief response, however, expressing his heartfelt gratitude and great pleasure over the action of his fellow-workers. The visiting party included several musicians, and after the speaking there were vocal and piano solos. Delicious refreshments were on the scene in time for serving to the party after the programme.

While with the Pacific Electric Company Mr. Donnatin has only maintained popularity previously achieved. He has been with the Huntington company eighteen months, having previously been master car repairer for the Southern Pacific Railway Company in this city. When he retired from the Southern Pacific his subordinates made a similar friendly demonstration, presenting him with a fine gold watch. Mr. Donnatin superintended the building and the installation of machinery at the big electric railway shops at Seventh and Alameda streets. He resigns from railroad work to take up independent financial enterprises he is already interested in here.

MINES AND MINING.

NEVADA MINE OF GROOM CREEK SOLD.

INVESTMENT WAVE HAS DISTRICT IN ITS SWEEP.

Dr. Comstock Engaged as Consulting Engineer of Carmen Mines—Lower California Operators Need Encouragement—Opening up Desert Properties.

The wave of mining investments seems to have the Groom Creek district of Arizona in its sweep. Following the three important sales recorded last week comes news of another transfer of even more importance, the latter sale being that of the Nevada and Montauk groups.

These groups, classed among the best in the camp, have been taken over by a syndicate composed of Prescott and eastern people who have organized the Pacific Gold Company. The sellers are W. N. Kelly, V. A. Stephens and John Hutchins.

New purchasers will begin active operations at once. The old shaft will be retimbered and sunk, levels run and the property developed in a systematic manner. For several years the Nevada has produced considerable ore of a shipping grade, and is said to have the same vein as the Midnight Test, now one of the best properties in that part of the country.

Work has been started by Douglas, Lacey & Co. on the Monihan mines recently bonded by the firm. These are known as the Home Run group, and have about 2500 feet of work to show for large expenditures.

Adjoining the Home Run group is the Alma, owned by the Groom Creek Gold Mining Company, which is making excellent progress on the property.

APPOINTED ENGINEER.

Dr. Theodore Comstock of this city has been engaged as consulting engineer of the Carmen Copper Company of New York, whose properties are in the State of Durango. Dr. Comstock, it is said, will visit the properties of the company about September 1 and thereafter will visit them every three or four months, as he will have full charge of development work.

At present 250 men are employed on the mines, and they are carrying gold, copper and silver in high paying quantities.

GIVE INDIVIDUALS A CHANCE.

"If the mineral resources of Lower California are to be properly developed it is necessary that every possible inducement be given the individual miner to go into the country," says the Mexican Journal of Commerce. "Companies can spread out more than the miners, but they can not stand the wear, while at the same time they prevent those who can stand the wear from operating. More gold fields beside that of the Sacramento Valley will be found in Lower California during the next two years, the boom that will be made by the final announcement of the bnds in the Sacramento Valley. Lower California is one of the best gold mining countries in the world. It is simply an extension of California proper and has never been prospected. In its total length of nearly 900 miles it is spotted already like a leopard with gold mines which have been discovered during the past few years. These are further handicapped by the unreliability of the women of that district when it comes to identifying any person. Within fifteen minutes after the discovery of the crime a dozen or more of the prostitutes in neighboring cribs were asked the question directly whether they had seen a man running away from the scene. HOUSE QUICKLY BUILT AT NEWPORT BEACH.

FIVE ROOMS FINISHED IN LESS THAN THREE DAYS.

Santa Ana Man Prefers Putting up Cottage to Renting—Young Cooper of Yorba Must Answer Murder Charge for Cousin's Death.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 19.—H. B. Heninger holds the record locally for the speedy construction of houses, having put up a ten-room cottage ready for occupancy between Wednesday and Saturday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Heniger went to Newport Beach Tuesday morning for a week's vacation, but upon inquiry after arrival were unable to secure a cottage. Nothing daunted by the prospect they forthwith determined to put up a cottage of their own, and accomplished the task with about as much difficulty as most people take to pitch a tent. Heninger returned to Santa Ana that evening and Wednesday morning landed at the beach again with lumber and a force of carpenters, whom he was employing in building houses for rent on Santa Ana property. Work on the beach cottage was started without delay, and Saturday morning, less than three days from the time of commencing work, Mrs. Heniger took possession of five rooms in the new dwelling, and was "at home" to her friends. The workmen were retained to complete the other five rooms while the Henigers lived in the finished part.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Ramon P. Cooper, Jr., the eighteen-year-old boy, who caused the death of Leonco Yorba at Yorba last week, was held in $2000 bonds to answer to the charge of murder in the Superior Court. The preliminary examination was conducted in the Yorba Township Court yesterday by Justice Smithwick of Santa Ana, and the evidence established practically the same facts as were brought out at the Coroner's inquest. Cooper and Yorba were scuffling when the Yorba boy was thrown, and after rising to his feet, took a few steps, and dropped dead. Cooper appears to have been the aggressor in the mix-up, which was one of several between the boys recently. The dead boy was a cousin of Cooper.

EDITOR AND HEN MERCHANT.

Nathan Stephenson was on trial before a jury in Justice Smithwick's court this afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace, preferred by H. McPhee, editor of the Blade. Stephenson, it is alleged, used abusive and threatening language toward McPhee yesterday in reference to a statement in the latter's paper concerning the manner in which Stephenson mistreated his horses. Stephenson, who is a Salvation Army man, has figured in the courts before for cruelty to animals and for violation of the fruit-selling ordinance. He is conducting his own case.

FINE DISPLAY.

LA HABRA, Aug. 19.—At La Habra Farmers' Institute a striking display of the products of this section was made. Nearly all the specimens were grown without irrigation. Seventy varieties of products, such as melons, squashes, peaches, plums, pumpkins, grapes, apples, peanuts and oranges were shown by J. S. Launer, and all but the oranges were grown without irrigation. Twenty varieties were displayed by J. O. Roberts, who had stalks of corn ten feet high and bearing three good ears each; one stalk with four large and three small ears, and a stalk of sweet corn with six ears.

Morris Cusick made a splendid showing, particularly of grapes, beans and corn. H. M. Little exhibited fine sweet corn ready for the table, that was grown after a crop of barley hay, all without irrigation. A. L. Ronche exhibited Abyssinian bananas, melons and other fine products. A. Rinse showed plums and blackberries, and there were many other attractive displays. One of the most striking things was a California squash pumpkin by S. W. Baldwin. The seed was planted May 20 and the pumpkin weighed (estimated) 150 pounds. It measured 6 feet 8½ inches in circumference, and grew in less than three months.

The entire display was judged by E. G. Ware of Garden Grove, Roy K. Bishop of Orange and Prof. McClatchie of Phoenix, Ariz.

Perfect Health

Is within the reach of almost every woman. The weakness, nervousness and irritability from which so many women suffer is in general due to disease of the delicate womanly organism. When the disease is cured the general health is re-established.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It promotes regularity, dries disagreeable and enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. When these diseases are cured, headache, backache, nervousness and weakness are cured also.

"I was very weak and nervous when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' about a year ago," writes Mrs. M. E. Everetts, of 50 Oxford Street, Woodstock, Ont. "I had been suffering for seven long months, and had taken medicine from a physician all the time, but it seemed to make me feel much worse. My stomach was so bad (so my doctor told me), and my nerves were in such a state that I would start at the least noise. I felt irritable at times; was not able to do any of my own house-work; had to keep help all the time. How I suffered God and myself alone know. I was greatly discouraged when I commenced taking your medicines, but the first bottle seemed to help me. I took five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' also two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I am highly recommend these medicines to all who suffer as I did. I never had better health than I now enjoy, and it is all owing to Dr. Pierce's medicines."

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

PASADENA ORATORS DISAPPOINT NEGROES.

WHITE SPELL-BINDERS AT AFRICAN CONGRESS.

Alleged Attempt to Steal Republican Votes Frustrated and Booker Washington's Suggestion Disregarded. Fine-Arm Man Wanted—Crazy Man.

PASADENA, office of The Times, No. 36 South Raymond avenue, Aug. 20.—"I don't understand this convention," remarked President William Pettee of the Afro-American Council last evening, when everybody seemed to have gone back on him, on account, perhaps, of the hot weather. The programme had to be adjusted according to the available material present. Congressman McLachlan threw the colored folks down, after the action of Mayor Vedder, Capt. Simpson and one or two black orators.

Prof. Harvard of Texas was called upon and contributed a highly interesting talk, while James Logan, who was to sing a solo, went out to get up the dusky maiden, who was to play his accompaniment. Prof. Harvard said that the condition of the negro in his state is very prosperous. "We have the cream of the race here," he said, because we pay good wages. Of course he meant chocolate cream. In Texas the colored folks own dozens of dollars worth of property, run the same businesses as are engaged in by the whites and have beautiful homes. They have improved societies and other organizations devoted to the correction of social and other evils. He said there are a number of families coming there to California, all the time and they are all good citizens. Prof. Harvard concluded by offering a resolution appreciative of the President's attitude toward the race.

Miss Mecrorty contributed an original poem which was enthusiastically applauded. This appears in another column of The Times today. A male quartette sang and Charles Wesley of Sacramento, formerly a Pasadenan, and a brother of the clerk of the Congress, told about the progress of the negro who goes into politics. It was sprinkled with humor of the most sense and made a great hit.

The morning and afternoon sessions were devoted to hearing reports of the various Clubs, which are very prosperous among the negroes, and there was a sensation in the way of a resolution which was howled down, but an attempt on the part of J. H. Edmonds, editor of a colored Los Angeles Democratic paper, to cut out the votes from the Republican ranks. Just as the others say. The resolution suggested that the Council keep entirely out of politics. It was as follows:

Whereas the Hon Booker T. Washington is the foremost champion of our race and has advised and advises us that the best interests of the Afro-American can be promoted by a withdrawal of the leading organizations of the country from politics, and, "whereas, we have learned by experience that the ambitions of our people in this direction have for a part of its history been a hurtful one, and the poll-tax of the race,' have been absorbed in that one interest to the measures too little attention to other affairs more potent to our welfare. Therefore be it resolved, that the members of the Afro-American Council, are in accord with the principles heretofore proclaimed and for the purpose of advancing the most important interest of the race hereby cease to make one of the planks of this organization the question of the political interest of the race,' or in any manner participate in politics."

Mr. Thompson, son-in-law of Booker T. Washington, attended the convention last night for a short time. Late last night there was no session. There will be general discussion and election of officers today.

HARD IN DEMAND.

Robert Ward is much desired by the police. He is alleged to be a confidence man and dangerous proposition. His victims are G. T. Boyd, Watt and Boyd's hostler, who arrived in the city about a week ago with colors flying. He is said to be very well-to-do, and the firm of Boyd and Watt substantiate the statement. Ward said he was a mine owner and had invested money in the Searchlight Kingman. He was in the habit of $12,000 a month. He was acquainted at the stable, and from his pretensions it's said he would speak to anyone as a Duke, and he rented a horse that he would pay for when he got his draft. The only trouble was that when he got a draft was the cold steel on them. He skipped.

LOVE A BIT OFF.

Ward used to be motorman on a wagon and later was the proprietor of a cheap restaurant on Fair Oaks avenue, which he closed as clear daffy, and was taken to the County Infirmary to his being examined as to his sanity. Malone returned from three months in the City Jail he beat his wife. Ward beat the carpets or around the house, nor did he work for his family to eat. He was released from jail he beat his wife, who refused to live with him, and of late he has been in the City Jail in this place. A night or two violent. Hence his

ARMERS REPLY.

Pasadena Plumbers think the business is a fairly good one, despite that several months ago a petition to the Council for an election for its abolishment. A meeting of the Plumbers discussed the matter fully and decided that they would repeal the ordinance if they could. They claim that a license is necessary and that the fee is similar to that of other cities. It provides for an annual fee of $25 per year. The Plumbers say that they would not object to paying the license, but think that if the license fee would be a good thing all around because poor workmen would be kept out as well as good ones. The fee has the effect of keeping cheap plumbers out.

ANDREW B. GOSLIN DEAD.

POMONA, Aug. 19.—The community was shocked this morning when it became known that Andrew B. Goslin, the veteran liverymanman, had died at 2 a.m. at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Los Angeles, where an operation for appendicitis had been performed yesterday. Mr. Goslin had been upon the streets here Saturday afternoon apparently a well man, and a number did not even know he was ill. The deceased was a heavily-built man, about 56 years old. He came here from Maine nearly twenty years ago, and had been in the livery business since then. Mr. Goslin owned a home here on Fourth street and leaves a widow and son. The body was brought from Los Angeles tonight and funeral services will be held at the family home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. H. H. Goodell officiating. SMELL OF THE DEEP ABOUT THIS COSTUME.

AVALON MAN'S TOGS REPRESENT MARINE GARDENS.

Unique Gathering at a Catalina "Ragtime" Ball, With "Yellowtail Johnnie," One of the Prize-winners—Coming and Going of Visitors.

AVALON, Aug. 19.—There were high jinks at Elite Hall last night on the occasion of the "ragtime" ball. About thirty maskers appeared, and there were some strikingly good costumes. Original was that of John Kassar, better known as "Yellowtail Johnnie," who represented the Marine Gardens. He was arrayed in a mantle of kelp from top to toe. On his shoulders were lobsters, for epaulettes; a veil was made of slimy sea moss; a huge abalone shell marked his belt, and sea fans and various kinds of shells ornamented the costume. It was typical of the place, and surely smelled of the Marine Gardens. The affair was managed ably by Jacob Albert, who arranged prizes for the best character, the best costume for woman and man, and a third, a booby prize. The first man's prize went to the Jew peddler, represented by Jacob Albert; best woman character, Carrie Nation, by Miss Elizabeth Hodgston; best man's costume, sea nymph, John Kassar; best woman's costume, Filipino girl, Miss Vera Knowles; third man's prize, "the Baker," Rudolph Ruiser; woman's third, "Topsy," by Miss Edith Ingraham.

Mr. Atwood has had an ambition to land a tuna, but misfortune has attended him so closely that he has not succeeded, but that event, he declares, is only delayed. He took the first tuna caught this season, but it was his first round with the fishes for months, and the big fighter was too much for him, and he was obliged to call for assistance, which disqualified him under the rules of the Tuna Club.

That this bottle, giving as it does the news of a horrible catastrophe, which happened so many years ago, should travel all the way from the coast of Labrador to the quiet waters of Southern California, is strange indeed. There appears no reason to believe that it is a fake.

The structure will be of brick, one story, and provide for two storerooms. One of these will be occupied by the Alhambra Realty Company and the city offices. Work is to be commenced soon.

BURNED OUT.

Don Pio Avila, the tamale man, lost his house and contents by fire. Don Pio's hacienda of three rooms was located in the San Gabriel Arroyo, south of the big bridge. He was away from home at the time the fire broke out and all his poor señora could do was to wring her hands and weepingly watch the destruction of the domicile and all their belongings. It is said that the fire caught from an overturned candle. Loss, about $200. No insurance.

BRIEF MENTION.

At a late meeting of the stockholders of the San Gabriel Cemetery Association S. B. Kingsley, for many years president and manager, resigned on account of the infirmities of age and health. L. C. Anderson was elected president and Fred Shute secretary. Association affairs and the cemetery are in good shape. Over $400 was expended the past year for piping and water tank.

Members of the Christian Endeavor Society, Epworth League and the B.Y.P.U. will go to Pasadena Friday evening to attend the quarterly meeting of the Pasadena Young People's Christian Union, of which the Alhambra societies are members. The union meeting is to be held at the Baptist Church in Pasadena. Alhambra members will take the 7:10 car.

Dr. M. S. Charles, who has been ill of late with pleurisy, is now improving slowly.

Rev. W. W. Dumm will preach at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor.

The Epworth League meetings have been called off for the next two Sunday evenings.

There will be no preaching at the Baptist Church until further notice.

Sunday evening next is the time for the installation by the young people's societies of the different churches.

H. E. Lawrence will leave Saturday morning for a short season of camp life on the west fork in San Gabriel Cañon. His family will probably accompany him.

REDONDO.

SEASIDE BRIEFS.

REDONDO, Aug. 19.—The funeral services over Miss Grace Usrey were conducted today at the family residence on Emerald and Helberta streets, Rev. Mr. Rowell, pastor of the Central Avenue Congregational Church, and former pastor of Redondo Congregational church, delivered the funeral address, which was followed by hymns "Come Unto Me" and "Saved by Grace," by the choir. There was a large attendance.

Mrs. Ida Price of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. R. O. Goulding, New Orleans, La.; Miss May Adams of New Orleans, La., are visiting Mrs. J. A. Weeks on La Alameda street, near Garnet.

WRECK OF LONG AGO JUST COME TO LIGHT.

SHIP SUNK OFF LABRADOR, VIAL REACHES SAN PEDRO.

Bottled Message Buffeted by the Seas for Twenty-seven Years Tells of Horror that Cost Fifty Lives. Steamers to South America.

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 19.—What is probably the most singular discovery ever made on this Coast is a small bottle, the contents of which tell a thrilling story of a ship that was wrecked more than twenty-seven years ago off the coast of Labrador, causing the loss of fifty lives. The vial, which was, of course, sealed tightly, was picked up by Lawrence Kriegham, son of a baker in this city, while swimming at East San Pedro, about 300 feet from the inner-harbor breakwater, yesterday afternoon. The contents were almost obliterated by time, and it was with close and difficult inspection that the following was deciphered:

"January 26, 1876.—My name is Hunseeta. Our ship was wrecked off the coast of Labrador. There were fifty people on the boat. But three are with me; the rest were all drowned. Don't expect to live more than a half

If possible, send word to my parents at Forty-ninth street, New York. The name of the ship is Omen."

That this bottle, giving as it does the news of a horrible catastrophe, which happened so many years ago, should travel all the way from the coast of Labrador to the quiet waters of Southern California, is strange indeed. There appears no reason to believe that it is a fake.

STEAMERS TO SOUTH AMERICA.

If negotiations now in progress do not fall through, San Pedro will soon be in close touch with ports in Mexico and South America. Such is the statement of Capt. Alfonso B. Smith, president of the Mexican Navigation Company, which proposes to run a line of first-class steamers between here and the points mentioned. The company has been preparing for this movement for some time, and it is now announced that they are almost ready to commence activities. Capt. Smith says the line will ply between San Pedro and South American ports, principally, and will also connect with Colorado-river steamers running as far north as Yuma, which are operated by his concern. The vessels will make regular trips to this port at close intervals, engaging in the freight and passenger traffic.

Both the Southern Pacific and Salt Lake Railroad Companies are rushing on their new wharf extensions, with the view, it is said, of accommodating the new steamship line. An unconfirmed report is that the Mexican Nevigation Company has leased one of the buildings at Timms Point from the Southern Pacific, for use as a warehouse, indicating that the concern means business and is figuring on getting in coal soon.

Capt. Smith will make San Pedro his headquarters. He intends disposing of his interests in Los Angeles and building a home in this city.

ELECTRIC-LIGHT KICK.

This city has "a kick coming" on the electric-light system operated by the United Electric and Gas Company. It appears that the service has been so poor recently that the trustees have seen fit to make an investigation, laboring under the impression that the company is not living up to its contract with the town. The City Attorney was instructed to examine into the cause of the decleney, and last evening submitted his report. He recommends that, while no attempt should be made to declare the contract void, owing to the fact that the terms are not unfair and unreasonable, the company should be made to realize that it must keep up its end by seeing that the lights in all parts of the city are kept going. There are certain parts of the town said to be in total darkness. This has not only lasted a few days, but months at a time, and it is said the company has made no attempt to remedy. The trustees finally decided to deduct from the city's bill for each light that has not been kept going, and also to inform the company that, unless a better service is rendered, the contract will be declared off.

HARBOR TOWN ITEMS.

F. B. Alexander and S. Weatherbolt, representing the California Coke and Gas Company, which has established plants at Long Beach, Pasadena, Ontario and other southern towns, were here today canvassing for contracts, with a view of putting in a system. So far they have met with much success, and it is said that if the necessary number of contracts are taken in the course of a week or two, the company will have its new plant in operation within ninety days.

A new schedule went into effect on the San Pedro-Los Angeles line of the Traction Railway Company today. Cars leave Third and Hill streets, beginning at 5:32 a. m., and every hour thereafter until 6:32 p. m. Returning, cars leave San Pedro, beginning at 7 a. m., and continuing until 8 p. m. A late car, leaving Los Angeles at 8:02 p. m., and San Pedro at 9:30 p. m., has also been added to the run. It is expected that the company will put on a still later car in a few weeks, so as to accommodate those desirous of going to the theater and returning the same night.

The trial trip of the new glass-bottom boat, built by the Hardison-Carse Company of East San Pedro for the Newport Beach Company, was made yesterday. W. S. Collins, president of the Beach Company, and a party of Los Angeles people were aboard the boat and pronounced it satisfactory in every way. The craft is to be used as a pleasure boat at Newport. She measures thirty-eight feetin in length, and has a nine and one-half foot beam, with twenty-eight-inch sponsors. The engine is of Standard make and is fourteen horse-power. The boat has side wheels. She cost about $3000.

OCEAN PARK.

LOUD COMPLAINT MADE.

OCEAN PARK, Aug. 19.—Residents and visitors here are greatly disappointed with the arrangement of the new postoffice building, and a loud cry of complaint is going up, from the ocean to the tracks. The only public entrance to the postoffice is an extremely narrow doorway in the center of the Pier-avenue front. This door is directly in line with the general delivery window, which is unwisely located at the front of the office. Consequently three or four times a day a large crowd forms in line and completely blocks the doorway and makes it well nigh impossible for holders of lock boxes to get at their mail or for persons to do business at the stamp and money order windows. It is probable that the general complaint that has arisen will cause the postmaster to either remove the glass front of the building, giving free access, or move the general delivery window. The present arrangement is execrable.

BEACH JOTTINGS.

The regular bi-monthly card party was given at the Country Club tonight by the Whist Club, about fifty members participating. Handsome club prizes were given, and refreshments were served.

Rev. Dr. S. A. Thompson of Los Angeles, superintendent of Arizona missions for the Methodist Episcopal Church, spent the day on the beach. He said it was "quite too yarm to stay in town, with the ocean in reach."

Street Superintendent Carrillo has a force of men at work surveying the speedway preparatory to the grading, crowning and oiling of that thoroughfare the length of Ocean Park north and south.

The postoffice is being equipped with a new safe and electric lights are being installed in the lobby.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Davison of Chicago, Mrs. J. Israel and maid, San Bernardino; Rev. L. B. Ridgely, Mrs. James A. Jonett, H. A. Jonett, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Charles Newcomb of Riverside, are registered at the Holborow.

Miss Helen King, who has been spending several months here, departed today for Palo Alto, where she will enter Stanford University.

The Western Union Telegraph Company was to have opened a permanent office in Ocean Park last week, but thus far the people of the South Side have failed to "find the Western Union a convenience," to quote the language of the gentleman who telegraphed his baby. In other words, the office hasn't been opened. "We need that office badly, indeed we do!"

Instead of the regular dancing party at the Country Club Saturday evening, a harvest party will be the programme, and guests are requested to come in harvest-time costumes.

TWO HUNDRED ATTEND EPISCOPAL INSTITUTE.

ANNUAL SUNDAY-SCHOOL TALKS IN SANTA MONICA.

Three-day Course of Lectures Opened Yesterday Morning for Teachers and Workers, With Delegates and Visitors from All Over Southern California.

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 19.—Two hundred delegates and visitors from all over Southern California were present when the annual Sunday-school institute of the Episcopal diocese opened its summer lecture course for Sunday-school teachers and workers in the parish hall of St. Augustine's Church on Fourth street this morning. A pretty arrangement of flowers brightened the hall and throughout the day musical numbers interspersed the several addresses on the programme, Mrs. L. F. Doolittle of Los Angeles directing.

The president of the institute, Rev. J. D. H. Browne, rector of St. Augustine, presided, and the first paper of the morning was delivered by him. Rev. Mr. Browne's topic—"The Founding of the Church in the United States and Wherein Our Church Differs from the Mother Church of England," was a thoughtful review of the Episcopal movement and the work and progress of that denomination in this country. The second paper of the morning was read by Venerable Archdeacon Robinson. It was an interestingly told story of the church year and the symbolism of colors, etc., connected with it.

In the afternoon Rev. George Selby, rector of Grace Church, Tucson, Ariz., told his listeners of the history and purposes of the prayer book, with that of the American liturgy, and Rev. L. B. Ridgely, rector of St. John's Church, Los Angeles, lectured on "Missions; What We Should Teach the Children About Them, and the Reason Why."

W. Cresswell Mushet, treasurer of the Board of Missions, gave a talk in the church in the morning on "Diocesan Missions."

Yesterday the regular quarterly meeting of the woman's auxiliary of the diocese was held in the church, Mrs. Philip Gegembre Huberb of Los Angeles in the chair. Other officers and about one hundred and fifty members were in attendance. The morning was taken up with the celebration of the Holy Communion, followed by a sermon by Rev. Badger of Pomona, officers' meetings and other preliminary work. At noon a bountiful luncheon was spread for the visitors in the parish hall by the women of the local auxiliary. The afternoon session was taken up in listening to several lectures, the interest of the session centering in the talk of Rev. L. B. Ridgely on China. Rev. Ridgely spent seven years in that field, and gave his audience a practical and helpful review of the work of the missions and their needs in the empire. Other papers were given by Miss Wilde of Honolulu and George Bugby of Los Angeles.

The sessions continue for three days, tomorrow's programme being practically the same as that of today.

TEN THOUSAND TROUT.

Under direction of State Fish and Game Warden H. W. Keller of Santa Monica, 10,000 rainbow trout have been turned into Malibu stream, running through Frederick H. Hindge's ranch, twenty miles up the coast from here. The trout are from one to two inches in length, and by next year many of them will be serviceable for the frying-pan. The little fellows were taken in big glass jars to the ranch for stocking. The rainbow trout is one of the gamiest of fish that will take an artificial fly, so rare sport is in store for certain anglers. Malibu Stream has always been a favorite trout haunt, and though few persons know it, the stream has been restocked annually, for the last several years.

DEATH OF A SOLDIER.

SALT LAKE (Utah) Aug. 19.—Elijah Lewis, aged 19, a private in the Twenty-second Battery, stationed at Fort Douglas, but now in camp near Provo, was shot and instantly killed in camp last night. Whether he was killed as a result of a quarrel between himself and L. W. Burden, a member of the same battery, who was the only witness to the shooting, or met death through the careless handling of a revolver, is not known. Burden is under arrest, pending an investigation into the affair by a Board of Inquiry. He claims the shooting was accidental. Lewis lived in Kentucky.

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

"I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness and felt so weak that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a red letter day to me when I took the first dose, for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did." Miss GULA GANNON, 320 Jones St., Detroit, Corresponding Sec'y Mich. Amate

OFFICE OF F. C. AUSTIN, ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, August 17, 1903.

MR. I. D. BIDDLE,

Sir: Your communication relating to Hamburger has been received, and carefully considered.

I approve of the co-operation of labor if the same is upon an elevated plain of right and justice, and not calculated to clip the wings of personal ambition, strangle individualism, and restrain one who has extra talents or ability from reaping the benefits of the powers that God has bestowed on him, by accomplishing more than his less favored fellows.

I am teaching my own boy that when he comes to work for his living, to always make his employer's interests his own, always strive to do more than is expected of him, and to put in more time than is required of him without expecting extra compensation, and that for this purpose he must always retain his individual freedom. I advise him that if he will conscientiously do this, his reward will come to the full desire of his heart; that such men only are the leaders and masters of the world, and that those who are always afraid that they may render too much to their employers are only like dumb-driven cattle, who live and die on one common level. On the other hand, your policy is to teach the rising generation to studiously avoid rendering their employers more in time, effort or results than some uncharitable organization dictates, and to keep themselves down to the level of the most inefficient workman.

No two people are born equal any more than two horses are, and any artificial restraint that attempts to make them so is unnatural, an injury to the individual, and fighting against God and human progress. A Clydesdale is a valuable horse, but no one would think of restricting the Arabian steed to the gait of the Clydesdale.

The mass of the working people are by nature the salt of the earth, but they are being grievously injured by bad advice and misleading on the part of designing men, who are the harpies that prey upon them. You denounce trusts as oppressive and unfair, while you attempt to maintain the greatest, most unjust and most unfair trust of the world. You delude your members into surrendering their personal liberties and becoming slaves to their union, and being so firmly bound in their bondage that they have not the personal freedom of the average southern negro in ante-bellum days; then by the practice of un-American methods, you refuse to free people the right to make an honest living, unless they will assume a yoke of slavery grievous to be borne. Nor is this the worst, for in addition to all your unfair methods, your organizations in both strikes and boycotts, are guilty of many treasonable acts and doctrines, some examples of which have occurred in Los Angeles.

In theory and in principle the labor union is good, but in practice it is being fast led by impractical and lawless men to become a curse to the laboring classes as well as to the country at large. I am in full sympathy with working people, and desire to see their elevation by the exercise of the moral virtues and the golden rule, but I grieve to see them debased in sentiment and prostituted in principle by the unchristian methods pursued by leprous excrescences who have inoculated a noble ideal with a spawn of foreign depravity.

Among your other unfair practices, you have attempted to place a respected minister in a false light by putting a false construction upon the language used by Rev. Mr. Dowling, which will fill him with righteous indignation.

Now, as I am struggling to make a living practicing law, and have no higher permission to do so than that of the State of California and the government of the United States, this communication of plain truths may result in my being boycotted, but if it does, I can console myself with the reflection that even Christ was boycotted for preaching truth and righteousness. Respectfully,

F. C. Austin

A Good Habit to Cultivat

The reaction of boycott literature sent to respectable Los Angeles citizens is the fest in all quarters. Instead of harming Hamburger's interests, thousands of people do nearly or all of their trading with us to show boycotters conclusively that cannot dictate to the liberty-loving, independent men and women of this city they shall spend their money.

The commendatory letters of Hamburger's righteous stand against an organized boycott, as recently published in The Times, are specially pleasing to us, because they were entirely unsolicited by ourselves. We are satisfied that those several hundred letters, representing all classes of our populace, were a fair consensus of opinion as to the public's view of the boycott.

Scores of these writers frankly stated that they had previously traded but little at Hamburger's, but would now CULTIVATE THE HABIT of doing so. It's a good habit to cultivate. In no city the size of Los Angeles is a store that does so much business or has increased its business so rapidly as Hamburger's—statements which can easily be verified by reference to Bradstreet's or Dun's commercial reports.

While our success has been wonderful—it is easy of explanation: "We know our business" and "know our business." We are in constant touch with the whole commercial world. With Mr. M. A. Hamburger in Yokohoma, Kobe, Hongkong; Mr. I. Hamburger for the past year in Nice, Berlin and Paris; and Mr. S. A. Hamburger constantly in the New York market and adjacent cities of Boston and Philadelphia, our patrons are sure to find the world's best products first at Hamburger's. In spite of the kindly words of Los Angeles women—we say to you again, "Get into the habit of trading at Hamburger's," for it is not only to the best interests of your pocketbook but to please your most esthetic tastes for all that is new, beautiful and good.

Unfortunately for the interests of any community there must always exist a few and burly agitators who exist solely by trying to "Mind other people's business" by bulldozing respectable workingmen into supporting them in idleness. We have in our own city of Los Angeles, and they are mostly evidenced by a triumvirate of principled ruffians—Biddle, Hay and Rogers—who are trying the boycott blackmail since we insist on minding our own business, and will not be dictated to as to the newspapers in which we place our advertising.

By all means cultivate the habit of trading at Hamburger's if you admire independence and the fundamental principles of American citizenship.
